

UNDESIRABLE IMMIGRANTS.

The Toronto Globe publishes a vigorous protest against the application of General Booth's emigration and colonizing scheme to Canada. "We quite concede," says our contemporary, "the principle of free trade in men as in goods, but that does not in any degree affect the right of a country to protect itself from the intrusion of objectionable material, whether it be men or products. We have no means of knowing what sort of immigrants the General proposes to favor with it; but when he tells us that English Boards of Guardians, in their administration of the poor law, pay the General £25 for each of their paupers that he shifts to the colonies, we are justified in concluding that he is dealing with a class who cannot in the bulk be regarded as desirable additions to our population. Like every other country under the sun, Canada has to wrestle with the problem as to what shall be done with her own social failures, and it would be unfair to saddle us with those produced in another land."

The Globe is right. We have had enough paupers and criminals landed in Canada from the old country. We want all the immigrants we can get, but we will not afford to draw the line at paupers and criminals. Much objection has been taken to the introduction of pauper children from England. Many no doubt have turned out well, and are growing up to be useful and respectable citizens, but others have gone wrong and given their benefactors worry and annoyance. A few years ago a number of ladies in this vicinity commenced the importation of female servants from Newfoundland, but a short experience in the business cooled their ardor and stopped the enterprise. What we want is to keep our own people in the country. We are raising plenty of them to people the whole of Canada, but they float off to the United States and help build up a foreign country. Even the glorious N. P. failed to stop the exodus of Canadians to the neighboring republic.

BUTTER AND TURNIPS.

A pointed illustration of the advisability of New Brunswick farmers turning more attention to the dairy, is given by the St. Andrews Beacon. The district around that popular summer resort is famed for its great production of turnips. Indeed you are not in it at Wauveit, at Boacabe, Magaguadavic and such places unless you cultivate turnips. All the first families raise turnips, and the turnip top has a prominent place in the family crest. Editor Armstrong who knows something of the dairy business when he puts his knife into the butter to make a thick and the farmers should give turnip raising a try and cultivate the cow. He believes much greater profit would accrue from dairying and he gives this example: "The wife of a Wauveit farmer drove into town last week with a few crocks of butter in her wagon. It was good butter, and she went out of town $43 richer in consequence. To receive the same amount out of turnips, at the present price, she would have had to haul in close upon 110 bbls. Eleven teams would be required to do the work, and it would be hard work, too."

"The points that we wish to make," says the Beacon, "are first, that it pays to make good butter, and second, that as a rule, dairy products pay better than root crops. Our farmers, we think, pin their faith too closely to turnips. As nearly every farmer, within a radius of thirty miles of the town raises little else but turnips, the aggregate yield, of course, is very large and the price correspondingly small. A little more attention to dairy products—to the raising of good cows, and the producing of good butter and cheese—would, we have little doubt, result in greater material benefits for the farmer than the raising of turnips."

The Beacon then points out the adaptability of Charlotte to dairying. The county is well watered and affords rich pasturage and the farmers ought to make a great success in producing butter and cheese. But first of all the turnips will have to be turned down. The co-operative dairy business has taken a hold already in Charlotte and there is room for lots of factories. No doubt Hon. Mr. Mitchell who is head of the agricultural department is doing all he can to encourage the farmers of the county to enlist more largely in the dairying enterprise, and now that he has enlisted the powerful pen of Editor Armstrong, the cause must boom.

THEIR EXCUSE REMOVED.

The St. John Globe with characteristic cruelty points out to Drs. Stockton and Alward that having left the Liberal party for the same reason that caused Mr. Blake's temporary withdrawal, they ought to again follow his example in coming back to the fold. No doubt the learned Doctors hoped to benefit by their new alliance, but the Conservatives have taken very little notice of either of them. Judgments, senatorships and other fat offices do not float in their direction, there being too many hungry Tories to satisfy before the bolters are considered. While the Liberals regretted the loss of Drs. Stockton and Alward as a critical time, they have never wept over it, but if these gentlemen would like to come back like Brother McKewen, no doubt they would be welcomed.

The Moncton Times had a good chance to make money, but the proprietors failed to grasp the situation. For sixteen years the Dominion government raised cash into the newspaper's coffers, the Times in the years 1890, 91, 92, 93 alone receiving no less than $48,257.51 from Ottawa. Probably since 1878, Messrs. Stevens & Co. have drawn at least $150,000 from the Conservative administration, out it is all gone, and so is the Times plant and the proprietor's private property.

