THE FIGHT FOR MONASTIR.

PARIS, To-day. The Bulgarians continued to advance yesterday, a correspondent says: Fighting occurred on the heights near Monastir, Col. Vassilak, Commander of the Serb forces at Monastir, who once captured the city from the Turks, is said to have announced his purpose to carry the fighting even in the streets of the town; the Serb forces there consist of three thousand men.

BONAR LAW DECLARES WE SHALL FIGHT THROUGH DIFFICULTIES TO VICTORY.

LONDON, To-day. Andrew Bonar Law, Secretary for the Colonies, presiding last night at a St. Andrew's Day banquet, declared he felt more hopeful as to the outcome of the war than he had for months past. In reply to the statement of German newspapers which had said Britain was on the point of bankruptcy, Law said the country was a long way from it, but that he did not pretend we could go on indefinitely, on the present scale, but the wealth of Britain, he added, had not been touched as yet. She could bear the strain for a longer period than her enemies. Speaking of the great armies which Britain has raised, Law said, the number of men killed or wounded up to the present was three fold greater than the entire expeditionary force at the outbreak of the war. Referring to the conditions of affairs in the Near East, the Colonial Secretary said it was no better than could be gathered from the newspapers. I go further, he continued, and say that I look for no specially good news for many months to come, and we may have bad news long before we have good, but that does not alter my opinion. This war is not going to be won or lost in the East. If you look at the tendency as a whole, I am convinced we are moving slowly but inexorably towards victory. He expressed the opinion there was nothing further to fear either in the Western or Eastern theatre of war. In Flanders we are able not only to fire shell for shell, but two for the enemy's one. Similar conditions will soon prevail on the Russian front, I firmly believe the danger of invasion will not arise again in that quarter. Economic conditions in Germany produced by the silent pressure of the British navy are beginning to tell most strongly in our favor. The German people are ceasing to believe the victory is within their grasp. All the heroism which has been shown, all blood which has been sacrificed, will have been in vain unless we get the result that never again, for generations to come, will it be in the power of any manner of any group of men to turn the world into a charnel house like it has become.

THE AUSTRIAN CABINET CRISIS.

ZURICH, To-day. Rumors of impending changes in the Austrian Cabinet have excited surprise and some apprehension in political circles in Vienna, according to advice received here from Austrian capital. The Austrian Parliament has not been in session since the outbreak of war. Fear is expressed in some despatches reaching Zurich from Vienna that matters of great portent must arise to induce Ministerial change in the present critical moment.

Sagona For Cabot Strait

The s.s. Sagona, which arrived in port to-day from her final trip to the Labrador for this season, will, after discharging her cargo, be put in readiness for the Cabot Strait service, and will leave here about the end of the week. She will ply on that route in conjunction with the Kyle, while the Meggie will run from North Sydney to this port direct until the present freight congestion is relieved.

Arrested on Serious Charge.

Earl M. Burgess, a 29 year old master mariner, who was arrested under warrant at Burin by Const. Bartlett, charged with unlawfully casting away the schooner Henry M. Stanley on the Labrador in September last, was brought along to the city last night by that officer. The defendant comes up at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The Pallium

His Grace the Archbishop of St. John's within the past week received from Rome the Pallium which is the symbol of the Archiepiscopal Office and represents according to the discipline of the Catholic Church the fullness of Pastoral jurisdiction. It is the Pallium which really confers Archiepiscopal rank and brings with it the privileges attached to the office of Metropolitan of the Province.

There is a special ritual prescribed for the imposition of the Pallium and this important ceremony will take place in the Cathedral on Sunday, December 12th. The ceremony will be preceded by the celebration of Solemn High Mass which will be sung by the Right Rev. Mr. Sears, V. G., representing the Diocese of St. George's. The Pallium will be imposed by His Lordship Bishop March, of Harbour Grace, the senior suffragan of the Province. There will be also a sermon special to the occasion which will be delivered by the Very Rev. J. J. McDermott, Administrator of the Cathedral.

It is expected that there will be a large gathering of the Priests of the Archdiocese present on the occasion.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DIPH- THERIA.

We Ought to Have Fought Germany.

Says Grand Duchess of Luxembourg. "They have stolen my country. Like so many thieves, they sneaked into my beautiful land, and overnight they turned my flower gardens into open-air stables for their cavalry horses."

So spoke the fair ruler of Luxembourg when I recently saw her in her palace.

