System Is Rapidly Improving in the Far West.

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—George Mountain, chief engineer of the railway commission, who has returned from an extensive tour of the West, speaks in most pleased terms of the progress which has been made in improvement of the Canadian Northwest lines in the West. He has recently had an opportunity of going all over the Mann-MacKenzie system in that part of Canada and expresses himself as agreeably disappointed with what he saw. The company is doing all it can to improve the condition of its roadbed throng.