The English churches of British Columbia unanimously elected Rev. W. Hibbert Binney bishop of that diocese, but he declines to accept. Mr. Binney is a son of the late Bishop of Nova Scotia, and is rector of Wilton, England. He is only thirty-seven years old, and evidently prefers comparative ease in England to the slavery attached to the administration of a scattered see like British Columbia.

No opposition candidates has yet appeared in Gloucester, and there is no evidence that Mr. Nadeau will be opposed in Madawaska.

Mr. Blake is getting into warm company since becoming a Home Rule M.P. At New York, Wednesday evening, while he was upholding Ireland's cause, somebody exploded an offensive bomb in the building, and he was hissed at several points in his address. The trouble is Mr. Blake is a follower of McCarthy, and the man who made it unpleasant for him are Parnellites. It is a great pity the Irish party is divided into two hostile groups, when all their united strength is not sufficient to satisfactorily push along their favorite idea of Home Rule.

H. A. Powell, M. P. F., is named as the probable Conservative candidate in Westmorland when Mr. Wood, M. P., is shelved in the Senate, but it is very doubtful if he can carry that constituency. Mr. Wood spent an enormous sum to secure his election, but Mr. Powell has no bars at his command. The seat in the local legislature to be vacated by Mr. Powell will not again go to the opposition.

C. W. Young, a well known St. Stephen business man, recently returned from a trip through the western states, says that in many sections, times are harder than they have ever been before; lots of good people are actually starving for the necessities of life. He states that in this section no one should think of going west to better his condition.

Hill, the Democratic nominee for the New York governorship, declares in his speeches that the fate of the party in federal politics depends on the result in New York. President Cleveland evidently thinks so too, for he has publicly stated that he will vote for Hill, and earnestly desires the latter's success.

The Ontario Opposition is to meet at Toronto next Tuesday to choose a leader in succession to Meredith. The right man is hard to find in the party. Meredith was the leader for sixteen years, and while not a great tactician, he lent respectability to the position.

Hon. Mr. Vanson, minister of public works in the British Columbia government, was defeated in the recent elections, has resigned his position and is succeeded by Hon. Geo. B. Martin, a farmer and rancher, who represents North Yale.

San Jones Thompson is going to England in a few days, probably to help Mr. Foster float his loan, and incidentally to be sworn in as a member of the privy council. No doubt our common country will have to foot the bill.

If New York succeeds in annexing the adjoining towns as proposed, the city will have an area of 377.77 square miles, all lying within a radius of about sixteen miles from the city hall, and population of more than three millions.

It is announced that several cabinet ministers from Ottawa, including Tupper, Oulmet and Wallace will speak at Moncton Nov. 6th, and may also be heard in other parts of New Brunswick and in Nova Scotia.

It may be a source of encouragement to the women suffragists of New Brunswick to know that the New South Wales legislature has extended the franchise to women by a vote of fifty-eight to twelve.

Ex-Mayor Hugh Grant has accepted Tammany's nomination for Mayor of New York.

MR. BLAKE IN NEW YORK.

The Public Meeting was not Altogether Pleasant.

A purse of $2000 for the Irish cause was made up for the Hon. Edward Blake, at the close of his address in the Lenox Lyceum, New York, Wednesday. The Irish Independents of New York professed to see no good in Mr. Blake, and it is said that Judge Lynn and the other Independent Irish Americans will have a mass meeting in the near future, probably at Cooper Union, and other meetings will be held in different parts of the city, the objects being to resent what they term the interference of Mr. Blake and call upon the Irish leaders on the other side to stop wrangling and to get together at this critical time when unity is essential.

The "reception" to Mr. Blake was of a more or less varied nature Wednesday night. Not more than five hundred people took seats on the regular tickets. The police were on hand to prevent trouble and three men were ejected for hissing. The door-keepers were kept busy keeping out holders of forged tickets, and in one of the boxes a squib of powder was set off, and created some excitement. Some one who called out "dynamite" caused a stampede. Mr. Blake, who was speaking at the time, remained perfectly cool. Raising his arm toward the people who were running, he said: "Don't leave, it's only a little smoke and won't hurt you." At the close of Mr. Blake's speech he took a car and proceeded with Dr. Emmet to the latter's house. No violence was offered, though a crowd had collected at the door of the Lyceum.

