Some of oar Grit contemporaries are at great paius to assure us that the Raform party of the Dominion is not dead but sleepeth. We suspect that it is in much the same condition as the make which had its head cut off by an Irishman, who, seeing that the tail still moved, remarked that "the baste was kilt entirely, but was not conscious av the fact." Mr. Blake cut the head—Mr. Mackenzie—off the Reform party, but the tail has moved about some since. Our esteemed contemporaries will hardly deny that their party was at least "ruined by the N. P."

On Saturday evening last he addressed a large number of electors at Wooler, and was most cordially received. He was followed by Mr. Cochrane in an able speech, and the meeting closed with hearty cheers for the Government and their candidate. Our advices are that Mr. Kennedy's prospects are excellent, but our friends should spare no exertion to place his success beyond peradventure. Possessing a good platform and a strong candidate, the only danger lies in overconfidence of the result. Thorough organization and ardnous work are ever the price of political success.

The Brantford Telegram says of the Blind stitute investigation, which has been adirned to this city, that there are still three journed to this city, that there are still three witnesses to be examined—one resident in Toronto, one in Ottawa, and one in Brock-ville. This list comprises three ladies formerly employed at the institute, upon whose evidence the complainants largely rely. The Telegram says that the institute is in a demoralized condition, and that stringent reform measures will be necessary to restore its impaired usefulness. Pending the report of the inspector, however, a suspension of popular judgment should, we think, be insisted upon by the press. pon by the press.

le sign of the great improvement in the in the royal city that the assessor reports that there are not half the empty houses there were a year age when he was on his rounds. New families have taken up their residences there, and scarcely an idle man can be found. Our esteemed Guelph contemporary must be agreeably surprised to find that its fears of being ruined by protection were unfounded, and we welcome it as a convert from the delusions taught it by the dismal prophets of decay. If the N. P. has accomplished so much in the green wood we may confidently expect greater things in the dry.

The most surprising feature just now in United States affairs is the temperance "boom" in the Southern States. Most of these States have generally been considered as given up to a great extent to lawlessness and number of politicians owed their influence to whiskey-sellers and their customers that prohibitory measures were out of the question. At the present moment, however, there are three States—and they can certainly be considered typical of that part of the great Republic to which they belong—namely, North Carolina, Arkansas, and Texas. In which the Legislatures are taking steps for the submission to the people of an amendment to the constitution forbidding the manufacture and sale of intoxicants. The matter, it is true, has not yet been decided, but it is remarkable that the assemblies should reven have consented by vote that the question should go to the people.

The Rev. Dr. Howard Crosby, of New ork, is a temperance reformer, but he does ot believe in prohibition, and for expressing is honest opinions on the subject he has been idently assailed by those who do believe in the attitude on the temperance question as been thus briefly described by himself: has been thus briefly described by himself:

"There are no evils of tectotalism in itself; but it must be voluntary and not compulsory. Because my neighbour's arm is gangrened and needs to be cut off, shall I out off my arm? Compulsion degrades men. Then I want temperance, which is a different thing from tectotalism, to be supported rationally and honestly and not by lying invective. The methods employed at present to keep men sober are a disgrace to the country and may well make the blood of freemen boil. I have stirred up a hornet's nest, but it needed to be done. Out of the discussion we may get some ideas as to a rational, honest system of dealing with intemperance." charges that too many teetotallers are anatics of the most unreasonable character, and says that the abuse which they have seaped upon him has filled him with disgust ion of them, are real temperance men. recognize that to ensure success all gs must be done in moderation. Instead, ofore, of rushing headlong against all therefore, of rushing headlong against all who indulge occasionally in a glass of ale as well as pushing a crusade against wholesale wine bibbers, they propose to prosecute their work of reform by urging that, in the first place, the number of drinking resorts be reduced, and that in the next a discrimination be made between those saleons and gardens in which whiskey and other powerful intoxicants are disposed of. Relative to this subject a strange story appears in a New York paper, to the effect that Prince Bismarck, in his efforts to check the exodus from Germany, has resorted to a curious means to stop emigration to Canada. He discovered, so the story runs, that certain laws of this country prohibited music and the sale of beer on Sunday; and knowing the Tentonic dispersion to make Sunday a holiday, caused abstracts of those laws to be scattered broadcast over the Empire. If Bismarck really did this thing, and we must confess we rather doubt it, although the statement is said to come from "a gentleman recently connected with the emigration commission of the Canadas," twas very short-sighted policy, for had the hancellor thought but a little he must have cen that the only effect possible—if it had my effect at all—would be to divert the hannel of emigration to the more liberal tates of the Union. The probability, howhannel of emigration to the more libera-states of the Union. The probability, how-ver, is that the story is an unfounded libel oth upon Bismarck and his countrymen.

