and Red Stockings. Both clubs having had nearly a season's practice before them, they entered the diamond feeling sure of victory, but the underhand pitching or throwing of the Reds, combined with their very sharp fielding, was too much for their opponents, and so they left the field with feelings not the best when it was found that they had received seven whitewashes at the hands of the Reds. To the credit of the Reduters, however, be it said their fielding was very good after the second innings, as only four runs were tallied in the the remaining seven, and but for their slow pitcher in the early part of the game, which ruined them, a very fine game for juniors, would have been played. The umpiring was impartial. The score:—

First Heat.—Lady Coulson took the lead, Black Donald next, White Rose third, and Anthony last. White Rose put on a spurt and passed Donald, keeping second place for nearly a quarter of a mile. All of them broke more than once during the round.

Third Heat.—Henry was put on to drive Lady Coulson; all the other horses being driven by the owners. The black horse again took the lead, Lady Coulson mext, followed by White Rose. The game between the INDEPENDENTS and STARS yesterday was a pooraffair—so far as the batting and fielding of the STARS were concerned. In short, they are no match for the INDEPENDENTS, as it was with the greatest difficulty they scored 2 solitary runs. Score—48 to 2.

Not the least important game of the day was the return match between two of our town junior clubs—the Resolutes and Red. Stockings. Both clubs having had nearly a season's practice before them, they entered the diamond feeling sure of victory, but the underhand pitch.

The Danbury News Man has the following:

"One of the passengers at the depot yesterday attracted the sympathetic attention of every beholders. The fingers on both hands were horribly deformed. One arm was bent backward at the elbow, and part of one ear was gone. His nose showed the sear of having been broken in two or three places; one eye was entirely gone; the right arm had been fractured, and all the upper front teeth were swept away. There were two scars of scalp wounds, and one long one on the right cheek. There was much speculation as to the cause of these misfortunes. Some thought he must have slipped into a raw-volcano when a child; others believed he had attempted to part two colliding locomotives; while others still were equally confident that at some time in his life he had been overtaken by a mowing machine. None of these contemplated the true state of the case, as it afterwards transpired that the grand cripple was the captain of a champion base ball club."
