of enthusiasm and confidence in the future success of Liberal principles in

WITNESS AT TRIAL OF WIARTON RAIDERS IS POSITIVE.

He Turned Crown Evidence-Five of the Accused Were Committed for Trial and Six Others Were Acquitted.

Hyman was a man of whom no citizen in Canada noed be ashamed, and who, aiways a strenuous political fighter, would still be in the ring but for the unfortunate state of his health. He had heard recently from Mr. Hyman, and his condition was such that whether he would be able to attend to his business again was a problem, the solution of which was known only to Providence. With regard to the political situation, he thought that they could review the outlook with satisfaction. They had se-cured a notable victory in North Bruce, which had been long held by their op-ponents. It was the great ambition and hope of their leader that he should oc-cupy the position of First Minister back-ed by a majority from Ontario. The achievement of that result, he believed, was in sight, and it but needed the hon. Wiarton, Ont,. Sept. 4. - There has been considerable pent-up feeling in Wiarton during the past few days when it was known that Provincial Detective Reburn was on the scene hunt-ing up evidence to prosecute the raiders upon the tent of Mrs. Thomas. The detective succeeded in getting two of the raiders to turn Crown evidence, and after two adjournments the trial finally came off before Police Magistrate B. B. Miller. Detective Reburn was on the scene huntwas in sight, and it but needed the hon-est and united efforts of Liberals in the Province to make the result an establish-

Miller. The raiders put up a fight, and se-eured for counsel H. G. Tucker, Owen Sound, and W. N. Munro, Palmerston. The accused all elected to be tried sum-marily by the Magistrate. The latter declined to try the case and stated that he would simply hold the usual prelim-inary investigation. Mrs. Stella Lamont, one of the two women non this memorable nicht, was Province to make the result an establish-ed fact. (Applause.) Continuing, Mr. Ayleswarth urged the importance of thorough organiza-tion, which was in better condition now than it ever had been, and added that he, like all good Liberals, was prepared in Provincial polities to give honest sup-port to the Provincial leader.

Mrs. Stella Lamont, one of the two women upon this memorable night, was the first witness for the prosecution. Her evidence was practically along the lines already reported. It was a tale of considerable violence, of stones and eggs flying in every direction, some of which hit her with considerable force. She saw Robert Lancaster upon this occasion, but could not accuse him of participating in the raid. Fully Considered Offer. Hon. George P. Graham, aluding to his decision to accept the invitation of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to enter the Do-minion Cabinet, said that he had given in the raid. Milton McKibbon, one of the raiders, Air., Graham said that in Ontario the outlook was not at all discouraging. Since he had been called to the leader-ship of the Opposition in the Legisla-ture he had made a practice of visit-ing the constituencies to see what work was being done in the way of organi-zation, for it was only by attending to details of organization that Govern-ments were kept in power. He had ship of the Opposition in the Legisla-ture he had made a practice of visit ing the constituencies to see what work was being done in the way of organi-zation, for it was only by attending to details of organization that Govern-ments were kept in power. He had to bear testimony to the excellent work which was being done by the association, and by the General Secre-tary. He urged, however, that the party should immediately elect some-one to take his place as leader. There were on his diary engagements which his successor must fill. They need not be alarned as to the man being forth-coming. He could name plenty who would do the work and make the Whit-res at up before, and in fifteen minutes from the Opposition benches he could pick a Cabinet superior to the present one. Censuring the Whitney Government, Mr. Graham said that they had promised to revolutionize the school system, and all they find done was to change a speci-fication and give a contract to a pet from the Momission and promised to take the all they find done was to change a speci-fication and give a contract to a pet from the opposition benches a present to revolutionize the school system, and all they find done was to change a speci-fication and give a contract to a pet from the promised to take the phate the school system, and all they find done was to change a speci-fication and give a contract to a pet for the form the work on the stand, and his evidence was most im-form the school system, and all they find done was to change a speci-fication and give a contract to a pet for the form the work on the stand, and his evidence was most im-stand, and his evidence was most im-stand. and his evidence was most im-stand. and his evidence was most imgave evidence for the Crown. He gave a positive denial to the story. He had asked Gilbert that day where the tent was, and upon being told, said he would attend to the matter next morn-ing, whereupon Gilbert remarked "that he would attend to the story. He paid no attention to him, as he naturally thought it was only a jest. He stated most emphatically that he had no idea that Gilbert was going to commit a breach of the law. A number of others gave evidence for the prosecution, which then closed their case. The defence did not adduce any evidence, but their counsel submitted that no case had been made against six of the accussed, and the magistrate agreed to this contention. Then Wil-liam Lancaster, Robert Lancaster and Andrew Hastings were committed to trial at Walkerton, on the l6th inst.

Hon. Colonel Hendric, replying to the toats, said he attributed the honor which had been conferred upon him by the Canadian Artillery Association and to the success achieved by the Canadifm gunners against the British team. He congratulated the directors upon the suc-cess of the exhibition. A contrast can be drawn between the Canadian letter carrier and that of the United States of America. The Cana-dian gets from $1.25 a day to $2.25 after several years' service, and we under-stand a large number of them who pre-ferred to remain under the old act of 1882 get something like $49 a month, and it is said have had no increase in from fifteen to twenty years, while the United States of America carrier gets $000 his third year, and in addition to this at the last Congress held in Wash-ington a bill was passed at the solicita-tion of the Hon. George B. Cortelyou, Poetmaster-General, and Frank H. Hitch-cock, Assistant Postmaster-General, cess of the exhibition.
