Ex-Giant Has Not Been Heard From Since Saturday Night-Mother Is Ill, However, and This Fact May Be Keeping the Manager Away.

The fact that Manager Bowerman, It is now believed that he has decided of the London team, has not reported to the club since he left for his home in Romeo on Saturday night, is causing uneasiness among the local directors, while in some quarters it is beto resign. Manager Bowerman was to have reported at Guelph on Monday, and President Sam Stevely, of the London team, went there to meet him. Mr. Stevely was disappointed at the fact that the manager was not there, and returned to this city fully expecting that the ex-Giant would arrive in London today. However, as Frank has not put in an appearance, and has sent no word to explain his absence, it is now believed that he has given up the management of the club.

Mother Is III. However, there is a probability that Frank is staying over at his home in Romeo for a few days on account of the illness of his mother. Shortly before leaving this city on Saturday evening he received a telegram from his home stating that his mother was seriously ill. The news seemed to five minutes when the solid brick wall from the house south of us fell right into our hadron and the back pariously ill. have to remain in Romeo until Tuesday or Wednesday. He promised to send a message to President Stevely if such was the case. His failure to inform the local directors is now being taken to mean that he has quit, This is further offset by the fact that the management have signed up a new catcher to take Bowerman's place, the new man being "Mike" Boyle, formerly of the Berlin team. Boyle reported o the club today.

Some English Conservative Organs Attack Lloyd George's Scheme-Present Confusion Inseparable From Launching of Constructive Legislation.

[Canadian Press.] New York, July 17 .- A cable from London this morning says: The Conservative newspapers conthe verandah, the fence and some of the window sashes are gone completely. But our lives are spared, and not the Exchequer Lloyd George's insurone of us in the house sustained a ance act and declare that it is causing loss of work to the classes that it is designed specially to benefit.

The Daily Mail today begins a col-

'The second day's working of the chaotic insurance act gave further inthe dead and wounded. There were dications of the hardship it will cause among the employed classes who are were prought immediately by doctors and nurses on mattresses.

"You will see by the papers how fortunate we were. Another friend near by was killed and his section injured. There was not a bit of their house left standing."

We had service in the alternative and such services are gone.

> Some hundreds of these men were employed on Monday, and the employers, who, says the Daily Mail, were unable to understand their responsibilities under the act, had not affixed tax stamps to the men's cards. When the men applied for jobs at other places yesterday, they were asked if they could produce their tax cards stamped for Monday. They said they could not, and got no work.

schemes to provide for just shares of casual labor are being arranged by the board of trade, with the double purpose of alding the proper working of the insurance act, and of providing labor exchanges to decasualize to me extent casual labor.

Started a Strike.

The strike which started at Liver-pool on Monday arose from the fact that the dockers misunderstood the coling plan proposed, and yet the difficulty is still present.

Dr. MacNamara, one of Mr. Lloyd George's staunchest friends, admits that there has been "some slight confusion inseparable from the inception the great constructive piece of legisf a great constructive piece of legisof a great constructive piece of legis-lation," but says that there has been less confusion than at the time of the introduction of Joseph Chamber-lain's workmen's accident insurance act, the benefits of which nobody now thinks of questioning.

Perhaps the most significant fact is that several papers which fought the insurance act tooth and nail until recently, are now moderating their antagonism. For instance, the Telegraph acknowledges that there is no of any national the insurance law, and jocosely suggests that this fact is due to the heat. The Times, likewise, counsels obedience to the law of the land, following the advice of J. L. Garvin, editor of the Pall Mall Gazette, that "the attempt to exploit the unpopularity of the act during the six months when payments have to be made, and no A benefits are forthcoming, must strongly resisted if the Unio strongly resisted if the Unionist party is to acquire or deserve the Confidence of the people."

Another Unionist paper, the Standard, today cuts down the "Insurance and the Company of the Compan obscure part of its columns. Impartial observers predict that the

MONTREAL NEWSPAPERS TO RUN BALL TEAM

Will Make an Effort to Pull Wealthy St. Louis Brewer Club Out of Basement Position.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, July 17.-The management f the Montreal baseball team, hopelessly tail-end in the International League race, and in the bad graces of the fans, will make a radical departure by not only deposing the present manager, Billy Lush, but by giving the newspapers of the city a chance to run the team in an effort to drag it away from its basement anchorage.

This afternoon President Lichtenhein has called a meeting of the directorate and has invited representatives from the three newspapers to be present and offer suggestions as to the best plan to strengthen the team's playing forces, and to regain in some measure the confidence of the baseball public of the city.

It is not unlikely that Kitty Bransfield, now playing first base for the team, will be given a chance to what he can do as manager.

Jumps Overboard From Liner Kaiser Wilhelm.

New York, July 17. — Paul Rath-mann, a wealthy brewer of St. Louis, Mo., returning to his home aboard the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II., after a futile search for health in the European seas, jumped overboard three hours after the liner had left Cherbourg last Wednesday. Mr. Rathmann, who was panied by his wife, occupied a stateroom on the upper deck. He watched the passengers come aboard at Cherbourg, and after a short promenade retired for the night at 9:30 p.m. Half an hour later, when his wife was asleep, he stole quietly from his cabin into the lower promenade deck. Although he was 60 years of age and in feeble health he climbed on the rail York. All accounts seem to agree that and jumped overboard. With the aid of the liner's powerful searchlight the lifeboat's crew made a careful search for two hours. No sign of Mr. Rathmann was found and the men were forced to abandon the hunt. Mrs. Rathmann had slept while the search was being made and was not informed until later of her husband's disappearance. She remained in her stateroom the greater part of the voyage.
