THE WESLEYAN.

WESLEYAN' ALMANAC.

OCTOBER 1878.

First Quarter, 3 day, 2h, 46m, Morning. Full Moon, 11 day, 4h, 40m, Morning. Last Quarter, 19 day, 2h, 55m, Morning. New Moon, 25 day, 6h, 44m, Afternoon.

Date	Day of Week.	SUN		MUON.			94
		Ris	es Set	Rises Souths Sets.			É
1	Tuesday	16	21 5 88	1 4. 37	4 37	1 8 37
	Wednesday		3 5 36	1 33	5 35		11 40
	Thursday	6	4 5 34	2 15	6 29	10 43
	Friday	6	5 5 32	2 49	7 20	11 51	0 37
5	Saturday	6	7 5 30		8 7	m'rn	1 50
6	SUNDAY	6	5 28	3 35	8 49	0 59	3 23
	Monday		5 27	3 56	9 31	3 3	5 48
8	Tuesday	6 1		4 13	10 10 10 10 50	4 7	6 34
	Wednesdy	6 1		4 50	11 31	5 9	7 10
10	Thursday	6 1		5 10	m'rn	6 12	7 42
	Friday	6 15		5 36	0 12	6 14	8 10
12	SUNDAY	6 17		6 4	0 57	8 18	8 38
13	Monday	6 18		6 41	1 43	9 22	9 6
	Tuesday	6 19		7 26	2 33	10 25	9 36
R	Wednesday	6 20	5 11	8 21	8 25	11 24	10 7
7	Thursday	6 22	5 9	9 23	4 19	A.17	10 40
8	Friday	6 23	5 7	10 35	5 14	1 5	11 21
9	Saturday	6 24	5 6	11 48	6 8	1 41	A 11
0	SUNDAY	6 26	5 4	mo'n	6 17	2 10	1 20
1	Monday	6 27	5 2	1 4	7 51	2 38	2 46
21	ruesday	6 29		2 22	8 41 9 33	3 0 3 26	4 18 5 17
3		6 30	4 59	8 40 4 59		3 51	6 9
4[]		6 31	4 56		10 25	4 16	6 44
	Friday	5 33	4 56	6 22 7 44	11 19 A 17	4 50	7 38
		6 34 6 35	4 53	9 4	1 18	5 32	8 22
		6 37	4 51	10 17	2 20	6 23	97
		6 38	4 50	11 20	3 22	7 24	9 52
		6 39	1 18	A 19	4 20		10 33
		6 41	4 47	0 48	5 14		11 2

THE TIDES .-- The column of the Mool's Southing gives the time of high water at Parrsboro, Corn-wallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport and Truro

Turo. High water at Pictou and Jape Tormentine, z ars and 11 minutes LATER than at Halifax. At Annap-elis, St. John, N.B., and Portland, Maine, 3 hours and 25 minutes LATER, and at St. John's, Newfound-iand 20 minutes EARLIER than at Halifax. At Charottetown, 2 hours 54 minutes LATER. At Westport, hours 54 minutes LATER. At Yarmouth, 2 hours 20 minutes LATER.

FOR THE LENGTH OF THE DAY.-Add 19 hours to the time of the sun's setting, and from the sum sub-stract the time of rising. FOR THE LENGTH OF THE MIGHT.-Substract the time of the sun's setting from 12 hours, and to the emainder add the time of rising next morning

THE YOUNG FOLKS. ······

STRENGTH GAINED BY SELF. DENIAL.

"Mamma, can I have five cents ?"

"I gave you some money only a few days ago, Harry. You know mamma hasn't much money, my boy; can't you do without it ?"

Harry loooked at the dear face, and for the first time noticed how thin it | liquor ; it is good at certain times, and was growing, and manly little fellow liquor never is; but it is the habit of that he was, resolved not to let mamma be worried on his account.

need the money—never you worry. I self-off the habit of spending money for can use my short slate-pencil awhile your own gratification." This was the strength, and it is that that you must sails. As life draws near to an end, we try to cultivate. It is for this reason can easily distinguish them from the that I do not like to see you yield to pure white sails of love, charity, faith every little desire. Teach yourself, my and patience, with the motto: 'With boy, to say no to your fancies. Teach God's help,' for the watchword. A yourself self-restraint and self-denial, kind word to some poor boy, or even a and your moral nature will grow firm | bone to a starved dog, is a tiny craft and strong. But it is nearly school- which goes forth sailing into the great time, and my work, too, is waiting. unknown, and may some day come back Think of what I have said. Good-bye. harbor a few days since. and God bless you."

