

The Goats Might Canter Again, at That

By "Bud" Fisher

SPORT NEWS OF A DAY; HOME AND ABROAD

BOWLING

Table with bowling scores for various players including Pashy, Ferguson, Camm, Sullivan, Harrison, Hanlon, Lemmon, Norris, Lewis, and Logan.

THE TUBE

Next Meet at St. Stephen.

The third inter-city winter race meet to be held in the near future at St. Stephen.

SKATING

Souvenirs to Skaters.

THE RING

"Packey" Is Keen to Win.

Chicago, Feb. 28—If ever a fighter was determined to beat another, Packey McFarland, who is matched to meet Jack Britton in New York on March 7, is the one.

WRESTLING

Tremblay Loses Crown.

Montreal, Feb. 28—In two straight falls, Tremblay, New England wrestler, annexed the lightweight championship of the world.

TENNIS

Canada's Team Chosen.

Toronto, Feb. 28—Secretary W. F. Summer cabled to England this evening the names of the members of the Canadian team for the Davis cup.

ATHLETIC

Jackson's Fast Time.

Oxford, Eng., Feb. 28—The most notable events during the meeting of the Oxford University athletic sports this week, were the British Olympic champion, A. N. E. Jackson's half-mile in 1 min. 58.15 seconds.

BASEBALL

Trouble Follows Salary Limit Cut.

New York, Feb. 28—Club owners of the International Baseball League are said to be facing a serious situation because of the enforcement of a new salary limit of $8,000 a month for each club.

HOKEY

In Nova Scotia.

The New Glasgow hockey team won from the Sydney team 8 to 2 in New Glasgow last night. The Halifax Socials defeated the Crows at Halifax 3 to 1.

BASEBALL

Trouble Follows Salary Limit Cut.

New York, Feb. 28—Club owners of the International Baseball League are said to be facing a serious situation because of the enforcement of a new salary limit of $8,000 a month for each club.

Championships in Toronto as usual, instead of in Vancouver.

The tournament will be held here during the last week in March or the first week in April.

Joe Rivers to Wed Today.

Los Angeles, Feb. 28—Joe Rivers, light-weight boxer, and Miss Pauline Sirt, daughter of a contractor, will be married here on Saturday.

To Protect the Patrons.

New York, Feb. 28—The State Athletic Commission today took another step to protect boxing patrons.

News of the Boxers.

Tom O'Rourke, now in England, is trying to arrange for Danny Morgan about between Jack Britton and Freddie Jim Kenrick, English featherweight, has been matched to meet Jimmy McVeigh of Newark.

Eddie McGearty has called off his match with Bill Perkins which was to take place in Superior, Wis., on March 5, because Perkins was knocked out the other night by Tony Caponi.

Tommy Burns has written to Pat O'Reilly, an English boxer, and formerly one of Burns' trainers, to arrange a bout for him with any of the heavyweights in England.

D. J. Tortorich, of New Orleans, is arranging a series of waterweight bouts in an endeavor to find the champion in that division. The survivor, besides the champion, will receive a diamond studded belt.

Willie Beecher, New York light-weight, and Fighting Joe Hyland, will box 10 rounds in the main event at the Sharkey A. C., New York, tonight.

Ernie Balzac, a French boxer, was the first to tackle Dave Smith, Australian mid-weight champion, who Smith got back from the United States. Balzac was stopped in three rounds.

George Ashe, Philadelphia middleweight, has been matched to meet Tommy Madden of Brooklyn, in a 10-round bout at the Brooklyn Beach A. C., Brooklyn, next Tuesday night. Phil McGovern and Eddie Wallace, and Harry Price and Young Joe Gans are also slated to box ten rounds at the same show.

Johnny Dundee, New York feather-weight, matched to meet Johnny Kilbane, of Cleveland on the evening of April 15, at Vernon, Cal., will leave for Los Angeles today. En route Dundee will stop off at New Orleans and Memphis and pick up some easy change. At Memphis on March 11, Dundee will battle ten rounds with Gene Delmont.

K. O. Brown is on his way back to New York before he left the coast he made arrangements for a 20-round bout with Bud Anderson of California. They will meet at Tom McCreary's Arena, Los Angeles, on March 10. They will battle at 135 pounds, weighing in at noon, the day of the fight. Frankie Russell, New Orleans light-weight, will be matched to meet the winner.

