BARBARA FRIETCHIE" TONIGHT. The Toronto World last week said, concerning "Barbara Frietchie," which comes to the New Grand this evening: "A large audience greeted the first presentation of Clyde Fitch's popular production, 'Barbara Frietchie.' The cis Gaunt, with a sensitive appreciation of the happiness of a wedding day and the grief attending the trying times of war. Mr. Richard G. Williams, as Capt. Turnbull, fills the role of a true military officer with a dignity both becoming and natural."

HERMANN THE GREAT. The great and only Hermann will mystify and delight theatergoers at the New Grand, Good Friday, matinee and in this city he brings many new novelties that have never been seen here Several sensational illusions presented by him have set all America talking.

"SHORE ACRES." "Shore Acres" is promised a finished scenic production at the New Grand next Saturday, matinee and evening. Although almost free from climaxes, and not overburdened with a complicated plot, it holds the auditor's attention from beginning to end, and you almost regret to see the final curtain fall. The company appearing in this play this season is virtually the same as appeared in the play last year and contains over twenty capable actors "LOVERS' LANE." Rev. Bradley Giman writes from Unity parsonage, Springfield, Mass., to Clyde Fitch: "After seeing 'Lovers' Lane,' I realize more clearly what a power for good or ill the stage can be. It is excellent, and you have saved the self-respect of my somewhat downtrodden profession." AT THE LONDON TOMORROW. Theatergoers should not confound the "Dainty Paree" Extravaganza Company, which comes to the London We wish you would ask Opera House tomorrow and Saturday for matinee and night performances, with any other company previously seen here this season, as this is the cine right in contact with the weak burlesque called 'Royal Troubles,' places. If it's asthma, bronchitis, which gives the members of the comwhooping-cough, croup, or any such pany a chance to display their talents trouble, the Cresolene vapor touches at singing and dancing. John Horran and 'Pah' Kearney, comedians, received every inflamed place. Relief is quick, well-merited applause. The olio opens with the Lynotti sisters in a clever singing and dancing act. Mlle. La Tosca, lady contortionist, does a very neat act; Honan and Kearney, Irish comedians, make a hit with their jokes and songs; Otis Shattuck and Minnie Bernard, in a one-act comedy, "Don't Leave the Room,' kept the audience in a state of laughter. Louise Carver and Genie Pollard appear in a song and dance act. The hit of the evening is made by Frank and Gracie Graham in their illustrated songs, probably the best act of its kind that has been seen here this season. The show concludes with a burlesque, 'Paris Upside Down,' in which some clever specialties are presented."

CHOSEN FRIENDS

Decide That the Older Members Must Pay Higher Rates of Insurance.

Toronto, March 27.-The Chosen Friends' convention decided by a large majority yesterday in favor of increasing the rates of the older members, who have heretofore been paying on a scale which the inspector of insurance says

In the event of members desiring to After drill, the company, accepting the continue present payments, new cerinvitation of Sergt.-Major Frank Ware, tificates for a less amount than their repaired to a down-town restaurant, policies now call for will be issued in where a supper and a pleasant time proportion to the difference between proportion to the difference between the new scale of rates and the old. It was decided also that members claiming under the total disability clause, and who have up to this time received half of the amount of their insurance, on establishing their claim, will in first year receive a per cent a year until they get the half of their insurance. A similar provision is made in the case of old age benefits.

Tickets Selling Rapidly.

Miss Jessie Maclachlan, Mr. Harold Jarvis, Mr. H. Ruthven McDonald, and Miss Marietta La Dell, all in one programme, are names to conjure with, as the rapid advance sale of tickets for the concert in the New Grand Opera House, on Tuesday evening, April 1, amply testifies. Seats may be reserved at the Grand Opera House box office on and after Saturday. Mr. Pringle, president of St. Andrew's Society, has been requested to have repeated, "A Hundred Pipers and a' and a'," and also "Rule, Britannia," the powerful rendering of which by Miss McIachlan so stirred the loval enthusiasm of the audience on the occasion of the last concert. Mr. Pringle authorizes us to say that these requests will receive due consideration. The Queen of Scottish Song seems to stir equally all classes, from the humblest loval son of the heather, up to her Majesty the Queen, who, it will be remembered, expressed her delight with Miss Maclachlan's singing by sending her a gold bracelet, which the Princess Louise forwarded with a charming note of compliment and congratulation.
