The various provincial attorneysgeneral were asked to express an opinion, and Hon. Oliver Mowat, true to his Provincial Rights instinct, boldly starts off: "I have to say that the Ontario Government claims that the abolition of "grand juries is not within the authority of the Dominion Parliament." He says the majority of the members of the Ontario Government are against the abolition of grand juries. He further points out that the Ontario Legislature passed an act in 1879 providing that the dimensions of a grand jury should be reduced from twenty-four to fifteen, which was to become law on a day named by proclamation of the Lieutenant-Governor. In was to become law on a day named by proclamation of the Lieutenant-Governor. It never became law, because the question of authority was never determined. However, the Ontario Government is willing to cooperate with the Dominion Government and reduce the dimensions of grand juries by simultaneous legislation, thus avoiding any question of constitutionality. This seems to be a safe reform containing none of the supposed perils of a complete gabolition of the system.

RETIRING FROM

We have long been anxious to Retire from the Retail Shoe Trade, but from the magnitude of our stock have been unable to com to satisfactory arrangements with any proposed purchaser until the present time. A prominent shoe dealer in Brockville has made us an offer for purchase, conditional that the stock be so reduced that on 1st January it will not exceed $15,000, and that the business shall be as good on that date as at present. We are fully determined to ac cept this offer, and to do so will be compelled to sacrifice not only our present stock but the Fail Orders that are to arrive before the ned of November. This is rather a stupendous undertaking, but it is a chance we will not pass over, knowing that by a suprem effort and huge sacrifices we can accomplis it. And new comes the announcem will most interest the public, which is to the effect that we will, commencing from to day, offer the whole stock on hand at 33% per cent. less than cost price, which will be fully 50 per cent. less than prices asked any other dealer in the city. This may look improbable, but nevertheless it is an actual
