LAST APPEAL TO TORONTO WOMEN

To Inspire and Rouse Citizens to Sense of Duty in Crisis.

EVERYONE CAN HELP

Great Parade Today an Object Lesson to Hearts Untouched.

This is the last call to Toronto women to do their part to make the women's parade of today a spectacle impressive enough to move all who may witness their cutting, and to inspire themselves to do more and more for the cause which is now near to the heart of every thinking man, woman and child in the country—the thought of how best to win victory and bring the war to an end.

Once the thought is presented the problem will not remain long unanswered. There is only one reply, there may be many ways of coming to a conclusion. The reply is for everyone at once to do his or her "bit" and at present the "bit" for a few thousand more of Toronto's men is to fill the gaps in the ranks of the quota assigned to our city, while for just as many women, there is the call to waken up and see what there is for them to do, and then to set about and do it.

This is what it is hoped will be the result of today's parade. Object lessons are always more appealing than the recital of mere abstractions and the presence in the parade of the wives, mothers and children of the men who have answered the call of their country is sure to find a responsive chord in hearts which up to the present have remained untouched.

Some of the motives carried will also speak. For example, "Our Sons Serve," "Our Fathers Serve," "Why Should Some Men Defend Their Country and Others Stay Behind?" The order of the procession has already been published. Numbers have been given the different bodies that will take part, and corresponding numbers will be found on the street posts.

The route of the procession will be from Charles street round the park to College, east to Yonge, south to Albert, down James to Queen, past the city hall, where the mayor and others will stand at the flag-draped entrance, west to the avenue and north to the park.

MEXICAN WAR WILL MAKE THE U.S. MORE PRO-ALLY

Dr. Abbott Says Americans Feel That Tremendous Moral Opportunity is Lost.

SURPRISED AT CANADA

They Are Amazed at Magnitude of Tasks Accomplished by People of Dominion.

"Comparison between the issues in Mexico and in Flanders will make the Americans more pro-ally than ever," said Dr. A. H. Abbott, who has just returned from Cleveland, Ohio. "It makes us feel small to think what we are fighting for and what you are fighting for," one American he met there told Dr. Abbott.

"I could not help feeling sorry for them," said Dr. Abbott. "No matter how long they fight and how much it may cost them they cannot get much out of it. The mother whose son falls can only say, 'He was killed in the Mexican war,' not 'He died fighting for the liberty of the world.'"

"No High Moral Issue. We are fighting for something big enough to command the best in everybody. There is no glory in the Mexican war. They cannot feel that they are struggling in any high moral issue. However necessary it may be to protect and avenge the lives of their citizens, the fact remains that they have drifted into this war. Americans cannot help comparing it with the vast issues at stake in Europe."

"Our war is for a moral issue. As President Falconer has put it, 'We are fighting for the rights of minorities.' There is a squabble. Then, too, the Mexican situation is an object lesson in Canada's accomplishment, the doctor went on to say. The United States are now faced with the problem of raising troops, of calling for volunteers, of equipping them, and of looking after their dependants. 'They were simply amazed when I told them what Canada has done,' said he."

While Cleveland papers were publishing in large headlines that six hundred odd recruits were wanted to fill up the lost National Guard unit, he was able to tell them that Toronto was asking twenty-four hundred men to fill up the ranks of local battalions and this after Toronto had already sent thousands upon thousands.

"They simply gasped," he said, when he told them of Toronto raising $2,350,000 for the patriotic fund after having raised $1,500,000 the previous year; of the $500,000 raised in Toronto for the British Red Cross and the $1,500,000 in Ontario for the same purpose—the Trafalgar fund contribution.

"Piling figures on figures he was able to tell them that in spite of the army already sent, Canada had raised 127,000 volunteer troops since Jan. 1 of this year. That is to June 1. Probably between twelve and fifteen thousand additional troops have been raised since then. He was able to tell them that to June 1 of this year Canada had raised $34,208 men; that the patriotic fund had asked for $3,000,000 this year and that already $2,000,000 had been subscribed.

"We thought that Canada had sent all that she could possibly send by the end of last year," was all that they could say. They knew Canada had done something, but in the light of their own struggle they were amazed at the magnitude of the tasks Canada was setting for herself, setting and accomplishing.

Opportunity Missed. "An ex-secretary of the chamber of commerce there told me that at the beginning of the European war their great aim had been to keep out of it. 'Now,' he said, 'we realize that we have missed a tremendous moral opportunity, an opportunity that will never come again.'"

"Would Germany come to Canada if Germany won this war?" one had asked. Another had answered for me, "Why would they not?" "They would make nice neighbors for us," commented the first.

"Their own war is making them realize that Canada is fighting for the United States as well as for Canada. As their own war goes on and as they feel the pinch and the strain of it, more and more will they realize that against German aggression the Monroe Doctrine were a poor defence in North America were Germany victorious over the allies—the great powers of Russia, France and Great Britain."

"Comparison between the issues in Mexico and Flanders will make the Americans more pro-ally than ever."

Those Let-Out in Early Days of War Will Now Get Regular Certificates.

Many members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force returned and were discharged at Halifax in the early days of the war before the regular discharge depot was formed.