The boy went off with a very sober ace. Was it true that there was danger of his liking strong drink ? Why, moher must have meant that there was langer of his being a drunkard. Well. if giving up candy would keep him from shat, he would taste no more andy.

That noon his cousin Phil joined him. the very sight of the boy reminded Iarry of what his mother had said, and vere both in danger and must strengthn themselves.

" Here, Harry, father sent this to you. He said he hadn't tipped you in some ime;" and Phil handed his cousin a wenty-five cent piece.

"Oh thank you. Tell Uncle Philip I am so much obliged. I say, let us run over to the cake shop and get a cream cake apiece.'

"No, thank you. Mother says it will never do for me to eat cakes. I haven't great appetite and must eat nourishing food.

Harry turned away with a start-he had forgotten so soon ! If it had not been for Phil he would probably have eaten three or four cream cakes ! After school Harry was fairly frightened to find how something seemed to be pull-ing him into the cake and candy store. At last he started running, and never stopped until he reached his mother's room, and tossing his silves piece into her lap, he said :

"There, mother, keep that, and don't let me handle a cent until I can resist. Why, do you know, I could hardly get here-I wanted to spend that money so, for candy. Uncle Philip sent it to me." "I want you to grow strong, my boy ou must keep the money and steadily refuse temptations. Candy is not like self-indulgence that you must break. Let me buy you candy when I think it "All right mother; I don't really will be good for you, and break your-longer, and 1 only wanted to get candy with the other three cents." Mrs. Dunn laid her work down and drew her boy on her lap. It was an un-will harden the fibres, toughen the meat all through, extract the best part of the juice, make it very injurious to the stomach, and give no pleasure to the palate.

or cook, or both unitedly, is thrown the whole burden of blame. But, in truth, the chief fault rests with the housekeeper; for with her alone lies the whole responsibility. It is her own business to see that her instructions receive respectful attention, and that her orders are promptly and scrupulously obeyed. Simply to give the order is of little avail. One failure should suffice supervision will have more effect than hundred messages through the speak-

It is difficult to press upon cooks, or careless, incompetent housekeepers, the simple rule that salt should not be used.

in seasoning meat or poultry until partly cooked, and on the country, that their flavor more readily by the action of heat, though not at so intense a de-

If a housekeeper thinks she can explain to her cook the effect this mode of seasoning will have on health and comfort and then feel that her part of the as a long forgotten sail came into my care is over se will make a great mistake. Unless a proper supervision is "You remember my saying I feared I steadily practiced she will soon learn must have a lawsuit with a Mr. Jones that explanations, or even strict injuncabout some California land? Last tions, are usually disregarded. The Thursday Mr. Jones came to show me salt will still be thrown over the meat his deeds. His face seemed very famibefore it is at all cooked-perhaps because the girl wants it " off her mind " liar, but I thought it must be a resemblance to some one I had known. Mr. -and, as the result, a poor, indigestible Jones looked at me a moment, and then mess of meat is set before the family. coming forward said very cordially, Should any one venture to complain, 'This must be Mr. Howard. I can never the mistress has any number of excuses at her tongue's end. Upon the butcher.

forget you, for you once saved my honor e felt a new sympathy for him-they when I was a boy in your father's office.' "Then it came back to me, like a long forgotten dream, of a bright office boy for whom I had once done something, but what I could not remember. So I said, 'O yes, I know you; but as to the favor, the long years since then must be my excuse for forgetting." "Ah! it was a small matter to you but the turning point in my life, for it to teach the mistress that her careful made me trust that there was real kindness in the world, and that a rich man's son could take the part of a poor boy iug-tube or verbal directions. and fight manfully for him."

