A Matter of Propriety

"Greetings," said Ratgenhauer next day when Marian presented herself at his office. "Sit down," he added, waving her into a chair. "Had you in mind ever since you dropped in the first time. Why haven't you been showing yourself?"

"I've been out of town," responded Marian.

"Get out," grinned the theatrical man. "You were afraid I'd steal you." "Don't you ever think it," she answered with spirit. "I can take care of myself."

"Course you can. Who said you couldn't? You're all right, little girl. But leave it to me. I'll make a real actress out of you. I've given lots of girls their start. To-day their names are shining on Broadway. And you seem to have the goods if any of them ever had," he added, appraising her complacently.

It was a searching gaze that Marian did not like. But she merely responded: "I'm glad to hear you say that, Mr. Ratgenhauer. I'm in earnest about this. Dead in earnest."

"That's the talk!" he urged. "I'll do everything I can for you. The company I was telling you about starts rehearsals to-morrow. I think I can use you to fill in every week or two. No big parts at the start, understand, but you'll get training that will be worth heaps to you. Willis Witree is the star. He's a temperamental sort of a pup, but a great card for stock productions. He raises forty seven different kinds of thunder at rehearsals, and all that sort of thing, but I'll tell him not to ball you out. He'll do what I tell him."

"Thanks," murmured Miss Winthrop glad that she was to be spared rough treatment at the hands of a moody star.

"Be at the Arden Theatre at ten sharp to-morrow morning. First rehearsal. I'll introduce you to his nibs. We put on 'The Climbers' next week." He reached into a pigeon-hole and produced some type-written "parts." Here's your part. It's only a bit, for the start—not many lines, but you're on the stage a good share of one act. Better familiarize yourself with the lines between now and to-morrow morning."

"Been a dozen or more applicants here," continued Ratgenhauer. "Turned them all down. I want you to jump in and see what you can do." "I'll do my best and I shan't disappoint you," said Marian.

"I'm not afraid. I don't often get fooled," returned the producer. He reached over, took her hand and swiftly raised it to his lips and kissed it. Marian let him mechanically. "You're going to put it over big, little girl," he made haste to add before Marian could protest against his act.

On her way out she mused philosophically: "There's no use being too squeamish with this fellow. I'll have to put up just a little with his crudeness. I'll be cute and get all I can out of him. It's the only way to get ahead. With just a little humoring that man will do a whole lot for me. He's not such a bad sort after all."

Thus had the opening wedge of compromise entered her hitherto rigid sense of propriety. She solaced herself with the feeling that progress demanded the toll of a certain amount of compromise. A consuming ambition for theatrical success had thrown its siren mantle over her obscuring her earlier more puritanical viewpoint.

BUDAPEST, June 7.
 A mad murderer, August Tomics, has, since yesterday morning, made an impregnable fortress out of the steeple of the village church at Hoenlang, where, armed with a repeating rifle and 500 cartridges, he took refuge after killing a farmer and his wife and wounding their daughter. The police tried to reach the criminal, but were met with a fusillade, in which two were killed and fourteen wounded. The Chief of police confesses he is helpless until the fiend surrenders voluntarily, or uses all his cartridges.

LONDON, June 7.
 Suffragettes, for the first time to-day invaded Catholic Churches, and created scenes by attempting to harangue the congregations. The worshippers at Westminster Cathedral and the Church of the Oratory, Brompton, were both disturbed.

 Chaplin, Milne, Grenfell & Co. announce suspension of payment, and their books have been placed in the hands of accountants who will prepare a statement.

MONTREAL, June 7.
 Later cables from London, announce that Chaplin, Milne, Grenfell's liabilities are estimated at $5,000,000. The cables further say the failure was expected for some time.

LONDON, June 7.
 The all-absorbing topic of conversation on the Exchange yesterday was the news that Chaplin, Milne, Grenfell & Co. had suspended payment, with liabilities totalling in the neighborhood of $25,000,000. The suspended bank stands on Prince's Street, opposite the Bank of England and has a capital of $1,750,000, with thirty-three shareholders. Grenfells have long ceased as financial people in the city, and have figured prominently in West End social circles. One branch of the family is represented by Lord Desborough, Chairman of the London Chamber of Commerce, and Arthur M. Grenfell married Lady Victoria Grey, daughter of Earl Grey.

