

CHAPTER XI.

FROM KAMLOOPS TO THE SEA.

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | PAGE. |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|
| Under a Roof again.—Kamloops Beef.—Sermon.—John Chinaman.—No Letters.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |       |
| —Lake Kamloops.—Savona's Ferry.—A Night Ride to Ashcroft.—Farming Country.—Sage Brush.—Irrigation.—A Broken Leg.—The Judge and the Miners.—Gold Mining.—Siwashes and Chinamen.—Indian Graves.—The Waggon Road.—Canyons of the Thompson.—Big-bugs.—Lytton.—The Rush to the Gold Mines.—Obstacles to Settlement.—Effects of Uneducated Salmon.          |       |
| —Boston Bar.—Jackass Mountain.—The Road along the Canyons.—Grand Scenery.—Suspension Bridge.—Spuzzum's Creek.—Yale.—Letters from Home.—Travelling by Steam again.—Steamer "Onward."—Hope.—The Judiciary of British Columbia.—New Westminster.—Salmon.—Assaying Office.—Burrard's Inlet.—Grand Potlatch.—The "Sir James Douglas."—General Remarks..... | 294   |

CHAPTER XII.

THE COAST, AND VANCOUVER'S ISLAND.

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |     |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| On the Waters of the Pacific.—Bute Inlet.—Valdes Island.—The Fiords of British Columbia.—Waddington Harbor.—Glaciers.—Chilcote Indians.—Massacre.—Party X.—Salmon.—Arran Rapids.—Seymour Narrows.—Menzie's Bay.—Party Y.—The Straits of Georgia.—New Settlements on Vancouver's Island.—Nanaimo.—Coal Mines.—Concert.—Mount Baker.—Pujet Sound.—San Juan Island.—The Olympian Mountains.—Victoria.—Esquimalt Harbor.—A Polyglot City.—The Last of Terry.—The Pacific Ocean.—Barclay Sound.—Alberni Inlet.—Sunset on the Pacific.—Return to Victoria.—The Past, Present, and Future.—The Home-stretch.—The Great American Desert..... | 323 |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|

CHAPTER XIII.

CONCLUSION.

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |     |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Crossing and recrossing the Continent.—Writers on the North-West.—Mineral Wealth behind Lake Superior.—The "Fertile-belt."—Our Fellow Travellers.—The "Rainbow" of the North-West.—Peace River.—Climate compared with Ontario.—Natural Riches of the Country.—The Russia of America.—Its Army of Construction.—The Pioneers.—Esprit de corps.—Hardships and Hazards.—Mournful Death-roll.—The Work of Construction.—Vast Breadth of the Dominion.—Its Varied Features.—Its Exhaustless Resources.—Its Constitution.—Its Queen..... | 351 |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|