

children of the parish, was used for the first time on Christmas Day. The rector had been collecting the fund for this memorial for several years. The base of the Chalice has the Cross, the four Evangelists and the pelican in beautiful relief work. Both the Chalice and Paten bear this inscription: "To the Glory of God and in Memory of the Departed Children of St. Barnabas." The cost of this beautiful memorial was $190. It was executed by the Gorham company of New York.

OUR TONGUES.

"The boneless tongue, so small and weak, Can crush and kill," declared the Greek.

"The tongue destroys a greater horde," The Turk asserts, "than does the sword."

The Persian proverb wisely saith: "A lengthy tongue—an early death."

Or sometimes takes this form instead: "Don't let your tongue cut off your head."

From Hebrew wit the maxim sprung: "Tho' feet should slip, ne'er let the tongue."

The sacred writer crowns the whole: "Who keeps his tongue doth keep his soul."

—P. Burroughs Strong.

MAN'S DEBT TO THE HORSE.

No animal on the face of the earth works like the horse; no animal anywhere is his equal in usefulness to man. He is the one real slave of humanity; for never lived a human slave in any age or in any land who went about his task and his crushing labours more uncomplainingly, more steadily and more faithfully than does the horse. He brings help when the home is aflame; he drags in the harvest that feeds millions; he scurries over the ground to bring the physician to the bedside when we come into the world; he paces solemnly onward as he drags us to the grave. He carries the joyous children upon his broad back, and he thunders to the hospital with the clanging ambulance. Through the streets he drags the mighty iron supports for the giant skyscraper, and over the boulevards of the park he sweeps with fashion and

BLACK STOVE KNIGHT POLISH

"Black Knight" Stove Polish gives the shine that lasts. Just a small daub spreads over a big surface. Just a few light rubs with cloth or brush brings a shine you can see your face in—and the shine lasts for days—fresh, bright, brilliantly black. Try the quick, clean and easy way of shining Stoves, Grates and Ironwork.

how often is the faithful animal repaid with atrocious cruelty and vile and inhuman neglect! The treatment of horses by some people is immeasurably base; and it is all the more hideous and scoundrelly because the poor animal has no means of defense, no chance for aid, no voice to demand help.

He is driven at terrific speed for immense distances; he is forced to wear rough and heavy harness over a sore and lacerated body, dragging after him heavily laden wagons, all the while suffering silently the most awful torture. He is compelled to drag overloaded wagons up steep hills, often cruelly lashed with the whip, and then after a long day of dreadful slavery he is poorly housed, often with insufficient food.

Yet there are owners and drivers of a different stamp. These are men into whose hardened soul no appreciation of the value and devotion of the horse is allowed to penetrate. They misuse the animal to an atrocious degree, and are impervious to his appealing look, when he is racked by pain or worn down with toil, as though the poor beast were but a senseless rock. Such men as these know no pity, and because they know no pity they know no horse.

There is nothing overdrawn in this recital of man's inhumanity to his one best and most constant friend. Happily, though, it is not a recital of the usual treatment of the horse. Turning from the consideration of ill-treatment, it is pleasant to know that in the hearts of the vast majority of men, women, and children, there is genuine love for this fine and good friend in the animal kingdom. And assuredly he deserves that love.

When you love a horse, you love man's best, truest, and most useful friend in all the range of the world of animals.

I know as my life grows older,
And mine eyes have clearer sight—
That under each rank wrong, somewhere
There lies the root of right;
That each sorrow has its purpose,
By the sorrowing oft unguessed,
But as sure as the sun brings morning,
Whatever is—is best.

Everyday Maxims.—If you are not wiser and better at the end of the day, that day is lost. Practice kindness, even if it be but a little each day. Learn something each day, even if it be but to spell one word. Do not seem to be what you are not.