She is only twenty-one years of age; this beautiful girl-ruler of Luxembourg; slender, handsome, unmarried, and with five younger sisters to take care of; the youngest, Sophie, is only thirteen years old; next, Elizabeth, fourteen; Antoinette, sixteen; Hilda, eighteen; and Charlotte, nineteen. It was not easy for me to interview this Grand Duchess.

Faced by Men With Bayonets.

Facing the handsome entrance to the Palace there stand two Prussian guards. Whenever anyone approaches this entrance, unless one can produce a satisfactory parchment, he or she, faces two sharp-edged bayonets. "You must give me sufficient reason for your seeking an interview with her Highness." A pair of blades were levelled at my breast.

"But I have been her tutor. I—"

Then a slender girl rushed out of the gate towards me, totally ignoring the presence of the two unwanted guards, and holding out her arms cried:—

"My dear old teacher! Do not allow these horrible creatures to frighten you!"

Saying this she took my arm, and between the two bayonets we passed on into the Palace, where in previous years I had the honour of teaching her little Highness her first French lessons.

I had scarcely seated myself beside her when she broke out, with tears running down her cheeks, now crying, now sobbing, saying:—

"Not satisfied with destroying our beautiful scenery, they have also stolen our public buildings, our local government, our post, our educational establishments, and they have forcibly taken charge of our railroad, for which we have spent more than 15,000,000 francs."

"We Feel We Were Robbed."

"They seized our telegraph system, and whenever my people protested too strongly, they arrested them and sent them to remote Prussian military prisons; more than 200 of my leading citizens have been sent out of their country to Germany."

"My people, my once happy and prosperous people, are to-day poor and at the verge of starvation. Even I have to receive a permit from a Prussian officer before I can drive my own car on my own roads, in my own land. I must even get a permit from a Prussian officer before I can use the telephone which was established by our own funds."

"This is annexation; not annexation through conquest, but annexation through stealing."

"The people of Belgium have reason to be proud of their great achievements in fighting the arrogant conqueror, but we feel we were robbed in the small hours of the night."

"Had we suspected the treaty-breaking intentions of the Prussians we would have rushed to arms."

"If we had had forty-eight hours' notice we would have put at least 25,000 men on our eastern frontier."

"We are as big as Montenegro, but we had implicit faith in international law, and we thought we were immune."

"For all practical purposes, my country is annexed, and the misery of my people is deeper than that of the Belgians; in addition, we hang our heads in shame before the world for not having fought the stealers of our country."

"I Envy the Queen of the Belgians."

"I sincerely envy the Queen of the Belgians in her present position; for my present plight is more bitter than hers."

"They were cowards. For many years these Prussians have been plotting against my country in accordance with that general German plan."

"My country, with its 300,000 population, has been harboring hundreds of German spies, and when the appointed hour came these men turned out to be officers in the Imperial German armies. Even my two German drivers were disguised officers; and when that fateful first of August night had arrived they appeared in German uniforms."

"The Germans had their outposts established everywhere in my country, and my unsuspecting people had always treated these treacherous spies with the utmost consideration."

"They have published broadcast that I have received the Iron Cross from the German Emperor. It is not true. I have received a medal from the Red Cross officials."

Forced to Eat War Bread.

"And now my own people are starving. Imperial Germany has compensated my people for the damage they have done to my beautiful land. That is also false. They cannot compensate for the damage the 800,000 Germans have done to the scenery of my land with money; and even then, they have only paid the paltry sum of £20,000 for destroying hundreds of buildings for military reasons. They never mention the fact that we have spent more than £60,000 for our Red Cross in taking care of their wounded soldiers."

"And now my own people are starving, and they must beg their daily bread from the hands of their robbers."

The Luxemburgers are, indeed, starving.

The working-men who were formerly employed in the tanneries, distilleries, breweries and wine groves are now working for the invaders of their country, and instead of the wages they used to receive they now receive meal tickets, entitling them to "KK" bread, and, in rare instances, to "KK" bread, which is commonly known as the "war bread."

"The 'K' bread consists of fifty per cent. of rye, thirty per cent. of potatoes, and twenty per cent. of barley, oats and rice; while the 'KK' bread is made of thirty per cent. rye, thirty per cent. chaff, and forty per cent. pig's blood."

Alas! poor Luxembourg! And the little Grand Duchess, bereft of her liberty and her beloved country—Pearson's Weekly.
