THE BIOLOGICAL BOARD OF CANADA

In another column we publish an article on the subject of shad hatching which later on may become a matter of importance to the people of The Valley. The article is furnished by Dr. A. P. Knight, Chairman of the Biological Board of Canada, which is the scientific division of the Fisheries Department at Ottawa. The Board is composed of representatives of nine of the leading Universities of Canada: Dalhousie, St. Francis Xavier, Laval, New Brunswick, McGill, Queen's, Toronto, Manitoba, British Columbia, together with five who are appointed by the Minister of Marine and Fisheries. The chief duty of this board is to advise the Fisheries Department on all problems which perplex the fish dealers or fishermen. At present five of the Board's scientists are at work in the new biological station at Halifax studying better methods of smoking fish, dressing fish, freezing fish, drying, etc. Not that these processes are not carried on now, but progressive fish dealers are always on the lookout for improvements and indeed a very decided improvement has recently been made in smoking giving a better quality of smoked fish in half the time.

The first session was held on Thursday evening, the Moderator, Rev. W. D. Wilson, of Middleton, presiding. He introduced Rev. H. R. Grant, D. D., Secretary of the Nova Scotia Social Service Council as the speaker. Dr. Grant addressed the Association on the subject of Law Enforcement. He emphasized the enforcement of such laws as we now have covering Temperance Legislation, Gambling and Sunday Observance. The address was followed by an interesting discussion.

Friday morning's session was taken up with the routine of business and the reading of reports. An address of welcome was extended to the delegates by the pastor of the entertaining church, Rev. L. E. Nunn, and by His Worship Mayor Anderson, of Digby. Rev. P. R. Hayden of Bridgetown, fittingly responded.

SHAD HATCHING

One of the scientists of the Biological Board of Canada, is again working upon the shad. This is the fifth year of his labor. How many more will prosecute his studies will depend upon the success which he meets with this season on the Annapolis River. His four previous summers on the Shubenacadie and have enabled him to prove that the crop yield of shad in any year depends to a large extent upon the season. If the spring is cold and late and the waters of our rivers late in warming up, fewer shad fry may be expected to hatch out in the cold water and a smaller "catch" of adult fish may be expected four years hence. But, if the parent shad are late in coming into our rivers and spawn in the warmer brackish water near the river's mouth, more of the fry will hatch out in such warm brackish water and four years hence there will be a larger "crop" for the fisherman.

Dr. Leim, who has been working upon this natural method of increasing the shad supply, is convinced that good results may be attained in this way. The only other way of increasing the propagation is to do as the Fisheries Department at Ottawa did four or five years ago, namely, stop all fishing for a period of years. Man is a destructive brute when he goes after any animal. Sooner or later the animal is almost exterminated. Forty years ago the Atlantic salmon were nearly depleted by salmou fishermen and have again years the salmon have come back, and last year some salmon were again caught along the Miramichi river.

The shad also were almost depleted but now they are coming back again. Will fishermen consent to conserve the supply or will they again overfish and ruin the industry? There is no doubt that fishermen can get what they want. Their members of parliament will see that they if the fishermen wish to capture

Large Shad in order that he stimulates his church action.

The church member should be interested with loving sympathy in the great work our churches are doing. Mr. Knott closed his address with an appeal to the churches to make every effort to meet their denominational allotment for the year.

Dr. N. W. Hutchinson, representing Acadia University, followed with an eloquent address on Education. He spoke on the values of education. The education, civilization remains in the primitive stages. Education is worth while because it is essential to success. Dr. Hutchinson gave statistics that proved that the college trained man has an immense advantage over the man who has not acquired that training. Education, he said, increased the possibilities of happiness, the interests of life, the power of appreciation and the possibilities of service. A mother's great value of education is that she should be considered in the terms of one's own spiritual life. The task of education is to help men realize their own potentialities in their own lives. It is the education of the relationships which we establish to God and Christ. Acadia University stands for these values in education.

Saturday morning session was devoted to the reading of reports. An address on Denominational Funds showed that many churches were still far behind in their allotments and many have bright prospects of reaching the full amount before the end of the year.

The report on Denominational Literature urged for better reading material in the homes. Magazines and other secular matter should be taken the place of good wholesome religious literature. Rev. R. C. Morse, Editor of the Maritime Baptist, urged the claims of that paper upon the Baptist people. It provided religious reading which could not be obtained in any other form at the price.

The afternoon session was taken up by the W. M. F. H. H. Beals, Wolfville, and Mrs. Ralph Gullison, the speakers.

Rev. W. H. Hill, was the preacher by Rev. A. J. Prosser on "Children's Aid Work," presenting the needs of our neglected children. Mr. Prosser described some scenes and conditions which touched the hearts of his audience.

Rev. E. S. Mason, supt. of Home Missions followed with an address on the needs of our Home Missions Work.

A large audience assembled at the Sunday morning service. Rev. W. D. Wilson, of Middleton, was the preacher of the Association sermon. He used for his text Psalm 78:5, "The children of Ephraim have become crafty and carrying bows, turned back in the day of battle." In a clear, forceful and compelling manner he urged the need of a practical Christianity. The church should make her influence felt in the world by peace and justice under the preacher's review. The church must take her stand on matters of such vital importance if the principles of Christianity are to be sustained.

At the afternoon session a report on Sunday School Work was read, followed by an address from Rev. W. D. Wilson, of Middleton, on "The Children of Ephraim," the needs of our Boys' Work. With his usual fluency and persuasiveness, Mr. Macburn gave a clear and illuminating address on the history and progress of the Baptist Missionary enterprise in Bolivia. Mr. Gullison forcefully presented the needs of our work in India, and closed with an appeal to the churches to apply Christianity to their own lives. This may be done to the great cause that has been committed to them.

Several of the resolutions presented by the Resolution Committee and endorsed by the Association as follows:

- Whereas it has been shown that the title deeds to some of our Church properties require investigation, your committee would therefore recommend that this matter be brought to the attention of the Convention by the Clerk of the Association.
- Whereas this Association has heard with satisfaction of the excellent work being done in Annapolis, Digby and Yarmouth Counties by our brother, Rev. J. A. Prosser, in the interest of child welfare; Be it therefore resolved that we extend to Mr. Prosser our deep appreciation for the splendid work he is doing for the kingdom and commend the same to our churches for their loyal support.
- Whereas Dr. H. R. Grant, General Secretary of the Social Service Council of Nova Scotia has delivered a splendid address giving a concise outline of the work he is doing. Therefore be it resolved that this Association place itself in record, endorsing his efforts along the lines of advancement of social, moral and religious legislation, and heartily commend his work to the churches.
- Resolved: that this Association again place itself on record as being opposed to the liquor traffic in whatever form it may appear, that we re-
