WHY MILK SHOULD BE PASTEURIZED

Board of Health Submits Irrefutable Testimony on This Matter.

(From the Board of Health)
Nathan Straus, New York City, says: "There is a milk problem because milk is the only animal food used in its raw state. There are six diseases, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, septic sore throat, tuberculosis, and the summer complaint of children. Pasteurization destroys all the germs of disease that may be in the milk, but does not impair the taste nor at all affect the digestibility or food qualities of the milk."

In the fight against tuberculosis, pasteurization is considered a most important factor. Dr. R. C. Schroeder of the N. S. Department of Agriculture proved that "one of the chief, if not the most important source of infection is the tuberculosis virus. A number of infected animals in New Brunswick is much more numerous than we care to report."

The first infant milk depot was founded in New York City in 1893. By the year 1920 there were 297, distributed over 36 cities. In spite of the fact that nothing but certified milk was used in the preparation of the food every drop of it was pasteurized.

Pasteurization has been endorsed by the American Medical Association, the National Association for the Study of Tuberculosis, the American Public Health Association, the N. S. Public Health Service and the National Commissions of Milk Standards. Here is an extract from the Report of the Rockefeller Foundation International Health Commission.

"In 1892 Nathan Straus established his pasteurized milk laboratory and free depot, which operated throughout the year. This was the beginning of organized effort to combat infant mortality by providing absolutely safe milk for infants."

The efficacy of pasteurization was mathematically demonstrated at Randall's Island, where the death rate among the city's foundlings was cut from 41.8 per cent. to 21.7 per cent. The same favourable results were attained in Washington and in many cities in that country and in Europe. "And wherever pasteurized milk is introduced the death rate falls as if by magic."

The New York City Health Department reports show that since they have been conducting the Nathan Straus Laboratories in the city, the death rate among children under five years of age has dropped from 95.2 per thousand in 1892 to 34 per thousand in 1916. The mortality statistics of the City Health Department record the saving of 241,930 lives in these 25 years, and the rate has been considerably lowered since that time.

We wish to ask in view of these astounding facts, how a mother in Saint John can ignore them, or listen to paid canvassers of adulterated milk, when only ambition is to defeat the efforts of the City Board of Health in their desire to give to the mothers of this city a food for their children that is absolutely safe, pasteurized milk. The Board of Health did not make this important regulation with the view of destroying infants, but to save them, and any citizen who reads the press despatch of May 29th, which states that this provided the highest death rate in the British Empire, could not have felt flattered if they gave the matter a moment's consideration.

Remember this: If you are asked to sign a petition against pasteurized milk, that pasteurized milk saves the babies, and that raw milk in many cases kills them.

LORD BEAVERBROOK TO HELP BELVEA

That the Rt. Hon. Lord Beaverbrook will assist Hilton Belyea, Canada's premier oarsman, who is in London, Eng., training for the big Diamond Sculls event to be held during the English Henley, was the glad tidings to reach St. John yesterday. G. Heber Vroom wrote to Lord Beaverbrook and asked him if he would act as custodian of a certain sum of money to be expended on behalf of Belyea and also have one of his writing staff meet him. Yesterday Mr. Vroom received word that Lord Beaverbrook (Max Aitken) a former resident of this city, would willingly do so.

With the personal interest of Lord Beaverbrook and the anticipated assistance of J. Barry, world's professional champion, his friends are confident that he will be well cared for and efficiently coached. A letter from Hilton should reach St. John in the near future and contain much news of interest.

ALMOST RAZED BY CARELESS SMOKER

Whole Business Area of Verner, Ontario, is Destroyed by Flames.

Sudbury, Ont., June 2.—The entire business section of Verner, a small farming village between Sudbury and North Bay, was wiped out by fire this week. The damage is estimated as being between $150,000 and $200,000.

The blaze was first noticed in a stable near the C. P. R. Hotel, presumably started by a careless smoker, and at 5 o'clock was still burning, although placed under control by the Sturgeon Falls fire brigade.

The general stores of Gerard, Belanger and Bertrand, the U. F. O. cooperative store, the C. P. R. co-operative store, a barber shop and seven dwellings were totally destroyed.

