Mr. Dickson was the first man called o speak, but excused limself, saying ne would give all the time to Mr Fowler. The latter spoke at consider able length, his address being notice ably labored at the beginning, and in fact during much of his speech. As he cook up his connection with the land ransactions so much spoken of how vier, he became evidently initiated and aunched out in a loud voiced defense of his dealing which he claimed was a matter of business. He took occasion to refer to the dast-ardly act which had been committed in the rearing down of Liberal posters along the road over which he, had travelled during the present week-an act which he considered contemptible and unfair. He would offer, he said, $100 to anyone who heated the perpetrator. The doctor also told of some contemptible person v ho had attempted to disturb his meeting at Waterside, and said he hoped no Libera would be guilty of such unfair and scandalous conduct. He trusted that when Mr. Fewler spoke last night he got a good hearing, which was the honest fair play he believed in. The doctor referred to the secession from the Conservative reaks of Dr. Pearson of Sussex, and of the events that led up to that gentleman's decision to cast his first Liberal vote on October 26th. Dr. McAlister spoke most favorably of his prospects in the present contest and of the kind treatment he had everywhere received in his tour in Albert County. Proceeding, the doctor took up Dominion issues, comparing the magnificent progress of the country under Liberal rule with affairs under the Conservative regime, giving in detail the enlendid record of the Laurier administration. The speaker also took up the branch railway line policy and viressed his firm belief that the Alpert line would be taken over by the Intercolonial. There was absolutely nothing, he said, in Mr. Fowler's claim that if given the pover his party would take over the road inside of two years As a matter of fact, the opposition had committed itself to the C. CHATHAM, Oct. 9 .- Donald Morrison had two leading Conservative lights on the platform here this evening, and before the Conservative nominec finished his address he managed to practically empty the building, which at the outset was nearly twothirds full. The chairman of the meeting was J. L. Stewart, who aptly remarked that Mr. Morrison was not "of retiring disposition" and was going in the fight in spite of reports to the contrary. Dr. McInerney, who came first, delivered a startling piece of metaphor, declaring that all he had seen in Chatham "bears on its bosom the sweet strains of victory." This even beat the sun sinking behind the purpling hills, and the doctor's special effort was much appreciated. He told a story of a child whos father declared he was cut out to b politician because he took the five dollar bill, drank the glass of whiskey and marched off with the Bible which his fond parent had placed on different tables to test his natural instincts

MADE HASTE TO EXPLAIN. The doctor then made haste to explain that Mr. Morrison was not that and of a politician. Some of his contradictions of his own words were remarkable. At one point he declared Canada was prosperous in spite of the Liberal policy," and in the next sentence said the Liberals had stolen the national policy without an atom or icts of change and were running the country on this policy. He charged Laurier with being more British than the British and followed this by saying that he used not to be as loval as he pretends to be today. declaring he gave the preference to England and asked nothing in return

The doctor was much impressed with Hon, Wm. Bowser of British Columbia and professed a fear of Japanese in vading New Brunswick.

Mr.Powell's address was an eloquen one, but contained few facts, prefer ring evidently to charm his hearers with his rhetoric than convince them with logic. At the close of this speech nearly half the crowd left the hall and Donald Morrison was called upon by the chairman. Mr. Morrison paid his respects to Loggie, Laurier, the late government, and Dr. Pugsley. The crowd gradually thinned out and barely one hundred heard his closing re-

ALBERT, Oct. 9.—That Albert county Liberals are not fair weather ends of the party was shown to that filled the big Oulton Hall gather ed in spite of the rain to hear the ringing addresses that were delivered by Dr. McAlister, the popular Lib.a. candidate; mon. C. J. Osman, J. T ed by its unnatural mother, a three- Hawke of Moncton and E. H. McAlpine and throughout the whole meeting there was an enthusiasm which showed the deep interest taken by the electors in this section in the honest presentation of the issues now before the people. It was a grand meeting in every way.

Mr. Osman was first called upon, and spoke of the high esteem in which Dr. McAlister was held throughout his nalive county of Kings and of the splendid impression ne was making wherever he appeared in Albert county. Victory seemed to be indicated from both sections of the big constituency. Mr. Osman before closing his addresss, which was only intended to be introfollowed, some of the arguments peing dulged in against himself by G. D. Prescott, M. P. P., in a recent meeting tee was finally appointed to go into at Albert Mines which he considered very unjustifiable. He himself had always avoided personalities and had only treated Mr. Prescott as a representative of the people not in any way referring to his private business. Mr. Osman's short address was pleasantly received.
