Mr. Burcall had for upwards of se enty years been actively engaged in business on the Miramichi and his death removes perhaps the last reamining link connecting the past with the present. For many years he was engaged in shipbuilding on Beaubear's Island, under the firm name of Harley & Burchill, and later be engaged in the lumber business. Mr. Burchill's name was almost as well known as that of the Miramichi itself, so long had he been connected with its industries.