London, March 9.

In the House of Commons this afternoon several Irish amendments to the Arms bill were rejected. Sir William Harcourt, opposing one giving persons arrested under the Act the right to a jury trial, said the present agritation undonotedly was a Fenian conspiracy under another mame. Various Irish members protested against this assertion. At 5 p.m., Mr. Parnell was speaking against the Government's endoavouring to abolish jury trial for political offences, when the chairflan rose, and the amendment was rejected by 273 to 35. The other amendments were rejected by similarly overwhelming majorities, and the bill passed through committee. This evening Sir William Harcourt, in accordance with his notice last night that if the consideration of the Arms bill in committee was mot finished at three this afternoon he would move that the remaining amendments be put, forthwith put his motion at the time specified, and it was adopted by 253 to 17. On the question to report the bill to the House, Mr. Parnell claimed the right to speak, alleging that the decision that the votes be taken forthwith only referred to the clauses and amendments. Mr. Playfair ruled that he could not be heard, and the Speaker upheld the ruling. Mr. Gladatone gave notice that upon consideration to morrow of the bill as amended, he should move that after ten o'clock any amendment be put forthwith.

London, March 10.

London, March 10. The House of Commons to-night resumed consideration of the Arms bill as amended. Mr. Callan (Liberal) moved a new clause that the authorities shall grant licenses to carry arms to such occupiers of agricultural holdings as shall produce a certificate signed by two, justices of the county that they are fit to have such licenses. The clause was agreed to and added to the bill. After some further discussion, 10 colors having arms of Mr. to and added to the bill. After some further discussion, 10 o'clock having arrived, Mr. Gladstone's resolution that the remaining amendments be put to the vote forthwith—which had been carried by 347 to 30—came into operation. The Speaker then put the remaining amendments.

The report of Committee of the Whole on the Arms bill was adopted, and the third reading of the bill fixed for Friday. The report that Mr. Playfair intends to resign the chairmanship of the Ways and Means Committee is untrue.

DUBLIN, March 11.

This morning Consul Barrow received an official despatch from Minister Lowell instructing him to enquire into the arrest of Michael Boyton, the cause, the charges against him, and the grounds on which he founds his claim to be treated as an American ditizen. At one o'clock Mr. Barrow called at Kilmainham gaol, but was informed that the prisoners were at dinner. He returned at two, and was received by Captain St. George Grey, the governor, who courteously informed him that as the official representative of the American Government he would accord him full permission to see Mr. Boyton at any time and for any length of time he thought proper. The governor also granted Mr. Barrow the privilege of seeing the prisoner in private. The consultound Mr. Beyton in his cell. During a long interview he gathered from him the farticulars of his nationality and other details of a private character to be laid before the Minister. Mr. Boyton said that his father was a naturalized American citizen when he (Michael) was born. Mr. Boyton was most emphatic in his praise of the manner in which he was being treated by the prison officials, and especially strong in his appreciation of the gool. Mr. Barrows to night sent a long despatch to Minister Lowell setting forth the full details of the case, and inclosing copies of the warrant upon which Boyton was arrested. In this despatch was also enclosed a long letter which Boyton has addressed to the American Minister detailing the circumstances of his arrest, proclaiming his innocence of the charge against him, namely, inciting others to commit murder, and demanding the intervention of the American officials in order to obtain his immediate discharge from prison, or the speedy trial of the charge against him.

Only three prisoners were brought to Dublin to-day. News of two more arrests was received. This lull is accounted for by the last that constabulary escorts are scarce, and antil those new coming in return no further freets will be made.