"I replied, my curiosity fully arous-'Come ! this is hardly fair : you ed, must tell me what I did." " ' Do you remember John Haskins ?"

pepper and herbs, if used, should be added a an earlier stage; because all such seasonings release the best part of he answered. "Indeed I do, and a great rascal he turned out. By the way Jones did you not have some trouble with him ?' I said, for just at that moment the two seemed connected in my mind.

gree as to evaporate and thus lose the " Now you have the missing link, most delicate part of their flavor. Mr. Howard. Yes; John Haskins ac-Rapid cooking and intense heat are cused me of stealing, and when on clear as injurious to the meats as the seasonevidence your father discharged me, ing. Long, gentle cooking-simmeryou begged I might remain a few days ing-is best for even the choicest for further proof."

"'Ah ! I remember,' I laughed. 'That was my first case. I cleared you and convicted Haskins. How proud I was when my father said, 'Ralph, my boy, persevere ; I have great hope of you !'

"No more proud than when I went home to my sick mother, whom I supported, and told her I still beld my position, and that my honesty was clear. That was a happy day,' Mr. Jones said his voice trembling.

"And where have you been all these years? Has fortune favoured you?" "Yes; beyond my largest hopes,' he nswered. 'After my mother's death I answered. was a good fight, and being Christ's went to her brother in California. I got faithful servant and soldier, Harry won on well, and at my uncle's death inherited his property. These papers which prove your title to your land there, I received from him ;' and handing me a small package, he added, 'It gives me pleasure to pass them over to you in memory of your first case.' "I thanked him; and he dines with us this evening, when he will tell you in his own way of my "ship at sea." -S. S. Visitor.

IN MEMORY. [This poem, second to Shelly's "Cloud," in beauty and sweetness of expression and rhythm, provoked the remark from the gifted and lament, ed Prentice that "one could almost wish to die if he knew such a beautiful tribute would be written to his memory :"]

On the bosom of the river, On the bosom of the river, Where the sun unloosed its quiver, And the starlight gleamed forever, Sailed a vessel light and free. Morning dew.drops hung like manna On the bright folds of her banner, And the zephyrs rose to fan her Softly to the radiant sea.

At the prow a pilot beaming In the flush of youth stood dreaming, And he was in glorious seeming, Like an angel from above. Through his hair the soft breeze sported, And as on the ways he floated And as on the wave he floated, Oft that pilot angel-throated, Warbled lays of home and love.

Through those leaves so brightly flowing, Buds of laurel bloom were blowing, And his hands anon were throwing Music from a lyre of gold. Swiftly down the stream he glided Soft the purple wave divided, And a rainbow's arch abided On its canvas' snowy fold.

Anxious hearts with fond devotion Watched him sailing to the ocean-Prayed that never wild commution dst the elements would rise. And he seemed some young Apollo, Charming summer winds to follow While the water-flags' corolla Trembled on his music sighs.

But those purple waves enchanted, Rolled beside a city haunted By an awful spell that daunted Every comer to the shore. Nightshade rank the air encumbered, And pale marble statues numbered Where the lotus-eaters slumbered And wake to life no more.

Then there rush'd with lightning quickness O'er this face a mortal sickness, And the dew in fearful thickness Gathered o'er his temple fair; And there swept a dying murmur Through the lovely Southern summer As the beauteous pilot comer Perished at that city there.

Still rolls on that radiant river, And the sun unbinds his quiver, And the starlight streams forever, On the bosom as before, But that vessel's rainbow banner Greets no more the gay savanna, And that pilot's lute drops manna On the purple waves no more.

