Use of Ammonia.

At cleaning time ammonia is a great saving labor. It's uses are many and very beneficial.

To begin with, two tablespoonfuls added to the bath makes hard water as good as soft, keeps the skin nice, and gives an especially clean feeling after doing any rough or dirty work a little in the water you wash your hands in will help to keep them nice and soft.

It makes an excellent silver polish too, if mixed in equal quantities with whiting enough to make cream; rub this lightly on with a flannel and polish with a dry cloth.

This will remove all tarnish, and help to keep the silver and electro plate in good condition.

It is also an effective for brass, nickel and steel.

Glassware, windows and mirrors are made cleaner and brighter with less labor if washed with warm water and a little ammonia.