A Dublin despatch says:—A relief party of seventeen Orange labourers, orgaged by the emergeacy committee, left Broadstone terminus last evening for Ballynakill, Connemara, to assist the Protestant rector, Canon Fleming, recently fired at, and for a long time "Boycotted" on account of sectarian animosity. Each labourer was armed with a rifle and revolver allowed by special license. They will be conveyed from Galway round the coast by the frigate Valorous, the journey by road through Connemara being deemed dangerous owing to the popular excitement.

Mr. Parnell has issued a manifesto to the Irish electors of the county, urging them to vote or Saturday for H. W. Eston, the Conservative candidate. He points out his opinion that it is of vital importance to the Irish cause that the Whig element in the Ministry, whose preponderance has been so prejudical to true liberty, should be weakened, even if a temporary gain to the Conservatives should result in the swamping of the constituency.

poses of the Land League were very similar to those of the Fenian organization. Mr. Parnell denied that there was any connection between the Land League and the Fenians, though the latter had sent money to the League. Mr. Justin McCarthy disclaimed responsibility for the language used and American acitators. Mr. Forster closed the debate by expressing regret that the introduction of the bill was necessary. Mr. Parnell's motion was defeated by 255 to 36, and the third reading of the bill carried by 250 to 28. The final motion that the bill do pass was carried by 236 to 26.

LONDON, March 13.

A Dublin despatch says:—The following is in reference to the Land League in Archbishop McCabe's Leuten pastoral:—"Let nobody accuse us of want of sympathy with the great question of justice which now appeals to Parliament for settlement. The cause is just, holy, and carries with it the biessings of religion. Amongst the terrible mistakes made formerly by the rulers of this unhappy land there is none perhaps which will exceed in folly that which will be now committed if the vital question of the tenure of land holdings is not settled now and forever, on just principles to all. So confident are we land holdings is not settled now and forever, on just principles to all. So confident are we that a full and honest settlement of this angry controversy is essential to the temporal happiness and moral and religious interests of our countrymen that if the sacrifice of our blood could lead to the consummation of this grand act of justice we would make that sacrifice. Whilst we bless the end now aimed at we must assis uprolaim that some of the means complayed. Whilst we bless the end now aimed at we must again proclaim that some of the means employed in the struggle cannot receive the sanction of religion. The modesty of her daughters was the ancient glory of 'Ireland. But all this is now to be ahandoned, and our daughters are summoned under the flimsy pretext of charity to take their stand in the noisy arena of public life. The pretext of charity is merely assumed, for ahready we have hely associations of men and women who do works of mercy for the poor and afflicted, and even the harsh laws now coming in force have mercifully provided for the families of those falling under their nower. It is women are asked to forget the modesty of their sex by leaders who seem utterly reckthe families of those falling under their power. Irish women are asked to forget the modesty of their sex by leaders who seem utterly reckless of consequences, and who by their recklessness have brought misery on many families. Reverend fathers, set your faces against this dishonouring attempt; do not tolerate in your sodalities a woman who so far disavows her modesty as to parade herself publicly in a character so unworthy of a child of Mary. This attempt at degrading Irish women comes very appropriately from men who have drawn the country into its present terribly deplorable condition. Deprived of the safeguards of the constitution, the people may become a prey of perjured informers, men who have sent their agents to fawn on notorious infidels and revolutionists, and who, to escape the odium of their act, abuse the Christian politeness of the most venerable prelate and illustrious soldier of France (Cardinal Guibert, Archbishop of Paris, and Marshal MacMahon). These men and their agents, to forward their views, were not ashamed to calumniate the diocese whose prelates were formerly the glory of the Irish Church, and who were not afraid to warn their people when misled by false friends and dangerous advisers. These are the sources whence come great dangers to our faith. Let us pray to the Almighty that He may scatter the enomies of His holy cause; that His wisdom may direct the councils of our rulers, and that He may bind together forever the priests and the people." An attempt was made to hold a meeting at Coventry last night under the anspices of Messrs. Arthur O'Comor and Finnegan, Home Rulers. O'Connor was met by a storm of yells. He remained standing ten minutes, and made several attempts to read Mr. Parnell's manifesto, urging the support of the Conservative candidate. Finally a rush was made to the platform and a free fight ensued. The police cleared the hall. All the tables and chairs were smashed. The disturbance is attributed to the extreme Radicals.

