

for a Breakfast Appetizer and Morning Refresher, sparkling delicious RAD-NOR is unequalled.

to Toronto

USED UP AND OUT OF DATE.

DICKSON & TOWNSEND TELEPHONE 2775 We are prepared to undertake General Business of all kinds at the lowest rates.

NO MISTAKE ABOUT THIS.

D'Alton McCarthy is Now the Idol in the Prairie Province.

THE RAIN MADE NO DIFFERENCE

Winnipeggers Jammed the Skating Rink to Hear Him.

A Carriage Driven by White Horses was Not Used. Because when the Leader of the Third Party appeared he was carried from the Depot to the Rink on the shoulders of his admirers—Four Thousand People in the Audience.

McCarthy's Speech Assisted with Cheers and Applause with Other Members of the Government on the Stage. He Addressed the School Question. He Then Spoke at Length.

Winnipeg, May 25.—(Special.) A heavy downpour of rain, which continued through the day, threatened to badly interfere with the reception to D'Alton McCarthy here this evening, but even the rain, a chilling wind and streets ankle deep in mud did not dampen the enthusiasm of Mr. McCarthy's admirers, who turned out in full force and gave him such a reception as he will not soon forget.

About noon a party of Winnipeggers, composed of the Reception Committee, left by special train to meet Mr. McCarthy at Selkirk. Among the members of this committee were Attorney-General Bifton, Messrs. Jamieson, Alderman Froville, B. J. Whittle, Hon. Mr. Cameron, H. M. Howell, Hon. Mr. McMillan, Hon. Joseph Martin, Isaac Campbell and a score of others.

The arrangement was similar to that carried out on Sir Charles Tupper's visit. Mr. McCarthy being delayed for several hours at Selkirk, so as to reach Winnipeg by special train at half past 7 o'clock, an hour most convenient for the parade.

Tremendous Cheering for McCarthy. When the train pulled into the depot and Mr. McCarthy appeared, there was tremendous cheering, while the band played "See the Conquering Hero Comes." A carriage, driven by four white horses, was waiting for Mr. McCarthy's reception, but it was never occupied. As the third party leader approached, the enthusiasm of his Winnipeg admirers broke the ordinary bounds, and these men, who had been waiting for him, picked him up bodily and lifted him on their shoulders.

In the arms of a dozen sturdy men, Mr. McCarthy was carried along Main street, where he was followed by an immense crowd, cheering most enthusiastically.

The reception was certainly a very cordial one and fully up to the expectations of the most ardent promoters.

Some People Assembled. The parade wound up at a big skating rink building, which was densely packed with people, fully 4000, if not more, being in the corner of the spacious auditorium.

There was tremendous cheering when Mr. McCarthy was carried into the hall and this was repeated when Joseph Martin appeared.

The hall was decorated with appropriate mottoes, among them "Hands Off Public Schools," "No Coercion," and several others of like character.

Mayor Jameson Presided. R. W. Jameson, Mayor of the city, presided, and after a speech of welcome, asked the audience to join singing the National Anthem. This being done, Mr. McCarthy introduced and received a great ovation.

After returning thanks for his splendid reception, Mr. McCarthy then declared the establishment of national schools a right to separate schools, Manitoba had full power to abolish separate schools, and that it was the duty of the Government to do so.

Neither was it violating any rights of Catholics, for they had been held there by no special rights.

Attacks the Government. Then he attacked the Dominion Government for the position it had assumed on the school question, charging the Government with manifest unfairness. The Conservative Government, he declared, had decided on the execution of Manitoba, and that he had a mock trial afterwards. "The Government was completely in the power of the Roman Catholic Church and dared do nothing but what that church dictated."

Mr. McCarthy entered into elaborate argument, demonstrating that the Federal Government was not called upon to interfere, contending that the decision was solely at church dictation. He contended further that the Privy Council of England had done beyond what it had been asked to do.

Manitoba can Govern itself. Manitoba, however, was not bound to be governed by these eminent gentlemen at Downing street, he said. "Manitoba can govern itself." This expression was received with great applause.

Concluding, Mr. McCarthy said Manitoba's various answers to the demands of the Dominion Government showed firmness, yet it had due respect for the constitution. Mr. McCarthy created the greatest excitement by exhibiting a copy of the Remedial Bill, showing as he put it, "how the few clauses passed and were beautifully amended and wonderfully improved."

Mr. McCarthy begged the people of Manitoba not to be misled by other issues. The school question, he declared, was the chief issue, and that every man when he marked his ballot at the coming election marked it for or against separate schools. He noted that in the west, he said, this question over-shadowed all others.

Next Mr. McCarthy reviewed Hugh John Macdonald's position on the school question. His change of front on this question, he said, had been noted and he was a weak man and he could not withdraw his charge that Hugh John

DEATH RAN IN THE STORM

Fifty People Killed and Injured by a Cyclone in Iowa.

CHICAGO'S SUBURBS WERE SWEEPED

Many Residences Were Topped Over and Completely Wrecked.

