JUSTIN MCOARTHY, M. F., London, England. London, March 9.h, 1889. My DEAN SIR-I thank you and your friends most ordially for the contribution which you sent to the Parnell Defence Fund, and I thank you also for being good enough to send it through me. You will have learned before this how utterly the charges of the Times have broken anniversary of the prosperous St. Pat rick's Society at Richmond and vicibity, were admirably conducted, greatly enjoyed and will be pleasantly remembered by all who participated therein. The following are the officers for 1888. 9. All London has diace been ring ing with the news of this tremerdous break-down and exposure. None the less, however, we shall want funds to maintain our defence, for we will not allow the case to stop now. We must have the whole conspiracy laid bare to the light of day. I will send to the right quarter the generous and patriotic con-tribution of your friends and you. I am proud to know, and my collesquees will be proud to know, that our sympathisers in Canada are wholly with us in our movement, and are ready to help us in our difficulties. I hope to be in Canada again before long, meantime I remain, my my dear sir, Very truly yours, JUSTIN MCCABTHY. MR JOSEPH WILLIAMS. IN PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND. Special to the CATHOLIC RECORD. St. Patrick's Day was celebrated with more than ordinary enthusiasm this year all around, but nowhere with greater heartiness than in Prince Edward Island. Every town and village had its celebra-tion, and the numbers that turned out to do honor to the festival were very large indeed. The strong feeling excited in the breasts of all by the inhuman treat-ment of the recognized leaders of the Irish nation could not fail to thoroughly arouse Irishmen the world over, and not only Irishmen, but every liberty-loving subject of whatever creed or nationality he be. At Charlottetown the usual church ser-vice was held and a grand concert given St. Patrick's Day was celebrated with

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

IN PETERBOROUGH.

The national anniversary was celebrated in a most hearty and enthusisatic manner in Peterborough. A grand concert was in Peterborough. A grand concert was given under the auspices of the local branch of the Nations' League. As the orchestra finished its second selection, which closed the musical part of the evening's programme, Councillor Thos Calill, President of the local branch of the Irish National League, came out upon the platform, followed by the speaker of the evening, Mr. J. J. Curran, M. P., of Montreal; Mayor Stevenson, M. P., Mr. J. R. Stratter, M. P. P. Mr. D. W. Domble, P. M., Councillor Thos. Kelly and Mr. J. D. McIlmoyle. The appearance of these gentlemen was the

Mr. Cabili then arose and in a few appro-priate and well-timed remarks thanked the andience for their kind patronage and also expressed the gratitude of the Leggue to those ladies and gentlemen who had placed their talent at its disposal. In introducing the lecturer Mr. Cabili told an annahing story of an Irishman who was asked for a description of Daniel O'Con-nell. "He's a fine man," was the reply, which was repeated, but being pressed for a more detailed description of the leader the Kerry man exclaimed, "Why he's like the—the lakes of Killarney." Mr. Curran, he seid, was a fine man but as he was present further description of him was unnecessary.

covered with hir, which is theged with grey, which his fatures speak louder than words ever could of the generous Irish heart which beats beneath the closely buttoned and tight fitting Prince Albert coat. As a speaker Mr. Curran is estnest and elequent and last night be carried the feelings of his audience with him and again and again the house echoed with applause. In opening he thanked the chairman for his kind introduction and said he did not pretend to be a public lecturer but had accepted the kind and hearty invitation of the League to address them on one of the greatest and noblest themes—a theme that was well worthy, not of humble talent like his, but of the greatest talent that could be brought to bear upon it—the cause of Ireland. But he could speak from his heart—the heart of a man of an Irish mother aud an Irish father—for a cause which was in the thoughts of. THE IRISH RACE the thoughts of . THE IRISH RACE on that day of grace, 1889 St. Patrick's day always awakened the fondest recol-lections, and, he said, he could not pass to his subject without a reference to that bloodless triumph of the saint over the paganism that had overspread Ire-land for centuries. He then in eloquent largence and poctry dijusted upon he.

who fell in the abortive attempt at rebel-lion in 1848. These were all, be believed, providential in different ways to the Irish peopie. In this sketch Mr. Curren referred in eulogistic language at different times to Daniel O'Connoli, and his great fight for Ireland, to Father Mathew and his temperance work, to Isaac Butt, and lastly to Charles Stuart Parnell. The muntion of each of these cherished names was the signal for great ap-planee and patriotic enthusiasm. The lecturer resd- a report written by Mr. A. M. Sullivan of the first appearance of Mr. Parnell as the advocate of Heme Rule and followed the Irish leader from his debut through his plan of obstruction in the House of Commons, their cause? WHAT DID THEY DEMAND? Did they ask to be dismembered or severed from the Empire to whose glori. ous history they had contributed on so many battle fields? No. They desired to live in the closent possible relation of brotherhood with England and Scotland, but they esked for Ireland the right to make Irish laws upon Irish soil. They ssked the rights that had been granted the Dominion of Canada. They asked that Ireland's progress and progretily be not retarded and, in fact, be not wiped out. They had no desire to break up the Empire, but wished to be allowed to develop the recorress of their country and to promote the interests of their country and ito promote the interests of their country ran said, on this St. Patrick's Day, 1839, they solution of the spoke of the charge in sen-timent which could be seen towards those who now pleaded the cance of Ireland.