LONDON, June 7.
 Lord Mersey left to-day for Liverpool to join the Mauretania for New York, on his way to Quebec, to act as chairman in the Empress of Ireland disaster commission.

Not Meant For Him.

We have heard a postcard was the innocent means of giving Mr. A. J. Balfour the most embarrassing and stupefying moment he has ever experienced. He was staying at an Indian hotel when he found among his correspondence a postcard on which were these words, "Baby going on nicely. I really think she has grown since you left."

As Mr. Balfour is a confirmed bachelor, his consternation may be imagined—until, on turning over the postcard, he found that it was addressed to the Right Hon. J. B. Balfour, who happened to be staying at the hotel at the time, and to whom the card conveyed welcome news of the well-being of the last addition to his family.

His Own Blood

IN TWO REELS.
 At The Crescent.

The opening bill at the House of Features this week is a hummer. The special two reel subject is the society drama featuring Edwin August. The second picture, "Exposed by the Dictograph," is a very interesting story of modern life showing how a clever detective captured a criminal by the aid of this wonderful invention. For fun you should see the I. M. P. Comedy, "A Hot Finish." Mr. Sid Earnshaw, the popular vocalist of the Crescent is now appearing in his farewell week, during his engagement at the Palace he has won many friends in St. John's who will be pleased to learn that he has accepted an engagement to appear in the largest picture house in St. John, N.B. To-night he sings the pleasing ballad: "Why Hasn't Daddy Come Home From the War," and during the week will render some appropriate songs.

On Wednesday and Thursday the feature picture is a drama somewhat similar to "The Heart of a Jewess," entitled "Love in a Ghetto." If its pictures worth while you will be sure to see them at the Crescent. Coming in three reels: "Beauty and the Beast."

YESTERDAY'S COLLECTION.
 The annual collection for the Cemeteries was taken up at the Catholic Churches in the city yesterday and amounted to over $1,200, which is a little more than that subscribed last year.

Detained Vessels Sail.

The Marina and Meadowfield which had been delayed in port by the ice blockade at Explots, left for Botwood last evening, and it is expected that they will have no difficulty in reaching their destination, as the heavy winds of the past few days have practically cleared the coast.

A large quantity of pulp and paper is now awaiting shipment at Botwood, and the Tritonia leaves here for there to-day and will be followed by the Cape Breton, which is now undergoing repairs to her bow plates.

Montreal Man so Ill, Thought He Would Die of Stomach Trouble.

Found a Simple Remedy That Has Kept Him Well Ever Since.

The experience of Mr. Larose is one very common to-day:

Scarlet Fever at Odein

On Saturday last the Health Authorities were informed that an outbreak of scarlet fever had occurred at Odein, P.E.I., but the number of persons suffering from the disease was not stated.

Dr. McDonald, of Placentia, is caring for the patients, and the Magistrate is enforcing the quarantine regulations.

Lubin Players in Splendid Drama.

AT THE NICKEL TO-DAY.

The Nickel Theatre, which is gaining in popularity every day, has another programme of absorbing interest for to-day. The feature story is an admirably acted drama in which the best talent of the Lubin Co. is seen to advantage. It is an exceptionally good dramatic and thrilling first class acting. The Lubin Players, who are well known in St. John's, portray the story in a brilliant and effective manner which is admired by all. At to-day's show President Wilson of the United States, will be seen at the White House. A Mexican story, entitled "The Mission Funds" has been arranged for to-day. A beautiful Southern drama "Dixie-land" will also be shown to-day. A Pathe Weekly will tell the most interesting parts of the world's news. For Wednesday there will be a great Pathe Freres film D'Art in two parts "The Human Vulture."

Where Responsibility Lies.

No matter how large, or how small, a business may be, nobody can deny that its Office is the nerve centre of the firm. Every transaction, important or trivial, must be recorded at the Office. An order is received at the Office,—its history is recorded at the Office, and finally payment is received at the Office. If the Office makes an error the firm stands the loss. That's why you must be sure that your office is modernly and dependably equipped for the care of all important papers. To do this effectively you need the up-to-date equipment of the "GLOBE-WERNICKE CO." When sixty offices in St. John's have found this necessity this equipment can surely be of use to you. Mr. Percie Johnson represents this world known firm in Newfoundland—admit!
