Professor Gleason Masters the Biting

A large crowd, including many ladies, saw Professor Gleason's performance last night at the Queen's Avenue Rink. The exhibition was daring and skilful, some of the stunts being always entertaining. In addition the spectators received a good deal of information in regard to the handling of horses, and the pointers will doubt be useful to many. The professor again condemned the use of the overcheck by the bitners. He also emphatically denounced the "locking" of the reins. His notifications of the mane or tail of a well-known horseman present got the advantage of this, and one of them

The performance started off with the breaking in of two nervous horses by Mr. Benson's admirable method—band music, snare drums, bass drums, bells, fire-crackers, whistles, flags, etc. The event of the evening was his tussle with "Tommy O.," the champion pacer owned by Mr. Peck, of Athol, Mass. The horse, which is a beauty, was muzzled at first. "Throwing" out. The animal showed signs of gentleness, but he could hardly be called a professor's prodigious muscle and skill triumphed in the end, and "Tommy O" lay snoring at the feet of his master. The muzzle was then removed and the horse, which seemed to have been cured of his snoring habit, attempted no violence on his master's person. The professor then gave him to his mouth. "Professor Gleason was loudly applauded for the victory. It was his hardest battle he had experienced, he said. His host subject was a remarkably voracious kicker that created a good deal of trouble by its decided objections to carry out the professor's plan. The animal had given in, and eventually was driven around as quiet as a lamb, though prodded the rear.

"Professor Gleason will give two performances today—afternoon and evening. Tonight, Tommy will receive his first lesson. The first trace of gentleness will be given. The price has been, much out-

State of Trade.—The New York, March 18.—Dun, Wiman & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Storms, weather and bad roads have much retarded trade during the past week, resulting in a falling off in all exporting and importing. Reports from all trade centers indicate on the whole improvement in the distribution of goods and a fairly active movement in all foreign branches. Figures during the last seven days for the United States 208, and for Canada 22; total 230, as compared with 236 last week and 240 the week before. Foreign branches of the United States 100, and for Canada 10, as compared with 106 last week and 110 the week before. The figures for the corresponding week last year the figures are 275, representing 235 in the United States and 40 in Canada.

symptoms of Catarrh—Headache, obstruction of the nose, discharges falling into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, aerid, at others, thick, tenacious, purulent, bloody, putrid and offensive; eyes red, watering, inflamed; ears, nose and throat, sore, smell and taste impaired, general debility. Only a few of these symptoms likely to be present at once. Sage's Remedy cures the worst cases, 50 cents. Sold by druggists everywhere, 5000 a cure. Either would be profitable.

Some time ago I received a bottle of the Royal Government Balm of Fir and it was invaluable in removing a case of rheumatism with which my daughter was afflicted. I shall be glad to testify to its efficacy. I shall be glad to testify to its efficacy. I shall be glad to testify to its efficacy.
