Election Prophecies.

Some election prophecies will be sadly discounted in a few hours. The leading organ of the Opposition, the Toron to News-which has dropped the mask of independence-figures out a majority of at least twenty for Whitney The Liberal augurs promise ten or fifteen majority for the Government Even those who pride themselves or being shrewd observers are apt to see everything through the medium of their party prejudices, or their surroundings and associations. In any event they can only judge by surface indications, but often there are irresistible undercurrents, which are not perceived until the vote is counted and which create general surprise when they reveal themselves The late Hon, Alexander Mackenzie, on the eve of the general election of 1878, told a friend in this city that he was absolutely sure of a majority of at least 40, and produced a list, purporting to show how each constituency in the country would go. Sir In doing it he threw the safety brakes list and her children. We Irish are a stituency in the country would go. The bulk of the money collected came from European countries, especially from France, where the Catholics have always beer generous supporters of the society. It is in order to forestall any hostile action on the part of the French officials that Pius X, has thought it more desirable for the society to have its History of the One Honest and administrative offices in Rome, thus placing the money collected out of the reach of French anti-Catholic legislation. Several efforts in this direction had been made by preceding popes in years past in order that the Congrega tion of Propaganda, which has the general direction of all Catholic missicns should also have the handling of funds contributed for their support by officials strenuously resisted all attempts of the Roman officials to curtail the independence of the society, and even refused to admit as a member of the central administration at Lyons on agent of the Roman Congregation.
