

BAUGH FOUND GUILTY ON ALL THREE COUNTS

Montreal Broker Will Appeal From Conviction Registered in Sessions Court.

MOTHER GOES HIS BAIL

Date Set for Hearing Appeal is Nineteenth of Next Month.

After a deliberation of an hour and a quarter, the jury in the sessions court yesterday afternoon at 4.45, returned a verdict finding Edward L. Baugh, Montreal, broker, guilty of conspiracy, Judge Winchester asked the foreman of the jury if they had found any separate verdict on the other two indictments, and the foreman replied that the verdict covered all three of the counts.

T. C. Robinson, counsel for Baugh, asked for a reserved case, so that he would be able to take to the appellate court the seven different points of the charge which he objected to at the preliminary of the trial in the sessions. At the first sitting of the case Judge Winchester ruled against Mr. Robinson's objections, but granted the reserved case. His honor set the date of appeal for Jan. 19. Baugh was allowed bail on the renewal of the $20,000 bonds.

Mrs. Florence Baugh, mother of the accused, was in the court and after the jury had presented their verdict, walked nervously to the bench, holding her son's hand, to renew the bail.

When the fourth day's hearing was commenced in the morning, counsel for the defence asked for the original agreement between Garlepy and Stinson, whereby Garlepy was to get $1900 for his evidence after the trial.

J. C. Twitell, the private detective whom Baugh engaged on Nov. 19, stated that he was hired by Baugh to follow him and watch Haines. He swore that he saw Baugh and Haines conversing on that evening at the corner of Victoria and Adelaide streets. The detective denied that Baugh had given him the name of Elliott instead of Haines, to watch.

The jury concluded both sides of the evidence.

For several years it has been the motto of the Toronto Advertising Club to have a Christmas tree and treat for the children through the city who would not otherwise enjoy Christmas festivities. Last night this big annual event was held in the club quarters on Yonge street, where 105 children were entertained.

Fifteen motor cars, belonging to members of the club, conveyed the children to and from their homes. When the children first arrived at the club they were shown the large, illuminated tree and then given their supper. After supper they were shown several reels of moving pictures. Following this the presents were distributed by "Santa Claus," well acted by Frank Madden.

The children were gathered from the East End Day Nursery, Memorial Institute, Trinity Church and the Central Neighborhood Workers' Association.

Each child received a stocking, a sack and a box. The stockings contained samples of all kinds and candies. The sack contained a sweater coat and a pair of stockings, while the box contained cake, oranges and nuts. The different articles were distributed by the club members.

Dr. Cassell's Tablets overcome vital exhaustion that they are so sure a remedy for nerve breakdown, brain lag, and all run-down conditions. They contain valuable nerve nutrients and body builders, which by strengthening the nerves and enriching the blood restore vital power to the whole system, and so build up new strength and physical vigour.

Sir John Campbell, Bart., C.B., formerly Major-General in the Royal Artillery, derived so much benefit from taking Dr. Cassell's Tablets that he wrote to the proprietors in praise of the remedy. He said: "I have pleasure in stating that I have derived great benefit from Dr. Cassell's Tablets, and have found them remarkably effective in restoring the nerve energy and physical vigour which advancing years naturally impair. They suit me admirably and I have every confidence in recommending them as a safe and reliable bodily restorative." The experience of this great soldier is the experience of uncounted thousands in all parts of the world. They are the surest of all restoratives, and equally suitable for old or young. A British remedy from first to last.

Dr. Cassell's Tablets are Nutritive, Restorative, Alterative, and Anti-Spasmic, and of great therapeutic value in all derangements of the Nerve and Functional Systems in old or young. They are the recognized modern remedy for Nervous Breakdown, Nerve and Spinal Paralysis, Infantile Paralysis, Rickets, St. Vitus' Dance, Neuritis, Sleeplessness, Kidney Disease, Dyspepsia, Stomach Catarrh, Brain Fog, Headache, Palpitation, Wasting Diseases, Loss of Flesh, and Premature Decay. Specially valuable for Nursing Mothers and during the Critical Periods of Life.

Druggists and Dealers throughout Canada sell Dr. Cassell's Tablets. If not procurable in your city send to the sole agents, Harold F. Ritchie & Co., Ltd., 10, McCull Street, Toronto; one tube 50 cents, six tubes for the price of five. War Tax Extra, 2 cents per tube.

LORD CECIL REPLIES TO CARPING CRITICS

Attacks on Cabinet Described by Him as Disgraceful and Un-British.

FOE'S TRADE CRUSHED

Runciman Says Enemy is Beaten in a Commercial Sense.

vent goods going into Germany has been done. One of the members of the house of commons has said that the only way effectively to blockade Germany is to go to war with the neutral countries surrounding Germany. I do not say most frankly that this is the policy, but I say that it is the only way to blockade Germany. The great difficulty in a blockade is to discriminate between goods with an enemy destination and those genuinely for consumption in neutral countries.

