Fishery on the South Shore

Lobster Catch During the Past Season Shows an Increase of About 125,000 Pounds.

Halifax, June 1.—The catch of lobsters for the season just closed shows an increase of nearly 125,000 pounds. The quantity packed and those shipped alive have both shown increases. Both Shelburne and Yarmouth counties have done well in lobsters for this season.

The number of lobster traps in use on the south shore has been increasing steadily from year to year for the past six or seven years. The industry is being vigorously worked and results obtained have been good, considering the continued and growing scarcity of lobsters.

In general, the condition of the fisheries in these south shore counties has been nothing to complain of, notwithstanding the fact that the work of the fishermen was much hampered by the unusual ice conditions of the past winter and the number of violent storms, which latter fact has also made fishing very dangerous. Several vessels and at least two motor boats were lost, and what is most regrettable, two lives.

The catch of cod and haddock was fairly satisfactory, but the yield of herring and mackerel showed a falling off, except in Lunenburg, where the mackerel catch was the largest for years. Smoked herring, which for many years had a large sale, are largely a thing of the past. Some were smoked in Yarmouth, but on the south shore the industry has been neglected in spite of the large grounds.

The fishing industry on the south shore would be really helped if the fishermen had better markets, better methods of curing, a more suitable barrel for packing fish and reliable and standard inspection.

The canal fish business, the finan haddie and the smoked fillet industries all show improvement. Canned halibut and mackerel is being put up at Clark's Harbor. The tuna, always a great attraction to the sportsman, is coming to light as a fish which has a good commercial value and can be satisfactorily canned. Shelburne County supplied this fish last year for Boston and other American markets.

Large quantities of dogfish have been utilized as fertilizer in Shelburne County and in Lockport a fine lot of glue is manufactured besides much fertilizer.

The fishermen of the south shore are at least beginning to realize that there is good money in the utilization of the by-product of fish. They are also becoming interested in the proposed steps being taken for the technical training in up-to-date fishing methods. This is a new and unique feature introduced or aiming to be introduced in the industry and naturally fishermen are a little dubious as to the practical results that could be obtained through the introduction of technical methods.

Co-operative methods would undoubtedly work well for the fishermen. Another improvement in the industry would be the packing of fish into boxes instead of barrels. There has, during the last year or two, been a large quantity of "boneless" cod, haddock and pollock packed in boxes and sold advantageously in the American markets.

To Make Thorough Investigation

Ottawa, May 29.—A thorough investigation into the St. Lawrence disaster with the object of fixing the responsibility will be ordered by the Government. The arrangements for the same have not yet been made but action will be taken as soon as the Government are in possession of more complete information. That the Government will also bring down a supplementary estimate which will constitute a portion of a relief fund for the relatives of the victims is practically certain. The amount will not likely be decided upon until next week, but in view of the magnitude of the disaster it is likely to be at least a quarter of a million dollars.

Build a Better Silo and Save Money

BUILD the kind that will keep your ensilage always at its best. Build the kind of silo that does not have to be repaired or painted every other year. Your dairy herd will show its appreciation in the additional quantity of milk it gives. The best silo, by keeping ensilage perfect, increases output and soon pays for itself.

A Concrete Silo

is the dairyman's surest dividend payer. It keeps ensilage in just the right condition and does not permit it to dry out or get mouldy. A concrete silo cannot leak, rot, rust or dry out. It has no hoops to replace. Requires no paint and needs no repairs during an ordinary lifetime.

Send to-day for this free book "What the Farmer Can do With Concrete." It tells how to build a concrete silo and many other things on the farm that will save you many dollars.