The fire had gained considerable headway before noticed and the hotel was soon in flames, despite the efforts of townspeople, and within half an hour the entire central section of the village was burning.

The fire brigade from Sturgeon Falls arrived shortly after 4 o'clock and succeeded in getting the fire under control, but not before the business section was in ashes. The buildings were all of frame construction.

Definite figures on the detailed loss are as yet unavailable. There were no casualties.

Verner is the centre of a prosperous farming community, and is one of the most picturesque French-Canadian communities in the North country.

Say Mother Taught Children To Steal

Boy and Girl Aided Parent in Shoplifting, Detectives Tell Court.

New York, June 1.—Mrs. Mary Kezel, thirty years old, was sentenced to ten days in the Workhouse in Special Sessions. A probation officer informed Justices Nolan, McInerney and Belmont that Mrs. Kezel had made shoplifters out of her nine-year-old son and eleven-year-old daughter. The woman was arrested in James A. Hearn & Sons store in West Fourteenth street on March 29 last.

When she pleaded guilty to the theft of a boy's suit, a girl's hat and a pair of roller skates, all valued at $15.04, detectives of the Stores Mutual Protective Association said that her son and daughter had aided her in the thefts. The detectives said that the woman and the two children made two trips to the store that day before Mrs. Kezel was arrested with the loot in two long bags which she had improvised for the purpose.

They said that on the second trip the boy was seen to take the roller skates from a counter and hand them to his mother. After dropping the skates in one of the bags, she moved to another counter with the children. When Mrs. Kezel turned to take the hat, the boy and girl were taken to an adjoining room to be questioned, the detectives said, the boy and girl readily admitted that their mother had taught them how to steal. The girl, they said, admitted that a new hat she wore had been stolen from the store on the first trip and her old hat placed in one of the bags by her mother. The boy also admitted that the new coat was part of a suit which had been stolen on the first visit to the store. The detectives said they found the daughter's old hat, the boy's old coat, the skates and the trousers of the new suit in the bags carried by Mrs. Kezel. They explained that the children were not taken into custody, as it was evident that they had been influenced by their mother.

The husband of the convicted woman was in court, and told Justice Nolan that he would take care of the children until his wife was released from prison.

DEATH OF MRS. D.P.R. DOUGLAS

Friends in St. John and in the community in which she lived, as well as in England, will deeply regret the death of Mrs. May Douglas, wife of D. P. R. Douglas, which occurred last night at her home in Hampstead, on the St. John river. She had been very ill for some days, particularly since a little one was born to her, but not in life, on last Wednesday.

Mrs. Douglas was a daughter of Joseph Drive, cotton manufacturer, of Manchester, England. She came here two and a half years ago and was popular and well known in the Maritime Clothing Co., leaving them to be married and to take up her home at Hampstead. Only a few weeks ago she returned from England where she had gone to visit her family. Accompanying her on her four months visit were Mrs. H. M. Britcher, of the Ferns, and the latter's two children, May and Veronica. Mrs. Douglas and Mrs. Britcher were life long friends and they had greatly enjoyed the visit to their homes in Manchester. Mrs. Britcher had made several journeys to her friend in her illness and returned to the city only last night. Mrs. Douglas is survived by her husband and by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Drive, and one sister and two brothers, in Manchester. Her body will be brought to St. John. The funeral will be to the new Catholic cemetery.

The Barnet Refrigerator Preserves Food in Arctic Cold Air

Foods must be kept in a cold refrigerator, not merely a cool one, in order to prevent deterioration and the breeding of dangerous germs. With the Barnet you can maintain a temperature of 36 to 39 degrees in the provision chamber.

At the same time the larger supply of ice melts slower than a small supply, an addition, the Barnet has no less than eleven walls to keep out the heat and keep in the cold. And it is healthfully cold because the Barnet is a dry refrigerator, not a damp one. Then, too, the Barnet's wonderful syphon vapors and air moisture to pass away.

system keeps the air inside in constant circulation, while the ventilators allow all odors, food vapors and air moisture to pass away.
