Wetzel flung the whole southpass works at the Kitchener Beavers Saturday, Carmen in the first game and Buliard in the second, and the locals grabbed off both ends, 8 to 1 and 6 to 1. Even in defeat the Beavers showed Saturday afternoon that they'll be a team to upset the dope when least expected in the second series under Pierce's management.

Sixteen hits and two errors, both of the latter counting in on one run, tells the story of the first game, and a quarter of these swats were three baggers, sired by the top of the London batting order. le. and Blake, none of which went to waste.

The London attack was concentrated in the 4th, 5th and 6th stanzas, though they pried open the ild with a run in the third to ease things over. Outside these three frames, Berry pitched nice hall, and the Kitchener defence looked much more solid than it has this season. The lone run in the third came when carmen was dead-headed to first, was safe at second when Mostade dropped Hindt's throw on Butler's choice, went to third on Blake's single to right, going home when Berry let the throw in from McManus get away from him. With one gone in the 4th, Malmquest was hit, Boyle singled and both advanced a base on a balk. Carmen's double brought them in. Stimpson's long triple to right scored Carmen, and Stimpson came in on the wings of singles by Butler and Blake, to make timpson came in on the wings of ngles by Butler and Blake, to make singles by Butler and Blake, to make up the quartet of runs.

In the 5th, the Tees got another lone counter, Schaefer's one hit of the day, a triple, starting the chapter off. Mackey filed out, Malmquest walked. Boyle laid down a choice at first base, Schaefer being nabbed at the plate. Another walk issued to Fedor filled the bags, and pitching to Carmen Berry unfurled a wild pitch. Malmquest dashed in home, and Boyle stemmed right in on the second sacker's breeze and apparently made it. However, Berry walked over to the dugout and made the put out there, claiming that Buck hadn't touched the plate, and the umps agreed.

Buck hadn't touched the plate, and the umps agreed.

A second two-ply knock by Carmen and triples by Butler and Blake got the last brace of counters in the 6th.

Hind's single. Stimpson's error and a ground out advancing both, paved the way for the Beaver run, as Hooker lifted a sacrifice fly The Beavers were in a position to be dangerous at several stages, but the necessary hit wasn't forthcoming when it was most needed.

The Second Game.

The shortened-up affair was much a peppery engagement, and until the local Braves punched out four runs in the 6th, they were forced to trail ahead slowly with only a two-run margin for the whole game.

slowly with only a two-run margin for the whole game.

They got these in the 4th. Two singles a sacrifice and a ground out pushed one run in, and Boyle's infield smash completed the lowly duece. Came the 6th, and singles by Blake and Schaefer, and Churry getting hit had the bases crowded. Malmquest's single grounded out, but Churry taking a tantalizing lead off third, Hartline took as a personal slight and he heaved the ball in the general direction of third. While Hooker out in left field retrieved it. Churry and Malm, galloped home.

In the general direction of third. While Hooker out in left field retrieved it, Churry and Malm. galloped home. With one away in the 7th, McManus. who was heralded through the press the first day of his joining the Beavers as striking out four times, got some of the average back with a triple to left. Hixenbaugh's ground out scored him and upset Doc Bullard's carefully mixed-up pail of whitewash.
