Gower St. United Services.

The United meetings of the week began last night, under very favorable auspices, and the service proved very helpful all through.

The Rev. F. R. Matthews was the leader, and he was assisted by Rev. Dr. Curtis and Rev. Mr. Whitmarsh. The address proper was delivered by Rev. Dr. Rogers. The good Doctor did not take any particular subject as the basis of his remarks, but told of some of his experiences in evangelistic work, during his fifty years of ministerial toil in the Lower Provinces, and principally in Nova Scotia.

The several instances related by the Doctor, were all very touching indeed, and found a ready response in the hearts of the congregation, and illustrated the great truth that "if we faint not we shall reap," and that "bread cast upon the waters shall be found after many days," and that sometimes, man, and lives, and character are uplifted and restored by influences which may appear small and insignificant.

The address, though short, was one not soon to be forgotten; and its principles were such as appeal to the common faith of all believers. Following the address the devotions and singing were continued until the usual hour of closing; and the meeting, as already stated, proved very encouraging.

Suspenders

BY H. L. RANX.

Suspenders are a providential arrangement which permit men to go about in public with a feeling of perfect security. Whenever you attend a social function and observe a pained look come over the face of a male guest, you may be sure that he has either imbibed too much of the menu or parted with a suspender button.

Suspenders never came into general use until the invention of pants. They sprang into immediate popularity and have been worn off and on ever since. Men who used to be obliged to hold up their pants with a safety pin or a wire nail took up with the new idea at once, and came to the supper table in their shirt sleeves, wearing a proud, self-satisfied look and a new pair of striped suspenders.

Suspenders are made of cloth stretched over rubber bands, which become exhausted after being worn for a few weeks and allow a pair of shapely pants to droop languorously toward the sou-sou-west. This is what causes so many men to go about in pants which fit like a 30 x 40 tire on a go-cart.

Suspenders are fitted over buttons which have the habit of letting go in the middle of a round dance. Nobody ever heard of a suspender button coming off within four miles of a needle and thread. This kind of a button always falls on a hardwood floor and rolls around in a circle at the precise moment when the wearer is trying to appear wholly at ease.

Of late years fashion has prescribed a very neat substitute for suspenders, in the form of the leather belt, which causes lean men to look like an hour glass. It is a hazardous proceeding for a thin man to rely upon a belt, and any attempt to force this innovation upon attenuated citizens should be rebuked by act of congress. The belt is all right for stout parties who have one hip on each side, but it is a positive insult to people with a waist like a wasp. On this account, suspenders will be worn long after the leather belt has become a pensive memory.

Gasolene and Other Wreckage Picked Up.

Yesterday afternoon a message was received by the Deputy Minister of Justice from Magistrate Way, of Harbor Breton, reading as follows:—

"Morgan Bungay, of Sagona, picked up on January 28th, in Fushion Bay, 9 packages of gasolene and also a can containing ship's papers, of the schr. Rowena, Robert Moulton, owner. She cleared from St. Pierre for Burgeo on January 23rd. Don't know if crew saved."

The schr. referred to was lost en route from St. Pierre to Burnt Islands laden with gasolene and other supplies. The crew escaped in boats and landed at Burgeo.