Mr. Blake's cast down by the thoughts of the rather tumultuous reception which he got in the Lenox Lyceum. He said he was accustomed to violent demonstrations in the discussion of the Irish question, especially where the element that opposed his faction was present. He still believes that his mission to this country will be successful, and the collection Wednesday night of $2000 towards the Parliamentary fund, he regards as an earnest of much more to come.

GOING OVER TO THE BAPTISTS.

Rev. D.W. Gwilym, who for some time was an Episcopal clergyman in this province, united with Calvary Baptist church, Brooklyn, on Friday, when he related his experience and views of Bible truth. Mr. Gwilym was converted last summer at Ocean Grove, a stronghold of Methodism, to the Baptist faith. He had for some years been rector of St. David's, Brooklyn, which belongs to the high church element of the Episcopal denomination, and was regarded by Bishop Littlejohn as a talented man and one of the most eloquent speakers to be found anywhere. Mr. Gwilym is a native of Wales, the spelling of his name being a standing indication of that fact. He is at present in charge of the Utica avenue tabernacle. It is expected that he will later come before a council of Baptists in Brooklyn for ordination as a preacher in that denomination.

At the opening session of the convention, the meeting commenced with the hymn "All hail the power of Jesus name," Rev. Dr. Saunders leading the devotional exercises, Revs. Dr. Brecken and Nell McKay taking part.

The chair was taken at 8 o'clock by G. O. Gates, president of the convention, who asked the congregation to sing "O grand Christian Soldiers." Rev. F. A. Wrightman of St. John, led in prayer.

President Gates in his opening address, expressed great pleasure and satisfaction that the convention had accepted the invitation of Fredericton people to come here this year. He traced the history of Sunday school work back through ages of history of the christian church, and showed that even in the old testament, times, teaching analogous to the present Sunday school work, was an important part of church work. The convention represented 10,000 of Sunday school scholars, and was the most important gathering of its kind held in Fredericton for some time.

Rev. Dr. Brecken, in a brief and eloquent address, extended a cordial welcome on behalf of the churches of Fredericton, to the delegates attending the convention. Rev. Nell McKay, of Chatham, responded on behalf of the convention, warmly thanking the people of Fredericton for their kind invitation. He then led the international system of S. S. lessons, as an immense benefit to Sunday school scholars, and contrasted the present state of things with that which obtained at the commencement of his pastoral work, when he had to draw up a series of lessons and have them printed specially for the Sunday school of the first church of which he took charge. He mentioned the fact that when he assumed the pastorate of Summerside church, there was only one Sunday school west of Charlottetown kept open the whole year round, now it would be difficult to find one closed.

Dr. Hurlbut, a distinguished Sunday school worker, and member of the international S. S. association, spoke on the subject, "Wherein the average Sunday schooler should be interested." This title had been suggested to him by a lecture which he had heard on "The failure of Sunday school work."

Dr. Hurlbut claimed that Sunday school work was successful as the Christian church was successful, only that neither of them were as yet working under full head of steam. The average Sunday school was successful. 1st—Because it finds work for Christians. There is no branch of church work which offers so large a field for active exercise of working faculties, work is a necessity, and without it he claimed no Christian could successfully live. 2nd—Because Sunday school work exerts a reflex influence of the most beneficial kind upon the teachers themselves. The teacher who conscientiously does his Sunday school work, must be greatly helped to better knowledge of the work of God, and of his spiritual position, needs and duties. 3rd—Because it devoted to the study of one book only, the bible. Dr. Hurlbut claimed that the Sunday school teaching of the present time was far and away superior to anything of the kind in the past, as witness the innumerable lesson helps, commentaries, maps and other helpful literature now being published in various parts of the world. 4th and lastly, because the Sunday school is one of the greatest missionary agencies of the Christian church, from the fact that in newly settled districts it is a pioneer in church work. Districts which are too poor or too distant to admit of the immediate establishment of churches, could have well represented Sunday schools, which began and sustained evangelizing work until more could be furnished. Dr. Hurlbut's address was heard with immense satisfaction by the large and enthusiastic audience.

