THAW'S MOTHER EAGER TO BRING UP PROBS

Dismissed After Breaking Down Twice in Story of Son's Marriage, She Anxiously Tries to Give Insanity Evidence.

New York, March 6.—Another dramatic chapter was added to the Thaw trial today, when the grey-haired mother of the defendant took the witness stand to tell what she might toward saving her son.

Mrs. Thaw's story was brief. When Delmas M. Delmas had deftly limited her examination to the change she noted in her son's condition following his return from Paris in 1902, after Evelyn Nesbit had told him her life story, Jerome, with the greatest respect and consideration, conducted a short and ineffectual cross-examination.

Then the mother-lover welled strong in Mrs. Thaw and she felt she had done her all. She was loth to leave the witness chair.

"There is still the question of heredity," she protested, when Delmas and Jerome told her she might step down.

"I have asked you, meantime, all that is considered necessary," said Thaw's attorney, with the utmost deference.

Mrs. Thaw half rose, hesitated and was about to begin again, when the leading counsel for the prosecution handed her to assist her from the stand.

CENTRAL BOARD FOR LICENSING

Possible Remedy for Present Ills—Toronto Enquiry Occasions Lively Discussion in Legislature.

It is generally recognized in downtown circles that the Whitney government has encountered its first serious storm in the Toronto license scandals. Whatever has been revealed of the public suspect, and insiders are aware, that matters are much worse than appears on the surface, and those who have longer municipal memories than usual will recall the civic investigation of three years ago and reflect on what was covered up as well as what was exhumed.

The present licensing system is the product and result of Liberal politics, intent on evolving an effective campaign instrument, and the evils that surround and accompany it are inseparable from it, and not to be avoided by its otherwise gained.

A central board, which would be composed of representatives of the various trades, and which would administer the law so far as it pertains to the granting of licenses in such a way as to remove it entirely from political influence, is the suggestion.

The situation in Toronto demands prompt and drastic action. The disintegration of the present licensing system is already dragging into the proceedings of D. J. McDougall of Ottawa, who moved for a return of all correspondence concerning certain license matters of the present chief license inspector for the city is one of the first measures that will be looked for.

EVIDENCE "MADE" IN CAYUGA CASE

Witnesses Admit Crown Attorney and Detective Asked Them to Give Testimony, Which Seems to be Against Mrs. Perkins.

Cayuga, March 6.—(Special.)—At the preliminary hearing of Mrs. Mattie Perkins for the alleged murder of her husband, E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., today, forced Henry Wilkinson of Cayuga, a witness, to admit that Crown Attorney Murphy and Detective Greer had asked him to say that he had seen Thomas MacDonald leaving the Perkins home "dozens of times."

Mrs. John MacDonald testified that Detective Greer urged her "to own up to things that were not true, but I refused to do so."

It was announced that startling facts would come out, and that neither I. A. MacDonald nor any member of the Curry family would be called.

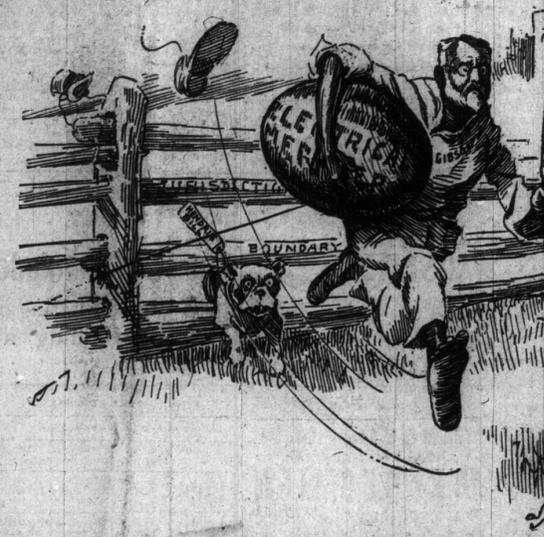

John S. Darragh of Cayuga, lessee of the farm on which the body of the deceased was found, testified that he had seen Perkins on the farm on Sunday morning, Dec. 23, 1905, suffering severely.

