THE COURIER

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 12, 1850.

The Montreal Courier is discussing the question—" Can Mr. Sanborn an Antersationist Member, consistently against the Ministry I? The Courier says:—" The events still fresh in spots minds consented with his election, leave as soons to question the first, that he accepted a special mission; and that, however he may cain his consciouse by minuted searchtions. Mr. Samborn must feel that he was elected Members, the Courier of Samborn brooks avowedly upon American grounds; and was opposed by the Ministry, profesly becames he received Americans support." Samborn sufficient oredit for descriment. He may conceive that, in upholding the Ministry, he is doing more by the promotion of American the doing more by the promotion of American the doing more by the promotion of American the bound Mr. Samborn is a shrewd fellow, and knows what he is about.

Sanborn, by his vote, affirmed his attachment t the principles upon which he was elected, and made up the ominous number of seven, who had od to assert the truth. His name will and with the minority in the history of this Colony, as one of those who had the courage to defend the principles of constitutional liberty; but if we accord him full praise for decision and resolution in presence of a venal majority of the Legislative Assembly, he has not the less exposed himself to the imputation of deviating from his implied duty, when he thought fit to eulogize, as the ablest men in the Colony, a Ministry devoice of any principles of action, enfeebled by internal discord, over-bearing towards the unprotected, cowards when bearded by the bold—a Ministry held together by the ignorable motives of avarice, and, with the exception of the "Hyena," notorious for a parsimony in fit keeping with the disre-putable example of Lord Elgin. The doctrine of expediency, which alone could warrant Mr. San-born's unlooked-for Ministerial tendency, may claim some excuse, if invoked to avert nations peril; but it is repudiated by men of honor, and no politician who resorts to such expedients need count apon the permanent respect or confidence of the community. In England, when men of am-ple fortune and finished education enter the Imperial Senate, they are restrained as much by the traditions of their families, as by a deference to public opinion, from those sudden political conversions which signalize the poverty and corruption of our Assembly. A man like Mr. Sanborn, who emerges from the mass, invested with none of the ses honorably obtained by long services ad unswerving fidelity, derives his important solely from his constituents; they alone confe power he should guard with scrupulous fidelity. To praise a Ministry who had persecuted his conelected to advocate, exposes Mr. Sanborn to the imputation of being a weak or a dishonest man. If the Ministry are hypocritically opposed to Annexation, he should scorn an alliance which dignifies falsehood; and if, being at heart Annex tionists, the Ministry accept the volunteer cham-

At page 47, No. 31, of the Blue Book, we find, under the head "Special Services," some rather extraordinary items of expenditure. We have, first of all, £1750 paid to Hineks, Drammond and Blake, "on account of special services", this money was expended, we presume, in paying the "Peter Groomes," and other rescally pimps and spice, who were hired to give informations against officials of the Law Courts might have been anticompelled to mollify, but the proposition is suggestive of two considerations. Retrenchment means some hing more than lopping off the subordinate calaries; it means, according to public interpretation, that the principle should be applied, in the first instance, to the Governor's income, and descend, step by step, from one office holder to another, until it reaches that class whose incomes will permit no curvaliment. The public desire that every man should have "a tair day's wages for a fair day's work," but they are not disposed to suffer the extravigance and profusion with which of five holding members in the Assembly vote each other a viaries disproportionate to their services, or the means of the Colony. Lafontaine's scheme of retreachment, in so far as it has been disclosed, disturbs incomes to which, in some instances, the occapants have almost a prescriptive right. It volunteers no offer on the part of the Cabinet to Liwer their own official incomes, and the scheme indirectly invests the Ministry with fresh sources of patronage, readering the subordinate clerks beneafarth Jependent upon the Government. It is a well founded complaint, that the excessive extent of patronage wielded by the Ministry? is dangerous to defend the police in the part of the Colony. It is the doctrine of European the colony. It is the doctrine of European the colony of the means of the part of the Colony. It is the doctrine of European the colony of the means of the colony of the means of the colony of the means of the colony. On Sunday last the "Germania Society kindly volunteered their assistance to the choir of St. Patrick's Church, on the occasion of a collection being taken up with a view to the liquidation of the debt remaining upon the organ. The Church was well fitted, and those sublime strains, which the greatest masters of the Divine art have dedicated to the enhancement, of the splendour and impressiveness of the Roman Catholic ritual, were heard with rapturous attention.

The vocal portions of the service were selected from the sacred compositions of Haydn and Mozart; the regular choir of the Church acquitted itself with great credit and effect; the accompaniments were performed by the "Germania Society:"-to say that they were well performed would be but a weak expression, and we may safely venture to say that Sacred Music was never before heard to such perfection in Canada. A appropriate intervals during the Service, selections from choice religious compositions were performed by the "Germania Society." We may particularize the Aria "Cujus Animam," arranged from Rossini's " Stabat Mater," which was performed during the collection, and which will not aware of any good and sufficient cert Music should be purely secular.

We understand that, thanks to the "German Society," a very handsome amount was conributed at the collection. On Monday evening, this Society gave their

We feel sure that selections of a similar character might be introduced with success into the Society's Concerts; we are not though in its day was no doubt a "beauty," would hardly pass for one now.