OBITUARY

HANNAH SWAINE

meats, except in broiling. Pepper, wife of Capt, Chapman Swaine, died on spices, herbs, if used, penetrate all the 28th ult., at North East Harbor, aged 59 years. During the whole of sister Swaine's last illness she manifested a firm assurance in her Redeemer, being by grace through the mat when cooked slowly; but the best flavors evaporate under rapid cooking. A poor, cheap, tough piece of meat is hardly eatable, certaindivine enabled to glorify God in the furnace of affliction. Having an impression y not digestable, unless these precaufrom the first day of her illness that she tions are strictly observed ; but it can would not recover, she was always averse be made wholesome and delicious if to praying for her recovery. Using the apostle's words, she said, I would ra-ther depart that I may be with Christ which is far better. Shortly before her they are properly understood and re-membered. The French understand the power of alow cooking to preserve all fine flavors. If they had not such death I asked her concerning her conver-sion, and her countenance brightened as a great fondness for garlie theirs would she informed me, that about the age of Bro. Webb she was convinced of sin and led to seek an interest in the atoning blood of the Lamb. During the great revival on the circuit under the ministry of Bro. McMurray, she came out again and professed to find peace with God. But when Bro. Sponagle conducted special services here, afraid that she might be deceived or resting on some false hope, she went forward to the altar and asked the Lord to reveal himself more fully to her; then she received the full witness of the Spirit, and to the end of her life remain ed in full enjoyment of religion. Sister Swaine was always ready to lend a helping hand in what ever would further the interests of her Master's kingdom, and with her husband took a very active part in building our church and parsonage. In faith as well as in works she was abundant. Many will remember her heart stirring prayers in the house of God, and even at the point of death she evinced an anxiety for the spiritual welfare of others by requesting that her funeral ser-mon should be preached from the words, How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation." Her end was peace and though dead she yet speaketh. J. S. N. E. H.

OCTOBER 26

G The rison (was a but, yo ready ding t day. a bad intox giving ishme death The bering the yo obtain first w pered the pr intoxi ceeded moned said. "T for my low. " It shorth " " M " you tial la .I have " B on one The tion ? do mu "0 " h to-mo "I one d you, the los once sobrig never " H prom " N " N " A nel. wine Th ed up " H

antee

my p

cer. A eyes.

"I, (

drop ersu Tv ral (ed a Pari ther fered form drew you ly. you ly. vow "Ne a dr it, a keep O the had for l

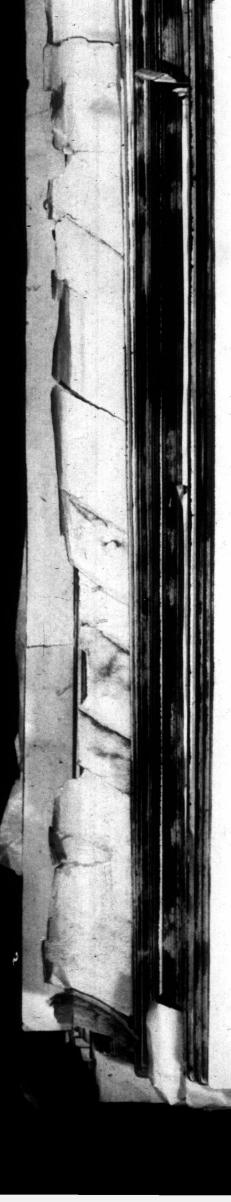

TH

En

rail spr bra bra bra bra bra bra bra cou tra bra cou tra bra cou cou an the the alc of the pow tio the ges the we are of tio an de

OC'

derstood thing between the boy and his | humbly to God and asked His help., It mother that when they were alone he could be petted as little five-year-old Jim or the baby; and so he was very willing to cuddle down and rest his cheek against his mother's face. "Harry dear," she said, "you are very fond of candy.' "So are you, mother dear."

"That's true, but I don't buy some every time I feel as if I would enjoy it. I think I never buy candy for myself." Harry felt a little twinge of shame as he remembered the cocoanut balls he had eaten at recess yesterday. " I'll go halves with you next time," he whispered penitently.

I want my boys to learn to say 'no' to gravel walk, then fell on his knees be their appetites and desires. The boy that can't pass a candy store-if he taloons over which poor Bridget had happens to catch sight of his favorite confectionery-will, most probably, if he has any craving for stimulants when he grows up, be unable to pass the tiest craft in town !" and Ned put his liquor store. Now, Harry dear, I have head on one side, and for the space of wanted to talk to you about this, but one minute was lost in admiration of I have been waiting until you are old his treasure. enough to understand me. You know how careful Aunt Kate is of Phil; how, though she tries to toughen him, yet if he gets his feet wet, or is exposed to the slightest damp air, she takes the greatest pains that he shall not suffer any evil effects. Then, though he is as old as you, she still bathes him herself every night and morning, rubbing him with coarse towels and in every way trying to strengthen him. Why does she do all this ?"

