Questions and Answers.

Miscellaneous.

Stinkweed.

What is the enclosed plant? O. L.

Ans.—The weed is stinkweed, or penny cress. See answer to J. J. R., in our issue of June 12th, page 1091.

Mare Fails To Breed.

Have a Clyde mare three years old which was bred last year and failed to conceive. She was served to the horse four times, and this year she has been served twice. Had an experienced horse-man insert his hand, and found what he supposed to be a piece of fat over neck of womb. Will this prevent her from becoming pregnant? Can anything be done to remove it? D. McD.

Ans.—It is altogether likely that the os, or opening to the womb, is closed. It may be caused by a growth, or by contraction. What the operator felt is likely a tumor of some kind. The neck of the womb must be open before conception can take place. Have your veterinarian examine her, and if the neck is simply constricted, he will be able to open it.

Veterinary.

Blistering Colt.

Yours re lumps on colt to hand. The colt is a sucker and cannot be tied, but I could shut it up while the blister is on. I want to treat at once, as the lumps are hard. B. R. T.

Ans.—We were quite aware that the colt was a sucker, and that is why we advised waiting until fall before treating, as it could then be tied. If you can devise some means of keeping it from biting and licking the parts until the oil is applied, it will be all right to treat now. V.

Heavy Breathing.

Yearling heifer is in good condition, but when she runs she acts like a horse with heaves. Seems as if she could not breathe deep enough. Would it be wise to keep her for a breeder, or sell her to the butcher? A. M.

Ans.—The symptoms indicate pulmonary tuberculosis, but there is no means of diagnosing except the tuberculin test by a veterinarian. If she be tubercular, it is doubtful whether the flesh would be fit for use. In any case, I would not advise keeping her for a breeder. V.

Swollen Tendons and Knuckling.

Two-year-old colt became stiff on one leg and then on the other. The cords are swollen, and the fetlock joints are swollen and knuckled. H. S.

Ans.—Get a blister made of 2 drams each of biniodide of mercury and cantharides, mixed with 2 ounces vaseline. Clip the hair off swollen tendons and joints. Tie so that he cannot bite or lick the parts. Rub well with the blister once daily for two days, and on the third day apply sweet oil. Turn loose now in a box stall and oil every day until the scales come off, then tie up and blister again as at first, and after this blister once every month as long as necessary. Keep as quiet as possible. V.

Indigestion.

Mare nursing colt has not been well for a month. I feed her two quarts of boiled oats three times daily, and also give her powders given by a veterinarian who has seen her. I have had three veterinarians in attendance. She has been given aloes and oil and powders, but does not seem much better. She eats well, but gasses seem to form in her stomach. T. E. McM.

Ans.—The veterinarians in attendance doubtless are treating the case properly, and having seen the patient are in a much better position to diagnose and treat than I. I would suggest, in addition to what is being done, to give rolled oats and bran instead of boiled oats, and to add to her drinking water one-quarter of its bulk of lime water. I would also suggest that you consult your veterinarian before making the change, as it may not be wise to do so. V.

Ontario Wind Engine & Pump Company's LINES ARE SUPREME

Safety

Why does the squirrel take to the oak instead of the sycamore when climbing for protection? Because it means safety, whereas the sycamore means accident.

Why does the experienced man choose the O.W.E. & P. Co.'s Engines, Windmills, Pumps, Scales, Grinders, Tanks, Troughs, Water Basins, Wood Saws and Well Drills? Because they mean guaranteed satisfaction and safety, whereas others spell disappointment and loss.

If your dealer does not handle our lines write the ONTARIO WIND ENGINE & PUMP CO., Ltd., at Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg or Calgary.