Urged to Testify. "Were you asked by anybody to say that MacDonald was seen coming out of the Perkins house later than nine o'clock?" suddenly asked Mr. Johnston.

Perkins Expected Death. Mrs. John MacDonald stated she knew of Perkins' sickness on the Sunday prior to his death, but was not sure whether the prisoner had told her.

THOUSANDS PAY TRIBUTE TO THE DEAD CHEFTAN

Remains of Dr. Oronhyatekha Lay in State in Massey Hall Surrounded by a Most Beautiful Array of Floral Offerings—Rev. Dr. McCaughan Delivers an Eloquent Oration.

ronto, the body lay in state during the afternoon.

Had it not been for the special Lenten services at the Cathedral the body would have lain in state and the funeral service been conducted at the Cathedral.

When the memorial service in the evening was commenced the body lay in calm and natural repose in front of the platform. The casket was covered with black and thru the glass lid Oronhyatekha lay, like a warrior.

Rarely is such respect paid to the departed as was yesterday evidenced in Toronto, when thousands of citizens joined with members of the Independent Order of Foresters in silent tribute to the dead supreme chief.

The massive casket arrived from Buffalo shortly before 11 a. m., being accompanied by Dr. Acland Oronhyatekha, Miss Bayly, his secretary, and W. W. Dunlop, who had journeyed from Savannah with the remains; and Past Supreme Chief Ranger Victor Morin, P. W. Greer of London, and Albert Stevenson of Detroit.

Proceeding up York-street to King-street, the solemn procession, to the accompaniment of dirges rendered with solemn effect, by the brass band, and the muffled beats of drums, moved east to Bay-street and passed up to the Temple Building, where the cortege halted for a time.

MORGAN AND HILL OPEN WAR ON HARRIMAN

Fight Planned Since Northern Pacific Struggle Actively Began in Sensational Buying of Reading Stock.

New York, March 6.—(Special.)—A fight that has been coming for a long time and for which preparations were in the making since the Northern Pacific struggle and panic of 1901, developed in sensational buying of Reading to-day, and promises to become one of the most desperate in the history of Wall-street.

The most exciting situation in six years broke in the middle of a session made dull by manipulation believed to have been planned by J. Pierpont Morgan to destroy E. H. Harriman's rapidly growing power, and, incidentally, average James J. Hill for the defeat of 1901.

Wall-street doesn't profess to know the details, but the state of the market for the last few months, developments of the last few days and Morgan's peculiar tactics indicate that the present conflict is the direct result of the Northern Pacific fight, in which Harriman spoiled Hill's plans for the control of the railroad situation in the Northwestern states.

Up to the close of the market there was nothing official to show the source of the purchasing orders, but a persistent rumor was in circulation that E. H. Harriman, with the object of acquiring control of the property, was taking all the stock offered, besides the holdings of H. C. Frick, which he was said to have purchased privately.

There were other rumors. One was that Morgan, who formerly dominated Reading, was buying to show the source of the purchasing orders, but a persistent rumor was in circulation that E. H. Harriman, with the object of acquiring control of the property, was taking all the stock offered, besides the holdings of H. C. Frick, which he was said to have purchased privately.

RUSSIANS WILL FIGHT IF CZAR DISBANDS DOUMA

Delegate of Revolutionists to the American People Sees Little Hope in This House.

New York, March 6.—Alexis Aledin, delegate of the Russian revolutionists to the people of the United States, in an address at the City Club last night, said he saw little hope for the Russian people in the present douma.

Only a few hours have passed since the douma met," said Aledin, "and it seems unmistakable that a great opportunity has once more been missed by our country. In its speech, the douma had only uttered a single word of civility, a single word of forgiveness, the people would have been satisfied."
