

1971/11/11

The President (President from French): I call to order the 11th plenary meeting of the Conference on Disarmament. Today, in accordance with the provisions of the Charter of the United Nations, the Conference will convene for its 11th plenary meeting. The Conference was established by the General Assembly of the United Nations in its resolution 2749 (XXVI) of 1971. The Conference's mandate is to negotiate a comprehensive and effective treaty for the prohibition of nuclear weapons. The Conference has held several sessions since its inception and has made significant progress in its work. The Conference's work is of the highest importance and will have a profound impact on the future of the world. The Conference's work is of the highest importance and will have a profound impact on the future of the world. The Conference's work is of the highest importance and will have a profound impact on the future of the world.

The President (President from French): I call to order the 11th plenary meeting of the Conference on Disarmament. Today, in accordance with the provisions of the Charter of the United Nations, the Conference will convene for its 11th plenary meeting. The Conference was established by the General Assembly of the United Nations in its resolution 2749 (XXVI) of 1971. The Conference's mandate is to negotiate a comprehensive and effective treaty for the prohibition of nuclear weapons. The Conference has held several sessions since its inception and has made significant progress in its work. The Conference's work is of the highest importance and will have a profound impact on the future of the world. The Conference's work is of the highest importance and will have a profound impact on the future of the world. The Conference's work is of the highest importance and will have a profound impact on the future of the world.

The President (President from French): I call to order the 11th plenary meeting of the Conference on Disarmament. Today, in accordance with the provisions of the Charter of the United Nations, the Conference will convene for its 11th plenary meeting. The Conference was established by the General Assembly of the United Nations in its resolution 2749 (XXVI) of 1971. The Conference's mandate is to negotiate a comprehensive and effective treaty for the prohibition of nuclear weapons. The Conference has held several sessions since its inception and has made significant progress in its work. The Conference's work is of the highest importance and will have a profound impact on the future of the world. The Conference's work is of the highest importance and will have a profound impact on the future of the world. The Conference's work is of the highest importance and will have a profound impact on the future of the world.

The President (President from French): I call to order the 11th plenary meeting of the Conference on Disarmament. Today, in accordance with the provisions of the Charter of the United Nations, the Conference will convene for its 11th plenary meeting. The Conference was established by the General Assembly of the United Nations in its resolution 2749 (XXVI) of 1971. The Conference's mandate is to negotiate a comprehensive and effective treaty for the prohibition of nuclear weapons. The Conference has held several sessions since its inception and has made significant progress in its work. The Conference's work is of the highest importance and will have a profound impact on the future of the world. The Conference's work is of the highest importance and will have a profound impact on the future of the world. The Conference's work is of the highest importance and will have a profound impact on the future of the world.

The President (President from French): I call to order the 11th plenary meeting of the Conference on Disarmament. Today, in accordance with the provisions of the Charter of the United Nations, the Conference will convene for its 11th plenary meeting. The Conference was established by the General Assembly of the United Nations in its resolution 2749 (XXVI) of 1971. The Conference's mandate is to negotiate a comprehensive and effective treaty for the prohibition of nuclear weapons. The Conference has held several sessions since its inception and has made significant progress in its work. The Conference's work is of the highest importance and will have a profound impact on the future of the world. The Conference's work is of the highest importance and will have a profound impact on the future of the world. The Conference's work is of the highest importance and will have a profound impact on the future of the world.