The Chicago Great Western Railway Goes Two Stations—One Was Demolished by Wind and the Other Was Carried Away by Flood—Mrs. Clark Loses Her Four Children—Two Boats Working in the Streets of Galena, Ill.—Sad Stories of Disaster and Loss of Life.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 25.—Nine persons were killed and several injured in a cyclone which struck near this city at midnight. The storm struck Valeria, a small town 15 miles east of here. It blew the Maple Leaf Depot into splinters, killing four persons. Five other people, living near the depot, were also killed. Oswalt, a mining town, two miles south of Valeria, was much larger than the latter town, it is supposed to have suffered even worse. Fifty killed or injured.

Des Moines, Ia., May 25.—The most alarming reports were being received here this morning respecting the cyclone which swept over Polk, Story and Jasper Counties shortly after midnight last night. Owing to the almost total prostration of telegraph and telephone wires, it is not possible to verify the reports, but indications are that the casualties will reach 50 killed or injured.

Fourteen persons are reported killed in the three towns of Valeria, Bondurant and Ankeny. The two latter towns are in Jasper County, directly east. So far as heard from, Slater is the only town in Story County which suffered, but as there is no means of communication with that section this morning there is every probability that the restoration of telegraphic communication will bring news of disasters as yet unreported.

A telephone message from Berwick says that a courier just in states that 24 persons were killed at Bondurant, 25 at Valeria and three at Ankeny.

Killed in the Railway Depot. Later—the situation grows worse as authentic news comes from the cyclone district. At Valeria it is now known that 15 persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

A despatch from Santiago, this country, says the storm was unprecedented in its fury in that section. Three persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

A despatch from Santiago, this country, says the storm was unprecedented in its fury in that section. Three persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

A despatch from Santiago, this country, says the storm was unprecedented in its fury in that section. Three persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

A despatch from Santiago, this country, says the storm was unprecedented in its fury in that section. Three persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

A despatch from Santiago, this country, says the storm was unprecedented in its fury in that section. Three persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

A despatch from Santiago, this country, says the storm was unprecedented in its fury in that section. Three persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

A despatch from Santiago, this country, says the storm was unprecedented in its fury in that section. Three persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

A despatch from Santiago, this country, says the storm was unprecedented in its fury in that section. Three persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

A despatch from Santiago, this country, says the storm was unprecedented in its fury in that section. Three persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

A despatch from Santiago, this country, says the storm was unprecedented in its fury in that section. Three persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

A despatch from Santiago, this country, says the storm was unprecedented in its fury in that section. Three persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

A despatch from Santiago, this country, says the storm was unprecedented in its fury in that section. Three persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

A despatch from Santiago, this country, says the storm was unprecedented in its fury in that section. Three persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

A despatch from Santiago, this country, says the storm was unprecedented in its fury in that section. Three persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

A despatch from Santiago, this country, says the storm was unprecedented in its fury in that section. Three persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

A despatch from Santiago, this country, says the storm was unprecedented in its fury in that section. Three persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

A despatch from Santiago, this country, says the storm was unprecedented in its fury in that section. Three persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

A despatch from Santiago, this country, says the storm was unprecedented in its fury in that section. Three persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

A despatch from Santiago, this country, says the storm was unprecedented in its fury in that section. Three persons were killed, the number being first placed at five. Most of those killed were in the depot of the Chicago Great Western. Several of them having just alighted from the train, and others having taken refuge from the rain. The depot was literally blown to pieces. The west-bound passenger train escaped the cyclone but a few minutes.

AT WILSON AND EAST RAVENSWOOD

Part of the plate glass windows in a drug store were blown in and board sidewalks went up into the air, coming back to the earth in splinters. Shade trees, outhouses, etc., were demolished in all directions.

GALENA, ILL., INUNDATED.

Two Boats Doing Service in the Business Streets—A Woman Drowned.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

AT WILSON AND EAST RAVENSWOOD

Part of the plate glass windows in a drug store were blown in and board sidewalks went up into the air, coming back to the earth in splinters. Shade trees, outhouses, etc., were demolished in all directions.

GALENA, ILL., INUNDATED.

Two Boats Doing Service in the Business Streets—A Woman Drowned.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

Galena, Ill., May 25.—A violent east-gale, which was the result of a cloudburst. Danger signals called people from their beds in the night, and in efforts to save themselves and property. Water rushing in torrents from the hills to the low ground, and the sudden rise of the Galena River, turned the down-town streets into rivers. The water was so high that it was impossible to turn the streets into rivers.

AT WILSON AND EAST RAVENSWOOD

Part of the plate glass windows in a drug store were blown in and board sidewalks went up into the air, coming back to the earth in splinters. Shade trees, outhouses, etc., were demolished in all directions.

GALENA, ILL., INUNDATED.

Two Boats Doing Service in the Business Streets—A Woman Drowned.