What is Catarrh?

From the Mail (Canada) Dec. 15.
Catarrh is a muce-purulent discharge caused by the presence and development of the vegetable parasite amæba in the internal lining membrane of the nose. This parasite is only developed under favorable circumstances, and these are: Morbid state of the blood, as the bighted corpuscle of tubercle, the germ poison of syphilis, mercury, toxemea, from the retention of the effected matter of the skin, suppressed perspiration, badly ventilated sleeping apartments, and other poisons that are germanated in the blood. These poisons keep the internal lining membrane of the nose in a constant state of irritation, ever ready for the deposit of the seeds of these germs, which spread up the nostrils and down the fauces or back of the throat, causing ulceration of the throat, up the eustachian tubes, causing deafness, burrowing in the vocal cords, causing hoarseness; usurping the praper structure of the bronchial tubes, ending in pulmonary consumption and death.

Many attempts have been made to discover a cure for this distressing disease by the use of inhalants and other ingenious devices, but none of these treatments can do a particle of good until the parasites are either destroyed or removed from the mucous tissue.

Some time since a well known physician of forty years' standing, after much experimenting, succeeded in discovering the necessary combination of ingredients which never falls if absolutely and permanently eradicating this horrible disease, whether standing for one year or forty years. Those who may be suffering from the above disease should, without delay, communicate with the beatings.

They are exhibiting now in London a Neapolitan lady of 25, Signora Vanatelli, as near a parody of the living skeleton as is possible to look at. She is about middle height, with a hatchet-edged face, ridged with a nose large enough for Goliath. This is her great feature, and suggests that she has run into proboscis as the Thibet sheep run ito tail. She might be packed into a section of water pipe. She is shaped from section of water pipe. She is shaped from shoulder to toe like a four-square timber joist. The exhibitors say it is necessary to stuff her ankle boots with cotton wool to keep the bones from slipping or grating at the joints.

For knitting knee-caps for children's hose: Take one-half of the number of stitches around the stocking for one needle and knit on the wrong side as on the heel, and then knit entirely around. Continue so to knit for two or three inches and you will have the desired fullness over the knee. Should the fullness seem too abrupt, knit two or three times around between the knitting on the wrong side.

The Quickest Thing on Record: —Is Fintd Lightning for neuralgia, head-ache toothache, etc. It does not blister or discolor the skin; requires but one application to banish all pain magically, without using any greasy liniment or carrying your head in a poultice for weeks. Dusty and tumbled crape may be thus renovated: Rip apart and shake to remove dust, or use a very fine bristle brush if any spots of dust have settled in the folds. Have ready boiling some beef brine diluted with a little water, and hold the pieces over the steem until pieces over the steam until dampened through, holding the folds straight until dry; then lay on a paper. After this operation is completed roll the crape up loosely.

—The Star dyes are unexcelled for heapness and fast colors. 135 All the bits of silk and old ribbons can be utilized in the manufacture of a soft, pretty tidy for the sofa cushion. Select colored cotton yarn and knit narrow strips every fourth time across, drawing narrow pieces of silk through the loops. When the strips are completed, sew together, and line with cashmere or other wool stuff. The beauty of the tidy will depend greatly on the brightness of the colors used and their harmonious arrangement.

In a letter to the London journals, Lord Waveney bears strong tribute to the beauty and suitability of Irish poplin for wall decoration, for which it is now being used by the queen and in the best English houses. He also proves that it is economihouses. He also proves that it is economical, which is the most important item in the question. In 1844 he had the drawing room of his London house hung with Irish tabaret, yellow, with white stripes. "The color and brilliancy," he says, "remain undiminished in intensity after near forty years' wear in London. A ruby tabaret has lasted equally well."

The electric light seems to be settling down to steady business. Milan is lighting its tramcars with it, and there is talk of its employment on some of the tramway lines in London. Nearly all the great English railways are going to use it in their carriages. Mr. Alfred de Rothschild lights his brougham with it. Mr. Swan of Swan & Edgar uses it all over his resi-dence at Bromley, and several private residences in the West End are illuminated from cellar to garret by moveable lamps, which are placed amid flowers, in epergnes, on the table, and even attached to the heads of some of the beds for those who desire to burn the midnight carbon.
