

DEFIES BYLAW IN BUILDING STATION FOR L. & P. S. R. USE

Commission Puts Up "Shelter" of Frame Construction

PERMIT WAS REFUSED

Fire Limit Regulations Prevented Inspector From Sanctioning Work.

A situation that is exciting much interest has developed in a clash between Building Inspector Piper and the London Railway Commission, and city officials are wondering what will happen next.

Some time ago the commission decided to erect a shed for the accommodation of passengers on the Grand Trunk property. A permit was asked for, but as it comes within Fire District No. 1, Building Inspector Piper could not issue a permit for a frame construction, and live up to the by-law, of course, refused to officially sanction the work. In spite of the inspection and the by-law the work was completed and is almost finished. There is no permit yet, but the work has been done by an ordinary citizen, he would have been summoned to the police court, and fined for his infraction of the by-law. However, nothing has been done in this case.

As a result, officials are watching the next move. It is expected that Sir Adam Beck will request the council to break the by-law to suit his purpose.

PET CAT INFLECTS SERIOUS INJURIES ON ELDERLY WIDOW

Springs at Her as She Closes Window.

SECOND RECENT ATTACK

Mrs. Calvary in Hospital in Critical Condition From Loss of Blood.

Mrs. Sarah Calvary, a widow of about 70 years of age, who lives alone in a small cottage at 22 Wellington road, is in Victoria Hospital in a serious condition as the result of wounds inflicted upon her by a pet cat.

About 9 o'clock last evening, preparing to retire for the night, Mrs. Calvary was closing an open window in which her pet cat was sitting, when it suddenly turned on her and leaping upon her foreleg, sunk its teeth and claws deep into her head, severing an artery. Mrs. Calvary, her blood streaming down her face, hurried to a neighbor's house where her wounds were dressed. Having stopped the flow of blood she returned to her home.

Bleeding Continued.

About midnight the wounds in her head became so painful that it was decided to call Dr. Homer Black, who called Mrs. Calvary, inflicting painful scratches on her arm. Mrs. Calvary lived alone in her home. She was extremely fond of cats, and keeps two of them, which she never allows out without fastening them with a silver cord to prevent their wandering away. Last night "Teddy," the cat which attacked her, was sitting in the window when she tried to close it, and it was this which made it attack its mistress.

Second Attack.

It is known to the neighbors that some days ago the same cat had attacked Mrs. Calvary, inflicting painful scratches on her arm. Mrs. Calvary lived alone in her home. She was extremely fond of cats, and keeps two of them, which she never allows out without fastening them with a silver cord to prevent their wandering away. Last night "Teddy," the cat which attacked her, was sitting in the window when she tried to close it, and it was this which made it attack its mistress.

On hearing that the medical authorities would seize the cat to ascertain if it was mad, one of Mrs. Calvary's friends took the cat to her home this morning.

Mrs. Calvary has been a resident of Wellington road for many years, and for more than 20 years has been employed at Brenner Bros. cigar factory. She is well known in South London as a lover of cats.

She has five friends in London. A sister lives in Harrietsville.

DEFENCE CLAIMING MEMBERS OF SYNOD IN "ENEMY" CLASS

AN INTERESTING CASE

German Evangelical Association Suing St. Paul's Church, London.

Claiming that persons composing the German Evangelical Synod of North America are enemies of His Majesty King George, and that their right to maintain action for damages upon that ground should be specifically denied, is the one principal feature in the evidence introduced at this afternoon session of the supreme court in the case of the German Evangelical Synod of North America vs. the St. Paul's Church, London.

The claim of the trustees of the St. Paul's U. R. Church of this city is that they had attempted to sever their connection with the North America Synod and become affiliated with the Central Canada Synod, which they claimed to be the true and lawful successor of the German Evangelical Synod of North America.

Church of this city is that they had attempted to sever their connection with the North America Synod and become affiliated with the Central Canada Synod, which they claimed to be the true and lawful successor of the German Evangelical Synod of North America.

Because of this feature the members of the London congregation resolved to withdraw and join the Lutheran Synod of Central Canada, rather than submit to what they termed a humiliation to be forced to listen to sermons delivered in the German language in these times of their spirit of loyalty and patriotism to the British crown prompted them, according to the trustees, to take this step and resolve to sever their connection with the parent synod, the G. E. Synod of North America.

LANDING OF 99TH HISTORY-MAKING DISTRICT EVENT

First of "County Units" To Cross Overseas.

PREDICTIONS WERE FALSE

District Has Exceeded Expectations of Officers and Will Continue To Do So.

Official announcement made by the chief commandant on Monday evening that the 99th (Essex County) Battalion had arrived safely in England marks another epoch in the history of No. 1 Military District. The 99th is the first county battalion from this district to land in the old land and therefore it has made new history for the London division.

When the county battalion plan was launched almost a year ago, the prediction was made freely that none of the battalions recruited from the counties would ever see England as a unit. It was freely declared that it would be impossible to raise a full battalion from any of the electoral districts or even counties of the first district. The announcement made in the papers of this morning is a most effective answer to these pessimistic predictions.

Military officers and those in touch with military affairs who made the predictions did so from their knowledge of recruiting conditions that had hitherto held good. They are not at all optimistic as to the raising of another thirteen units or so, but they do say that it can be done. They are sure of their ground and believe that if the share of the first district is 45,000 old, it will be raised.

With the experience gained in the recruiting of the thirteen county battalions, and this thirteen included the 142nd Battalion, which has been called "London's Own," officers are not at all optimistic as to the raising of another thirteen units or so, but they do say that it can be done. They are sure of their ground and believe that if the share of the first district is 45,000 old, it will be raised.