"You know, mamma, Phil's fatheruncle Philip-has consumption, and eye sparkled with the memory of his they are very anxious Phil should not victory. inherit."

"Yes, but Uncle Philip is alive : he goes to business."

"Oh, I know he does; but he isn't half as strong as he'd like to be; he coughs awfully and is sick half the time.

"Oh, Harry, there's a worse disease in this family, to fight which you will need all the strength you can gain now, while you are young.'

Harry looked at his mother's face in surprise. Surely she was not in earnest ! but never had she been more serious. "A worse disease ! Oh, mother, what can it be? Can I be kept from it? And Jim, dear little Jim ! and baby !" "You are all in danger, but if only you will strengthen yourselves and dread the disease, you will escape it." "Tell me what it is-is it paralysis ?

George White's father has that.' 'Paralysis, consumption, and many other diseases follow this one. Harry, the victory. Years after, when his friends wondered at his firmness and moral strength, he always said, "I have my mother to thank for it all-she warned me of my weakness, and taught me how to grow strong."-Our Union.

SHIPS AT SEA.

"It was real good of you to wait for me, mamma. Brother John's pond is splendid, and we have had such a jolly time sailing our boats !" and Ned How-"Oh, I wasn't thinking of that; but ard put his ship carefully down on the side it, little thinking of the white panwasted so many sighs while ironing. "Now, sister, ain't she a reg-e-lar beauty? Honor bright! she is the pret-

> Then, looking up, he said, "Papa, could you stop reading for a few moments and tell me something ? I might forget, you know."

"Certainly, my boy !" replied Mr. Howard, closing his book. " Is it a question in Greek or Latin? and a smile flitted over his face.

"No sir; deeper than that," Ned answered. "You see, in the first place, we were having a high time down at the pond, and my 'Lucy' beat Ned Thorton's ' Jane' all to bits ;" and Ned's

"Just as I had wound uy all my string, one end of which was fastened to Lucy's' bow, Mr. Thornton came along and looked at 'Lucy' and said, 'Well we see many of them." Then he told of the fun he used to have when a boy. I declare he is a minister I like ; he is always so kind, and with a pleasant word for boys. What he says sticks, I tell you !" and in Ned's energetic admiration for Mr. Thornton, he gave the 'Lucy' an affectionate slap which enat sea?' "

"Mr. Thornton was right, Ned. His idea was that we seldom see our ships in this life, though we send many out from port.'

"But how, papa ?" and Ned's face wore a puzzed expression.

"We all send different cargoes," his

Bread and meat should be among the simplest and least difficult articles of food to cook, but for lack of care or through unpardonable ignorance they are the most frequently spoiled. For the present we only propose to speak of meats.

Where there are no reasons for stringent economy and the choicest pieces are selected, there is no excuse if they are not so cooked as to give the highest gratification. For those who are compelled to choose the cheapest, not the best, there are many ways by which a little skill and a fair amount of good common sense can make even the poorer portions quite satisfactory. Indeed, sometimes the cheapest cuts give more pleasure than the choicest joints that wealth provides, because the one is daintily dressed and finely seasoned, carefully cooked to a turn, and its plebeian origin skillfully covered by a good farmer's sensible wife, and the other ruined by the reckless carelessness of an expensive cook whom no one dare censure or direct.

Attention to the art of seasoning. a fair knowledge of the modes of making Ned, my boy, I hope all your ships at tough beef tender, nutritious and palasea may come in as safely, but we have | table, are important items in domestie I'm glad there is no consumption among to wait until we cross the river before education. Many house-keepers are very careless in giving their directions or in their own use of seasoning, and thus often spoil what might have been delicious. We say "careless," but too often it is the result of ignorance. The injudicious use of salt, pepper and herbs has ruined many a meal that should have been most excellent, and dangered her beauty. "But what did Mr. Thornton mean by that about 'ships' usual penalty for such ignorance or misuse of seasoning.

It is a common practice of cooks, and often of those who are called good housekeepers, to sprinkle salt over meat when just ready to put over the fire.

