CERAMIC EXHIBITION.

Opened This Morning-Many St. John Artists Contributing Effective Pieces. The 5th ceramic exhibition of the Women's Art Association opened this morning in their rooms in Palmer's building at ten o'clock. The arrangement of the various articles showed careful study upon the part of those who had the work in hand, as each was an array of colors and light best suited to its coloring. The association thought it would be wise to start a reserve fund for current expenses, as although the financial basis is fairly good, it only really covers the running expenses. For this purpose a donation table has a place in the room, upon which the various members place articles to be sold for the benefit of the association. Mrs. George Murray has an exhibition of a beautiful vase ornamented with poppies; another vase of roses and a handsome jug painted with berries and leaves, beside many other effective pieces. Mrs. R. B. Emerson is exhibiting pretty vases, one of which is particularly beautiful, painted with geraniums, and a tinted china tea set in apple blossom effect, is most admired.

Mrs. Howard McLeod is showing a Hindu-Persian jug in jewels and paste; a vase in lustre and dragon; a plate of orchids in lustre and gold; jardiniere in iris and an artistic plate in jewels and lustre, beside many other beautiful pieces. Miss Perkins has two pretty pieces, one a dish ornamented with roses and the other a plaque in hawthorn. Miss McGivern has a large exhibit, including an ice-cream dish, blackberries, vase geraniums; whiskey jug, sown berries, vase, blackberries; 8 plaques, roses; jewel box, lustre and roses; vase, fever few. Miss McGivern is showing some beautiful work, including an ice-cream dish, blackberries, vase geraniums; whiskey jug, sown berries, vase, blackberries; 8 plaques, roses; jewel box, lustre and roses; vase, fever few. Miss McGivern is showing some beautiful work, including an ice-cream dish, blackberries, vase geraniums; whiskey jug, sown berries, vase, blackberries; 8 plaques, roses; jewel box, lustre and roses; vase, fever few. Miss McGivern is showing some effective work done by Miss Sarah Davie of Columbus, Ohio.

The Montreal exhibit is very handsome and shows careful selection and work. Miss Williams, formerly of St. John, has sent a magnificent punch bowl and several other pretty pieces. Mrs. Pick, of Moncton, has sent some pieces, as have also several other ladies here in the province and outside. The Toronto exhibit vies with Montreal in beauty, though not in the number of pieces. Painted vases, plates tea caddies, jardiniere, tobacco jars and many other dainty bits are in this collection.

AN OWL IN TOWN. The small boys of Carleton are rejoicing, but residents of Winslow street are not so joyous. The reason of it all is that since Saturday a large grey owl has occupied a perch on one of the many trees on Winslow street between Ludlow and Watson streets, and in spite of the many delicate attentions literally thrown at him in the form of sticks and stones, refuses to leave his chosen resting place. Before school opens, at the noon hour, and in the afternoon the boys, crowding the street, try to get a glimpse of the owl, and with much shouting endeavor to dislodge the bird. One gratifying feature of the amusement is the demonstration that in throwing stones the Carleton boys are very poor shots, but this, too, has its drawbacks, for windows in the vicinity are painfully aware that the stones do not hit the owl. Numerous attempts have been made to capture the bird, but it seems quite able to avoid its pursuers, and as yet no grains of salt have appeared on its tail. When anyone approaches it the owl flies across the street, but returns to its post whenever the danger is past. It is stated that some effort is being made to have the owl placed in the orphan asylum, but this report cannot be confirmed.

IT'S ALL RIGHT NOW. PARIS, Nov. 12.-President Lobbet presided at the cabinet council today. The foreign minister, M. Delcasse, announced that he had notified the Porte that diplomatic relations between France and Turkey had been resumed, and that Admiral Chailard's squadron had left the Island of Mytilene.

BACK FROM NOME. SEATTLE, Wn., Nov. 12.-The steam-ship Arctic arrived shortly before midnight from Nome with 112 passengers and $350,000 in gold. She was the last boat but one to leave the northern port and brought down many prominent business men. She reports meeting short of provisions and water. It was said that her sixty passengers had suffered many privations before reaching port. The Long was expected to follow the Arctic the next day.

EVERYTHING COMES TO THOSE WHO WAIT. The rich man has ice in summer, but the poor man has just as much in winter.

STORM-SWEPT.

Disastrous Gales on the British Coast - Wind, Rain and Snow. LONDON, Nov. 12.-Violent winds, rain and snow storms are reported from all the coasts of the United Kingdom. A fierce gale is blowing in the channel and mountainous seas are running. No less than half a dozen small vessels within sight of Dover are flying signals of distress and the life-boats are vainly attempting to reach them. A rocket apparatus has been sent to the south foreland, where an admiralty vessel is on the rocks with crew clinging to the rigging. Several vessels have been dismantled and tugs are rescuing craft which were drifting ashore. All other channels are closed. Ships everywhere are running for shelter.

POLICE COURT.

A Cannon Discharged - Determined to Be Arrested - A Drunken Woman. Yesterday afternoon John O'Regan partook rather too freely of aids to popular eloquence, and having towards evening wandered to the Central Police station, demanded to be arrested. O'Regan threatened that if such were not done he would at once commit some crime which would bring about his arrest. After having been turned away from the station several times he became so persistent in his attempts to enter that he was taken in charge for drunkenness. This morning he complained that he was without a cent, had been unable to obtain a ticket to answer and had politely requested protection at the station. He was fined four dollars.

Percy Cannon strolled into court, his hands in his pockets, cap on his head, and a T. D. nose warmer between his teeth. Seated on the bench enjoying a quiet smoke, he was excessively annoyed when ordered to put out the pipe, and take off his cap. Percy was charged with being drunk on the North wharf. He listened to the charge being read, paused a moment as if disdaining to answer and then drawled out, "Ugh!" The charge was repeated, and after another pause, in a tone of contempt Percy remarked, "Drunk." Cannon is a muzzle loader, and according to evidence given by Officer Rankine, was in a dismounted condition and more than half shot last night. As this was the first time he had been captured he was fined four dollars, but afterwards was discharged.

While Cannon was engaged in conversation with the court, William Reynolds, who had previously been fined four dollars for being drunk on Carleton street, rose to a question of privilege, and stated that he had failed to catch what had been said to himself. The amount of his fine was repeated. William paid it and vanished. Laura Byron, a few days ago regained her liberty from the Home of the Good Shepherd, and celebrated it by becoming gloriously drunk on Brussels street last night. After a tussle in which, as Officer Sullivan says, she fought "like a bag of cats," Laura was arrested. During the excitement Laura missed the one method by which she might possibly have escaped, for Officer Sullivan was vulnerable in one point, not in the heel, like Achilles, but on the unvaccinated arm. This, however, was untouched, with the result that Laura was today fined eight dollars or two months, with the promise of more later on.
