FOR WOMEN WHO

Ladies who suffer from pale, sallow, bad complexions, yet who quite naturally object to the "loud," coarse and "made-up" appearance almost inevitably associated with the use of rouge—which also, by the way, is often distinctly harmful to the complexion—will be interested to learn that they can easily regain the velvety, child-like freshness of their complexions by using a simple inexpensive lotion composed of 2 ounces of rosewater, 1 dram tincture of benzoin and 2 ozs, of flowers of oxzoin. Shake well before applying with a soft cloth or sponge. When dry brush lightly with a soft cloth or a piece of chamois skin. If you will do this wheneve you go out you will always have a soft, natural, refined color, of which your friends cannot be suspicious, and of which you need not be ashamed.
