 Address in reply, 147. Little in speech from the throne sufficiently definite to form real basis of any clear discussion; military display at opening of parliament; decline in the influence of the League of Nations and practical abandonment of the disarmament conference; manifestations of an intense economic nationalism; abandonment of even the forms of democracy in Newfoundland; facing a new type of slavery in the matter of bondage to the bondholders, 147; financial condition of provinces and municipalities of the west; refusal of doctors in Winnipeg to give free medical attendance to recipients of relief, 148; battle of figures; machine gun tanks and warlike equipment for militia used in Stratford strike; how fortunes have been made in this country; formation by W J. Carrique of the Canadian Street Railway Advertising Company; strike of the lumber workers in northern Ontario and Rouyn district, 149; government a wet nurse to derelict enterprises; guaranteeing loans to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company; A. V. Dicey on "The Law of the Constitution"; Mr. Bennett on the royal prerogative, 150; taking over of all coined gold under President Roosevelt; making gold mining a public work for the general advantage of Canada; establishing work camps in gold mining areas for the unemployed; destination of large proportion of our nickel for manufacture of war munitions; public works program of government and central bank; omission from the speech of usual reference to this season's bountiful harvest, 151; comment of western newspapers on reduction in wheat production; amount of our national debt; Mr. McMillan (Mackenzie) on conscription of wealth to wipe out Canada's debt burden, 152; Hon. Vincent Massey on the new economic nationalism; national planning the foundation of Canada's international relations, 153
 Amendment, 560, 593. Three great outstanding questions confronting people of Canada: unemployment, the public debt, deplorable conditions of agriculture; extent of unemployment; essential need for amendment to British North America Act placing responsi-
