Testimonials to the Value of 'World Wide.'

PROFESSOR CLARK MURRAY, D.D., LL.D., F.R.C.S.

McGill University, Jan. 5, 1901.

(To the Editor of 'World Wide.')

Sir,—I may say that I have examined 'World Wide' sufficiently to form a fair idea, not only of its general principle, but of the lines along which that principle is going to be worked out.

In Canada we are placed at a great disadvantage in the maintenance of a high class periodical literature, having to face the competition of the splendid periodicals that issue from the British and the American press. I have long thought that the best chance of success for a high class periodical in Canada would be for one following your plan. I look forward with some confidence to the success of your enterprise.

Yours, very truly,
J. CLARK MURRAY.

REV. W. SPARLING, B.A., B.D., Wesleyan College, Montreal. 12 Oxenden avenue, Montreal. -Jan. 8, 1901.

(To the Editor of 'World Wide.')

Dear Sir,—Such a paper as 'World Wide' is a necessity in this time, when the best people want to have the wide world brought near to them, and yet may not have the means to purchase or the time to read the leading journals and reviews.

Yours sincerely,
W. SPARLING.

REV. PROFESSOR CLARK, M.A., D.C.L., F.R.S.C. Trinity College, Toronto. Jan. 7, 1901.

(To the Editor of 'World Wide.')

Dear Sir,—The plan of your paper is excellent, and I found the carrying out of it good. Yours very truly,
WILLIAM CLARK.

PROFESSOR SCRIMGER, M.A., D.D. Presbyterian College, Montreal. Jan. 8, 1901.

(To the Editor of 'World Wide.')

Dear Sir,—I have read the opening number of your new eclectic weekly, entitled 'World Wide,' with much satisfaction. The selection seems to be admirably made, and the paper well fitted to help busy readers keep track of the great movements of thought throughout the world. I wish you success in your venture, and trust that you may at once find a sympathetic and appreciable public.

Yours very truly,
JOHN SCRIMGER.

About the 'Witness.'

Middleton, Annapolis Co., Dec. 27, 1900.

Dear Sirs,—Please find enclosed post-office order for $3.75 for club to 'Weekly Witness.' I would like to have got more subscribers for your valuable paper, but am an old man, nearly 82, and not being very well I could not get around.

I do like to read the 'Witness,' for it is a paper that states things as they are, and is fit for any lady to read. I have had the pleasure of reading it for nearly thirty years. With kind regards, I remain, yours truly,
JACOB SLOCOMB.

Salem, Oregon.

Dear Sir,—Your invaluable paper has been a visitor to the family of which I form a part for a great length of time, but I feel it to be due to you to express the high appreciation in which it is held by every member of the same. We believe that as a family newspaper it has no equal on this continent. Its news items are reliable, its general reading matter is interesting and wholesome, and its editorials are instructive, entertaining and elevating, and should anyone ask my advice as to what papers it would be best to subscribe for I would certainly say without hesitation: 'Well, there is one paper you cannot afford to be without, and that is the "Montreal Witness."'

Wishing you every success in your endeavor to advance the cause of sobriety, morality and righteousness, I am,
OSCAR O. CARPENTER.

Parkhill, Ont., Dec. 29, 1900.

Messrs. John Dougall & Son:

Dear Sirs,—Will you please send your good paper to the address given below. In trying to find a Christmas gift for my father (who has moved to Brantford), the happy thought that came to me was that this would be welcome. I received a letter yesterday in which he says:—'I received some nice presents, but yours is by far the best of any, and I very much appreciate it.' He adds also: 'The old "Montreal Witness," notwithstanding its moderate Gritism, is perhaps the best paper published in the Dominion.' This from an old life-long Conservative, you may consider a compliment, when I assure you he has read it faithfully for years. He is almost eighty-two years of age, and is as clear and able to form an opinion as ever.

(MRS.) JENNIE SCHRAM.

Staffa, Ont.

Dear Sirs,—Thank you for sending the paper so promptly and regularly. It is a good, cheap paper. My renewal subscription is enclosed. ANDREW OLIVER.
