

there is too much investment. This perception that Canadian investment is not too high is shared across all political regions of the nation.