In the House of Lords to-day Earl Spencer moved the second reading of the Arms bill. He pointed to the improvement in the condition of Ireland since the Coercion Act passed. The bill was read a second time.

The House of Commons again wentinto Committee of Supply to-day. On reaching the vote for £6,600 for criminal prosecutions in Ireland, Mr. Parnell moved its reduction to £3,100. He accused the Government of enacting a farce at the Dublin Four Courts. After some discussion the amendment was negatived. On reaching the vote of £28,900 for Irish constabulary, Mr. Parnell protested, but the vote was carried by 189 to 16.

P. J. Sheridan, one of the traversers, was arrested this morning in county Sligo. This is considered the most important arrest so far made in connection with the Coercion Act.

The payment of rent still increases, and boycotting has visibly diminished.

Mr. Gabbett, Home Rule member for Limerick city, has seceded from the Parnellites. Anna Parnell inaugurated a branch of the Ladies Land Lesgue at Liverpool last night. The Dublin Gazette offers £500 reward for information respecting the murderers of Farrelly.

The Standard says it is now definitely understood that the Land bill will not be introduced until after the Easter recess.

The American legation has not requived any communication from the United States Consul at Dublin, who acted at his own instance in the case of Michael Boyton, imprisoned in Kilmainham and Kilmainham gaol.

It is asserted that although funds are still flowing into the League treasury from America, the Land League agitation has lost all vitality, and the Government do not think it worth while to arrest any prominent leaders.

Although some people wonder how it is that so many of their friends and neighbours buy the Wanzer swing machines, the reason is not hard to find. The representatives of the clans McLaughlin and McIntyre, of Glencoe, have been nursing revengeful feelings towards one another for some time, as has been shown by occasional rows between the parties. The last entertainment of this kind was given in the village on Tuesday last. One of the McIntyres, who is somewhat sickly, was chased by the McLaughlins, and ran into a house, where he is alleged to have been pretty tonghly handled by his pursuers. A man named Blair interfered, when it is said McLaughlin drew a revolver, and Blair immediately knocked him down. The fighting then became general, about fifty persons soon becoming involved in the rict. One pare

HANLAN'S FUTURE INTENTIONS

In conversation on board the train on Saturday night the champion said he was very gratified and thankful for his welcome home. He felt that he had as many warm friends as ever, and that the people were still with him. His reception on returning from a victory had always been enthusiastic, but Friday week's in his estimation excelled them all, and it would nerve him to strive in the future to do as he had done in the past—row his races to the best of his ability and try to merit the good opinion of his fellow-countrymen. He was also very proud of the welcome given to his friend, Mr. Whitefoot, speaking so much as it did for the hospitality of his native city. As to his future, Hanlan said he had registered a vow not to row in any more regattas, and that if anybody was ambitious to wrest his laurels from him they could only do so on Torento bay. Of all his races his own people had only had an opportunity of seeing two, and he was determined that they should see his next. In the past he had been compelled to go abroad to row. His rivals would not come to him, and, therefore, to gain their money and secure their titles he had to go to them. If there were any still wishing to meet him, he would be happy to give Courtney or Trickett fifteen seconds at the end of a five-mile race on Toronto bay, or he would give Wallace Ross or any other carsman in the world ten seconds. He would give no man a start, and if a match is made it must be for Toronto bay.

THE VARSITY RACE.

There is to be a sovelty in connection with the University boat race in England this year, in the shape of a jubilee dinner of all the old college carsmen who can be collected in London on Friday, the 8th of April. Mr. Justice Denman or Lord Justice Brett will probably take the chair. The fiftieth anniversary of the first race between the universities occurred two seasons ago, but no commemoration of it was then attempted.

