FRENCH STILL HOLD CAPTURED POSITION

Took Four Hundred Prisoners on Plateaux-Repel Champagne Attack.

Paris, May 23.—The official comm nication issued by the war office tonight reads:

A sea-going suction dredge has been purchased from the war department by a ship broker and converted into a schooner. This is thought to be the first time that a vessel of this character has been changed to a merchant ship to work under canvas.

* WAR SUMMARY *

THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

which dominate the Ailette Valley from the Vauclere and Californie Plateau. This success gives the French a clear field of observation over important German defences. The recent French advance in the Champagne, which gave them the last of the high ground and observation of the Rheims Plateau, it seems, forestalled a German offensive designed by Von Hindenburg, it is said, was an eye-witness of the German rout. The French keep up their great dash and supreme courage in spite of their losses, in fact, the soldiers have attained a mood of exhaltation on account of their uniform progress. Nivelle is striving to create another Sedan and his plans, it is said, have yet a fair chance of succeeding.

General Nivelle still retains the active command of the fighting group of French armies, as shown by despatches from the front. The French Government, therefore, really made its recent changes with the object of improving the army control and not because Nivelle's work caused them disappointment. General Petain, a past master in the art of warfare, as commander in chief, and General Foch, as chief of staff, relieve Nivelle of some of his more burdensome extraheous duties and allow him to concentrate on the immediate task before him. The changes also had as part of their origin the need to silence the tongues of the worst types of French politicians. They do not imply any alteration in the offensive policy of the French.

The resumption of an intense artillery action on the Julian front heralds the resumption of the Italian advance. The chief fighting, so far, has had for its object the storming of all the western heights which lead to the plateau, east of Gorizia and dominate that town. The Italians are striving to bring the Austrian lines of communication under the fire of their guns. The present drum-fire reported, however, is proceeding on the Carso Plateau, on the road to Trieste. In order to proceed with the invasion of Austria-Hungary, so as to impose the allied terms at Vienna, the Italian army is moving forward on a broad front. Foreseeing what is coming the Austrians have begun a frantic movement for peace. This can hardly save them from the dismembers are of the Austrians have begun a frantic movement for peace. ERMAN mines and submarines destroyed last week three more British vessels altogether than and the same number of vessels of over

1600 tons as they destroyed in the preceding week. The increased activity of the U-boats in the Mediterranean may have prevented the further reasing of the total losses by the action of the new British anti-submarine methods. The total arrivals at and sailings from British ports last week was 5423, against 5120 the week before. This shows a big increase in the number of vessels in the merchant service and probably an improvement

Its Industries and Real Estate

New Toronto has been active for the past twelve months in securing large industries. They have the right argument—Real Estate is low. Today the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company and the Du Pont Fabrikoid Company are completing their buildings and will be operating within a month or two. The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company will employ fifteen hundred hands and the Du Pont Fabrikoid Company one hundred. Brown's Copper & Brass Rolling Mills have enlarged their plant and are increasing their staff considerably. Brown's mills are compelled to house hundreds of men in their own buildings, owing to the shortage of houses. What is to become of the new population? Conditions are serious.