Now, to salt any meat before it is well heated through-or, better still, half cooked-will injure very materially the it is a love of strong drink. My boy, father replied. "Some men's ships are best ever sold in market, and certainly us an American, but also because his name as a physician had become favorably quite spoil a poor article, no matter known in Russia on its passage round the there is almost always want of moral money, envy or hatred : these have black whether it is steak, roast or stew. It world.—Pueblo (Col.) People.

OYSTER SAUCE, WHITE.

Blanch fifty oysters in their liquor, ther reduce it with half pint of yeal broth, until nearly all is evaporated, then add to it one pint of milk, simmer a few minutes, skim it clean and add a leason of four yokes of eggs; pass through the tamis in-to a bain-marie; just before serving add the oysters, washed in warm water, a pinch of cayenne and mace and juice of half a lemon

OYSTER SAUCE, BROWN.

Proceed as directed for oyster sauce, white, substituting beef broth for veal broth and milk.

HAUNCH OF MUTTON A L'ANGLAISE. Dress a well-hung haunch of mutton on spit, set it close to the fire for twenty minutes to form a crust over the entire surface, when, set it back and cover with a buttered paper, baste at first with salted water, afterwards very often with the drippings, roast it thus twenty minutes to the pound, remove the paper, dredge flour over, baste twice, dress it on its dish, ornament with a frill and three silver skewers, add enough stock to the gravy, boil, skim and strain, pour over the remove and send to table.

IRISH STEW.

Prepare two pound of mutton cutlets, and lay them in the bottom of a stewpan with a bouquet of parsley, thyme, a blade of mace, white pepper and salt, with a quart of cold water; simmer slowly, skimming often for twenty minutes, when add two dozen onions of equal size, previously cooked in stock, and two dozen small potatoes trimmed quite round to match the size of the onions; continue the simmering until the potatoes are cooked tender, when instantly remove, dress the cutlets in close circular order, with the onions and potatoes in the centre, add to the braise enough white roux to thicken it, strain, and if seasoned correctly pour over the stew, sprinkle over the whole two tablespoonfuls chopped parsley and serve.

Schutzenberger has announced the dis-covery of an allotropic condition of me-tallic copper, obtained by electrolysis of a solution of about ten per cent of copper acetate, previously boiled, with two Bun-sen or three Daniell cells, the negative platinum plate being placed parallel to the larger positive copper electrode, and three or four centimeters from it. The allotropic copper is then deposited on the plantinum as a brittle metal in rugose plates of an aspect resembling bronze. Its specific gravity is from 8.0 to 8.2, that of ordinary copper being 6.8. The moist plates quickly oxidize on the surface in ordinary air. Allotropic copper is chang-ed to ordinary copper by heat or by pro-longed contact with diluted sulphuric acid.

The Russian Court invited Dr. Ayer and his family to the Archduke's wedding in the Royal Palace. This distinction was awarded him not only because he was an American, but also because his name

A CHILD'S OPINION-A FACT. STANLEY ----- had recovered from a very serious illness, brought on by too close application to his books, in his earnest endeavors to outstrip his little schoolmates in the race after knowledge. His little brother, Percy, a youth of three summers, as was quite natural, held a very high opinion of the medicine (Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto Phosphate of Lime) that had produced such gratifying results, -but, at the same time had a very warm affection for it on his own private account. After having enjoyed sundry "refreshers" from the nearly empty bottles, which by common consent had descended to him, he critically holds it up between his eye and the light, and with the air of a Chief Justice, remarks :- " Mamma, I like 'zat better 'n lobster.'

Little Percy's just appreciation is a very general one among the children who have once taken the Emulsion, and mothers would have less cause for anxiety on account of the ceaseless drains upon the too frail constitutions of their fastgrowing little ones did they but fully estimate the marvellous strengthening and vivifying properties of this medicine and its adaptability to the wants of GROWING STRUCTURES. Try it!

Prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, St. John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1 per bottle : Six for $5. BROWN & WEBB, and FORSYTH, SUT-CLIFFE & Co., Halifax, Wholesale Agents Oct. 19-2 wks.

DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER.—The best and most popular Family Medicine in the world. A blessing to the rich; a friend to the poor ; within the reach of all, it has saved more lives and relieved more suffering incidental to travelling than any other medicine.