Mr. Runciman spoke of the steps the board of trade was taking to prepare for commercial conditions after the war, beginning with the declaration: "So far as commerce is concerned Germany is a beaten nation, and it is for us to see that it does not recover."

British Naval Policy. Mr. Balfour, replying to various speakers who had complained of the shortage of ships for mercantile purposes, said that the whole possibility of carrying on the war rested on the British navy and its mercantile fleet. He was willing to confess that there had probably been some waste of tonnage, but the first business of the admiralty was not to save tonnage, but to win battles.

"We cannot expect to carry on a war with the same economy that we manage the P. & O. of Liverpool or Hull," said the first lord. "The main thing has been to see that every warship was ready to fight wherever required, and that every soldier was supplied with all necessary to make him the best fighting unit."

He urged that the wisest remedy for the shortage of tonnage was to go on with the building of merchant ships, which he thought should be recognized as war work, second only to the manufacture of munitions.

Beaten in Commerce. "As far as commerce is concerned, Germany is a beaten nation, and it is for us to see that it does not recover," Mr. Runciman said, "and the board of trade, told the house of commons in reviewing the steps taken by the board of reorganization of British industries after the war."

"There is scarcely a single department of public life," Mr. Runciman said, "about which we have not been thinking what likely will happen when the war is over, and how best to prepare for future contingencies."

"Nothing in commercial life will start off when the war is over in the same condition as when it began, and in every one relationship with the central powers zoliverine is bound to conflict with our interests."

After enumerating the number of subjects which the board of trade was specially investigating, among them being the ownership of real property by aliens, Mr. Runciman instanced the danger of such ownership, stating that he knew of one coal field in the Midlands, owned by Germans and trading under an English title, which was now sold, and that the British were prevented from exploiting the coal field.

He added: "That cannot continue after the war. The board is taking great care to allow no German to stand in its way in England. We are not going to be especially tender to the Germans."

Mr. Runciman specially referred to the German control of oil fields in Europe, remarking that this raw material was of such vital interest to Great Britain that the board was taking special steps to see how much of the German control of this product could be transferred to Great Britain, so that the latter's interest would be safeguarded.

Continuing, he said: "Chance to Get Trade."

"German trade in South America and the east has received a serious blow, and it is the duty of the board to see that our business men have every advantage."

Mr. Runciman referred to the indications of a belief on the continent that Great Britain, in thus looking ahead was inclined to think of the return of her commercial prosperity rather than of "throwing ourselves heart and soul into the attainment of the main object."

"That is entirely untrue," the president said. "I would not like it to be imagined in France, in Russia and in Italy that in preparing for future contingencies we were contemplating an early peace. There is no peace to be made until we are victorious in any way which would conflict with the interests of the entente allies."

boxes were filled with women, among them being Lady Borden. The premier spoke as follows: "I am grateful to the Pillgrims of New York for their reception and for many invitations to visit their country, which hitherto I have been unable to accept."

"A political leader in a country of vast area and scattered population must inevitably be somewhat difficult to reach, and I may claim to be a young comrade."

"During the past half-century or more those relations have on the whole been friendly, and during the past twenty-five years these relations have steadily improved, and I believe they were never more friendly than at the present time."

"Honour to Statesmen. "All honor to the statesmen who so guided the affairs of either country as to prevent the awful calamity of war between two kindred people. Consider for a moment the Canada which has been taken. From 1870 up to the present time on how many occasions have differences important and serious been caused by resort to the peaceful arbitration of an international tribunal? At Geneva in 1872, at Halifax in 1877, at Paris in 1882, again at Paris in 1890, at Geneva in 1902, and at The Hague in 1907, on each occasion The Hague given by a great international court, to whom each country had submitted for consideration and determination the claims which it put forward, and the national interests therein involved have been decided in a way which has been followed, and I ask what stronger or more earnest effort could Sir Edward Grey have made for that purpose?"

"May I recall to you the provisions of a treaty made in 1910, by which an international joint commission was established for the determination of all disputes arising between Canada and the United States in respect of the use of boundary waters? The tenth article contemplates a reference to the commission, by consent of the two nations, of any difference arising between them, and it is thus of the most comprehensive character."

"The ideals involved in this conflict are wholly irreconcilable and until one of them finally prevails no peace can be enduring. However hard the struggle may be and whatever sacrifices it may entail, the Canadian people will not shrink from the test. They are a peace-loving and not a militarist people, but their conviction of the cause for which they are fighting is such as to animate them with the sternest resolve to make it triumphant."