A TROTTING BREEDING RANCHE IN THE NORTH-OTTAWA, March 12.—Mr. Dewdney, Iadian Commissioner, has purchased the following stock from Mr. Wiser, M.P., of Prescott:—Philip W. bay stallion, 3 years, by Rysdyk, out of Flora; Hardscrabble. bay gelding, 3 years, by Rysdyk, dam Lady Pachen (dam of Barbara Pachen) by George M. Pachen; the brood marc Amy Clark, by Canada Grey Eagle, dam by Jessie Fowler in foal to Philip W. Also Lady Spaulding, by Spaulding's Abdallah (son of Old Abdallah), dam by new Cassus M. Clay, jr., in foal to Rysdyk. Also the chestnut mare Mary Anderson by a ton of Long Island Black Hawk, dam not traced, a big slashing mare 16½ hands, stinted to Belle Wood. In a letter to the Spiril of the Times Mr. Wiser says:—"Mr. Dewdney is taking this stock to start the first trotting breeding ranche in the North-West, and will place the horses in the hands of a competent man to look after them. It should eventually prove a great benefit to that new country, as the importation of good stock in the carly settlement of a country cannot be over-estimated. I hope he may find the venture entirely satisfactory and profitable to him, as I have no doubt it will be."

TURF. ITEMS.

On the evening of the 9th inst., imp. Castaway, dam of Lady D'Arcy, Roderick, and others, dropped a beautiful filly foal by Princeton. She is of fine size, brown, with no marks. Mr. Burgess enthusiastically writes from Woodstock that they can at present think of no name good enough for her.

PEDESTRIANISM. END OF THE INTERNATIONAL MATCH NEW YORK, March 12.—It is estimated that 3,000 witnessed the finish of the walking match. O'Leary retired with 450 miles shortly after eight o'clock. 'He was backy used up, his feet being very sore. He declared the match square, notwithstanding all reports to the contrary, and attributed his defeat to anxiety over Albert's failure and the poor track. Vaughan walked till nearly ten o'clock and made 460 miles. Bowell appeared on the track twice to-day, but attracted little attention. The total receipts were $33,000, expenses $16,000, leaving $17,.000 to be divided among the pedestrians and the management. Precisely how much money will be divided is not definitely known, but the lien's share goes to the Englishmen, who also carry off between them the $10,000 stakes said to have been put up before signing articles. The terms of the match were that Charles Kowell, of Chesterton, Eng., and James Alberti of Philadelphia, were to make the best of their way for six days in the Madison Square Garden, while Henry Vaughan of Chester, Eng., and Daniel O'Leary, of Chicago, Ill., walked against each other fair heel and toe for six days, each of the four staking $2,500. Alberti retired on the second day and Rowell was declared the victor of their share of the contest.

CURLING.

CALEDONIANS V. BRAMPTON. A return match took place on Friday at Brampton between the Brampton club and the Caledonian club of this city. The Toronto curiers did not arrive at Brampton until about 2.30 o'clock, owing to the Grand Trunk train from the east being one hour and a half late, consequently they were not permitted to play the full complement of 21 ends. Majority for the Caledonians, 22 shots.

CHALLENGE GAME AT WINGHAM. WINGHAM, March 11.—A challenge given by Mr. John Hanna to Mr. Bray and accepted by the latter for an oyster supper, Old Country curiers against Canadians, was played here yesterday morning, and resulted in favour of the Canadians by 13 shots. The return match was played this morning, and again resulted in favour of the Canadians by 9 shots.

CHRONIC HEADACHE GENERAL DEBILITY CURED TORONTO, ONT., Nov. 25, 1879.

H. R. STEVENS. Req., Boston:

Sir.—I have much pleasme in testifying to the virtue of your Vegeting. For years past I have surfered exceedingly from chronic headsache and general debility, from which I obtained no permanent relief un il I was induced, about a month since, to try the Vegeting. I am now better in health than I have been for the last four years; enjoy my food better, am much stronger, and quite free from my old enemy, the headsache. Hoping that my testimony may induce others to try the same remedy. I am

Respectfully yours,

MRS. D. A. JOHNSTON,
100 Lippincott street.

I have very great pleasure in endorsing the above statement of the benefit to my wifes health since she commenced the use of the Vegeting.

B. A. JOHNSTON,

Late Minister of the G. M. Church.

Made a New Man of Me. Cured My Wife of General Debility. TOBONTO, ONT., 1879. Mr. Stevens:

Deer Sir.—Some time agg I get run down in health, and had no appetite, and some of my friends advised me to take Verstine. I did so, and it made a new man of me. Before using it, my hair was falling out, and I was quite baid. Since I used it, new hair is growing all over my head, and I know it was the Vegetine did it. My wife used it also fer general debitey, and it did her as much good as myself.
