

A TYPO'S RELEASE.

FROM THE AWFUL SUFFERINGS OF RHEUMATISM.

THE CASE OF E. P. ROBBINS OF WELLAND - A SUFFERER FOR SEVENTEEN YEARS - HIS CASE RESISTED THE TREATMENT OF THE BEST HOSPITALS AND HE HAD BECOME A PHYSICAL WRECK - HIS WONDERFUL RELEASE.

From the Welland Telegraph.

The world to-day is both commercially and scientifically inclined towards system, and news like everything else is gathered systematically. Every newspaper has its staff of reporters to observe and collect the news of its particular locality or district.

For seven weeks he laid in bed under the care of the best physician, and at the end of that time he was again able to resume his duties.

During the next few years he was subject to frequent slight attacks, and finally thought a change of location might be beneficial.

With this idea Mr. Robbins visited the different American cities, sometimes in good health and again unable to get out of bed, until in 1888 he finally settled in New York.

Here, for about two years, he followed his occupation with comparatively little sickness, when he suffered a severe attack which left him, until a few months ago, a martyr to that kaleidoscopic disease.

Mr. Robbins recovered somewhat after weeks of illness and went back to the types, but again and again he was laid up, working only about six days a month.

Gradually he grew worse, and almost discouraged entered the Sisters' hospital. After spending many weary months within its walls he was discharged with the awful verdict "incurable."

More from a sense of duty than with hope he tried other hospitals in the city but with the same result, and resigned to his late bed for his old home, where he arrived in February, 1893.

A crippled remembrance of his former self, and was passed unrecognized by his former friends. Here in the house of his father, James W. Robbins, he was bedridden until the summer, and then during the warm days was able to walk about with the aid of a spiked cane for a few minutes at a time.

tion of the constitution which says that the members of Congress "shall, in all cases except treason, felony, and breach of peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the sessions of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same," which caused his prison doors to swing open.

He had, in the performance of his duties as a priest, had occasion to excommunicate one of his members for a divorce and a re-marriage, and that member, bringing suit against him for defamation of character, obtained a verdict of $1,000 fine.

The Spring Assizes for the county were opened in Enniskillen, on the 10th ult. Justice Madden, addressing the grand jury, said that he had to inform them that bills would be presented to them to six cases.

At the opening of the Spring Assizes for the county, recently, Judge Barry said to the grand jury: "I am pleased indeed to congratulate you on the very peaceable and orderly state of the County Cavan. There are five cases to go before you, none of which call for any special remark from me.

Good-bill has lost a noble-hearted citizen by the death of Philip Carney, J. P. A correspondent of the Anglo-Celt writes of him: "Realizing in the fullest a principle too often forgotten, that property has its duties as well as its rights, he made the evil system of landlordism less burdensome to his tenantry as magistrate for the Counties of Cavan and Monaghan he invariably, on the bench, tempered justice with mercy; while his donations for charitable and other useful purposes were worthy of his great wealth, public spirit and generous heart."
