

CHAPTER XIII.

Captain Williams met with difficulty in raising another party—Comanches and their horsemanship, and way of fighting on horseback—On 25th of December Joseph and William Cooper set out with Captain Williams—Fort Osage, Osage river—Neasho river—Their sufferings—Want of food—Walnuts—They kill eight squirrels—Indian camps and Osage Indians—An Indian squaw prepares a repast for the men—One of the men faints—Kill two buffalo bulls—Strong wind—Wild horses—Wolves, their nature—A poor little wolf and a fat coon—An old wild stud killed—His meat rank—They reach the caches—Kill their horses—Kill six buffalo—Make bull boat—Suffering from cold—The Plum thicket—A band of wolves after a bull—A prayer-book is burnt—Party discovered by Comanches—Move to another thicket—Set off down the river—Again reach the Missouri 138

CHAPTER XIV.

Arkansas river—Hunter's paradise—Its source—Statements of Pike—Workman and Spencer descend the Colorado—Scenery of that river—Spanish Caravan—They go to Upper California—Spend the winter in that country, examining the country—Return to Santa Fe 144

CHAPTER XV.

The two trappers try their luck in Santa Fe for several years—Santa Fe trade opens—An opportunity to return to the States—An escort sent by the Governor of Santa Fe—Captain Viscano's dreadful fight with the Comanches on the Semirone—Several killed on both sides—The nocturnal tramp express to Captain Riley on the Arkansas—Mysterious horse and thousands of mysteries—A bold attempt, result amusing, 170

CHAPTER XVI.

People of California—Priests—Missionary establishments—Amusements—Ball and bear fights—Immense number of horses and cattle . 200