

Business of Supply

Anti-gaullist demonstrations by French students stopped when responsible people told the government: We are with you and we will back you.

Then the revolutionary students returned home and the population listened to common sense and to reason.

As a Quebecker, I am deeply sorry to see that some people in Quebec who have certain responsibilities towards their community, although perhaps not actively involved in politics, witness such events as those of last week without uttering one word or showing some reaction.

It is now high time that the voice of common sense and reason be heard in Quebec. May I tell my colleagues from Quebec that regardless of their political affiliation, they must stand united with us and urge the responsible people in that province to support every legislative proposal aimed at saving the Quebec community, both French-speaking and English-speaking.

Some hon. Members: Hear, hear.

[English]

Mr. Deputy Speaker: Order, please. It was my understanding of the consensus of the House that the hon. member be given until ten o'clock. If that was the agreement, then pursuant to section 5 of Standing Order 38 it is my duty to interrupt these proceedings and to put forthwith the question on the motion now before the House.

Is it the pleasure of the House to adopt the said motion?

Some hon. Members: On division.

Motion (Mr. Cullen) agreed to.

Hon. H. A. Olson (Minister of Agriculture): Mr. Speaker, I move:

That the said Address be engrossed and presented to His Excellency the Governor General by Mr. Speaker.

Motion agreed to.

GOVERNMENT ORDERS

BUSINESS OF SUPPLY

Hon. H. A. Olson (Minister of Agriculture): Mr. Speaker, I move:

That the House at its next sitting consider the business of supply.

Motion agreed to.

[Mr. Asselin.]

BUSINESS OF THE HOUSE

Mr. Baldwin: Mr. Speaker, there were discussions this afternoon about the nature of the business for tomorrow. Perhaps at this time the acting government house leader would like to enlighten hon. members on this score.

Mr. Olson: Mr. Speaker, if the bills which the House has just considered and given first reading have been printed and are ready, we will proceed with the second reading of the Income Tax bill, followed by the Customs
