

ment of the School term which shall be held in the second year of his attendance in Chambers or service under articles, may elect to attend, either during such term or during the next succeeding term, the lectures on such of the subjects of the second year of the School course as he may name, provided the number of such lectures shall, in the opinion of the Principal, reasonably approximate one-half of the whole number of lectures pertaining to the said second year of such course, and may complete his attendance upon the lectures of such second year in the following term by attending the lectures on the remaining subjects of such second year.

156 (e).—Any Student-at-Law or Articled Clerk, not being a graduate, who shall have duly passed the examination of the first year of the School course before the commencement of the School term which shall be held in the third year of his attendance in Chambers or service under articles may elect to attend in such term the lectures on such of the subjects of the second year of such course as may, in the opinion of the Principal, reasonably approximate one-half of the whole number of lectures pertaining to the said second year, and may complete his attendance on the lectures of said second year in the following term by attending the lectures on the remaining subjects of such second year.

156 (f).—Any Student-at-Law or Articled Clerk, not being a graduate, who shall have duly passed the examination of the second year of the School course before the commencement of the School term which shall be held in the fourth year of his attendance in Chambers or service under articles may elect to attend during such term the lectures on such of the subjects of the third year of the said course as he may name, provided the number of such lectures shall, in the opinion of the Principal, reasonably approximate one-half of the whole number of lectures pertaining to the said third year of such course, and shall complete his attendance on the lectures of the said third year in the following term by attending the lectures on the remaining subjects of the said third year.

156 (g).—Evr. / Student-at-Law and Articled Clerk entitled and desiring to make any such election as aforesaid must, before commencing his attendance on the lectures which he so elects to attend, deliver to the Principal his written election, specifying the subjects of the lectures which he so elects to attend, and obtain the Principal's approval of the same, and must also, before commencing such attendance, pay to the sub-Treasurer the School fee for the term; and such student or clerk, having paid such fee, and having had his attendance duly allowed in respect of the lectures which he shall so have elected to attend according to existing rules, shall not be required to pay any further fee for or in respect of his attendance on the remainder of the lectures pertaining to the same year of the School course.

156 (h).—Nothing in the preceding rules shall be deemed to permit any student or clerk to present himself at the examination of the second or third year of the School course before he shall have duly completed his attendance upon the lectures of the said second or third year, as the case may be.

Mr. Osler gave notice of motion as follows: That on Friday, the 23rd instant, he will move the first reading of a Rule to amend and add to Rules 33, 34, 35, 36, and 37, providing for the creation of the office of Vice-Treasurer, and to provide for his election and to define his powers.

Mr. Osler moved the following resolution, seconded by Mr. Irving: That the price of the Ontario Digest up to January 1st, 1893, be fixed at $5, and that the publishers be authorized to repay to the purchasers of the Digest at $7.50 who were, prior to July 1st, entitled to purchase the Digest at $5 the excess paid by them over $5, and that Rowsell & Hutchison be instructed to issue a fresh advertisement in the premises.—Carried.
