"An admirable story. The 'Master Mariner' is a quaint and amusing character, but his homely talk is a treasure of practical religious truth; and the book is one which will encourage kindly feeling and high principles of action in the reader's mind."

The Christian.

"A capital book for all classes, old and young, lovers and married. A good story told with much feeling. No one will read it without having their faith in God strengthened."

"A thrilling story, full of incident yet free from sensationalism, and of a sound and healthy religious tone."
