

gether, when they may choose any one of their number they may think proper.

26. No committee shall be discharged until all debts contracted by it shall have been paid.

27. When there is no question before the Council no debate whatever shall be allowed, save questions asking for information, which shall be at the option of the President to entertain.

28. All questions of order as to the propriety of entertaining the consideration of any subject may be debated.

29. The President, when in the chair, shall state every question coming before the Council, and immediately before it is put to vote shall ask—"Are you ready for the question?" when it shall be open for debate.

30. The President need not rise from his seat to state a question, but must rise to put a question.

31. When the Chairman has arisen to put the question all debate shall cease, and he shall immediately proceed to declare the result of the vote on the question which has been under consideration.