Second day. The convention met at 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday, Rev. Geo. Steele of Chatham, leading the devotional exercises. At 10 a.m., the president, Rev. G. O. Gates, took the chair, and after prayer, the meeting proceeded to business. G. W. Lawson was elected minute secretary. The reports of the county conventions were taken alphabetically. The president of the Albert Co. convention, Wm. A. West, being absent, his report was read by Rev. A. Lucas. He reported four parishes organized and one more in prospect. Gloucester county report was given by Mrs. Ferguson of Dalhousie. Although there are no county conventions, there is an encouraging growth in the number of schools. The Kent Co. report, in the absence of the county secretary, Rev. W. H. Murray, was read by the provincial field secretary. This report was very encouraging indeed, indicating an increase of seven in the number of schools, and a proportionate increase in the number of scholars and teachers. Madawaska reported two schools with an attendance of eighty. The Northumberland county report was read by the Rev. Geo. Steele of Chatham. It was very full and encouraging. The county was very well represented at the convention, which betokens a lively interest in Sunday school work. Mr. White read the Queens county report, and said there was a gratifying improvement in his county. Mr. Malcolm presented a verbal report from St. John in the accidental absence of the official one. He lamented the fact that there were no parish organizations in St. John and promised better things next year. Sunbury Co. has a discouraging report and will be campaigned next year by the field secretary. The county secretary presented a hopeful report from Victoria Co. Rev. A. Lucas spoke well of Kings Co., and York Co. work. Dr. Hurlbut presented a very interesting normal lesson on the "Life of Jesus Christ." He said that a general outline of the knowledge of the life of Christ was necessary to have an intelligent understanding of His work and character. The order of two parts of the record of events in His life is absolutely certain. He divides the life of Christ into seven periods, namely, the thirty years of preparation, the year of obscurity, the year of popularity, the year of opposition, the week of the Passion, the week of the resurrection, and the forty days after the resurrection. He referred to the discouraging remarks of a bishop regarding missionary work in India, in which he said that it was impossible for the natives to live a Christian life in the human condition, and that they were to be regarded as a people who were to be left to their own devices. He said that he had seen the people of the finest type of man the world has ever seen, our Lord Jesus Christ. He said that every miracle was meant to be an illustration of divine and spiritual working, and was meant primarily to call attention to his mission and teaching. Parables was meant to set men thinking. After the singing of a hymn, the executive committee's report was read by Mr. Parsons. There have been four meetings of the executive committee since the last two parish conventions have been held during the year. There are 960 Sunday schools in the province, an increase of ninety-three over last year. It commends the retention of the International Sunday school lesson, but objects to the introduction of a second primary course. It recommends a new paper, the International Evangel to the delegates. Rev. T. H. Fotheringham moved that the report be accepted, which was done. Rev. A. Lucas was retained in his office of field secretary. Mr. Gurney was heard on behalf of the International Evangel. After a long discussion, a motion to adopt the Evangel as the provincial organ, was carried almost unanimously. The report of the provincial treasurer, Mr. White, was then read. Last year the county contributions did not redeem their pledge by $130. This year, taking the province as a whole, they more than redeemed their pledges. There is a deficit of $102.96, while the total was $1,845.00. Business was then postponed to listen to a lesson by Dr. Hurlbut on the four gospels. The evening session of the convention opened with a crowded audience, the opening devotional exercises being led by S. J. Parsons. The service was opened by an address by the Rev. Kenneth McKay, now of Maine, but late of New Brunswick. The reverend gentleman gave a short history of the association from its first convention, and told how the present provincial convention sprang from the Carleton county convention. He was followed by T. S. Simms, who gave a further account of the inauguration of the present flourishing association. Rev. T. P. Fotheringham followed, and then Mrs. O. S. Crockett sang a solo. Dr. Hurlbut then took charge of the eliciting of subscriptions from the different counties. In a short time $1,880 was raised for the association. A large and generous subscription of $282.55 was made through the printed slip. Dr. Hurlbut proved himself an able financier. Thursday's Session. The fifth session opened at 9:30 a.m. with devotional exercises, led by the Rev. Willard McDonald of Fredericton. A short time was spent in unfiled business, during which the treasurer's report was discussed and accepted. Rev. A. Lucas was unanimously elected
