The Price of Labrador Fish.

"The price of fish," said Hon.

W. F. Coaker, "is what I make it." Arguing from this major premise on the part of that benefactor of Newfoundland, we find that the price of Labrador to-day is far and away below that of last year, therefore accepting the syllogistic conclusion, Mr. Coaker is at the moment responsible for the slump in the price of Labrador fish, his political fortunes and redeem his financial self by carwhich will recoup the fishermen columns of space in the Advocate in a futile effort to refute Telegram in condemnation of Mr. Coaker's fatal experiment with the Fishery Export Regu- New Rector Visits lations.
