

MONTREAL, July 28.-A heavy downpour of rain tonight served to accentuate the warmth of Montreal's farewell to Lord Dundonald. This afternoon he was the guest of St. Andrew's society at a reception in their home, which was attended by almost all the leading Scotchmen of the city. At 8.30 this evening he received the Veterans' Association in the rotunda of the Windsor, the big place being packed to suffocation. The veterans prely regretted his departure. Lord Dun-donald replied briefly, afterwards passing through the ranks and addressing many of the veterans personally. The enthusiasm all through this reception Outside a large crowd of people un-

Then Lt. Col. Stevenson was called upon. He reminded the hearers that mistakes had been made at Ottawa, and that those' who had dismissed Lord Dundonald had assumed a great responsibility. The colonel hit the sympathies of the audience. Of that there was no doubt, from the great volume of applause that greeted this assault upon the government. It was the hit of the evening and showed that affair, people were only awaiting an