WRESTLING

Tremblay Loses Crown.

Montreal, Feb. 28—In two straight falls, Tremblay, New England wrestler, annexed the lightweight championship of the world.

TENNIS

Canada's Team Chosen.

Toronto, Feb. 28—Secretary W. F. Summer cabled to England this evening the names of the members of the Canadian team for the Davis cup.

ATHLETIC

Jackson's Fast Time.

Oxford, Eng., Feb. 28—The most notable events during the meeting of the Oxford University athletic sports this week, were the British Olympic champion, A. N. E. Jackson's half-mile in 1 min. 58.15 seconds.

BASEBALL

Trouble Follows Salary Limit Cut.

New York, Feb. 28—Club owners of the International Baseball League are said to be facing a serious situation because of the enforcement of a new salary limit of $8,000 a month for each club.

Georges Carpenter is Idol of French Boxing Fans Again

By TOM ANDREWS

WITH the defeat of Bandman Rice, English light heavy weight, by Georges Carpenter, French champion, the latter once more becomes the idol of the French sporting people.

When Frank Klaus, Pittsburg middle weight, and later Billy Papke, Illinois thunderbolt, handed out defeat to Carpenter the followers of the French youth were disappointed and heartbroken, for Carpenter was their idol. However, it was apparent to all that the French boy had so weakened himself making the low weight for the Americans that his defeats counted for naught, and when he turned around and later on defeated his rival, Marcel Morau, his friends regained renewed confidence.

Bandman Rice had just returned from Australia where he made a couple of good fights and was considered good enough to stop the Frenchman, but his quick knockout in two rounds has proven a big boost for Georges. Now there will be a bidding of the rival French clubs for a battle between Carpenter and the winner of the Papke-Klaus match on March 5, and unless the Illinois boy gets into better shape than when he last fought he is liable to bump into another Waterloo from the Pittsburg man.

Klaus is a pretty tough nut to crack for any middle weight and he can stand the gauntlet, so that Billy will have to be in condition for a grueling battle if he expects to win and get another crack at Carpenter.

And all this brings to mind the fact that a French club recently made an offer of $15,000 for a 20-round battle between Carpenter and Bombardier Wells, British heavy weight champion, but for some unknown reason the latter refused and instead made a trip to New York with his manager, Jim Maloney, on his own hook. Had Wells consented to engage in two battles in France, the second to be with either Sam Langford or Al Palzer or Luther McCarthy, he could have drawn down $20,000 for his end, quite a tidy sum these hard days.

Carpenter has taken on weight and is naturally around 170 to 175 pounds and growing fast, being only twenty years of age, and a match with Wells would have been more even than the fight fans imagine at first thought. Why Wells should have passed it up is hard to tell, for he will surely meet up as hard game if he tackles Lute McCarthy, Jess Willard and Gunboat Smith (of course backing Langford) unless his figure that the 100 round game is more to his liking than the marathon route in Paris and London.

Track Kings to Compete.

New York, Feb. 28—Entries from all parts of the country are pouring in fast for the national indoor championships, which will be staged at Madison Square Garden on Thursday, March 6. Many athletes who were members of the victor team at the Olympic games at Stockholm last year will be seen in action, and several records are likely to be shattered.

The one most likely to be shattered is the two-mile. In this event the fastest man in the world will compete. Hans Kolman, a wonderful Finn, will endeavor to lower the mark of 9 minutes and 14.15 seconds, held by George Bonner of the Columbia University.

Another record in danger is the one mile race, held by the same Kolman. In his best two races Kolman has performed wonderfully, and at the Columbia University he broke the one-mile indoor record. His old rival, Oscar Hedlund, of the Boston A. A., will be one of Kolman's rivals in the race. They have competed against each other several times, but in each event the Irish-American A. C. runner finished in front. The Montreal Amateur Athletic Association have signified their intention of again being represented.

HOKEY

In Nova Scotia.

The New Glasgow hockey team won from the Sydney team 8 to 2 in New Glasgow last night. The Halifax Socials defeated the Crows at Halifax 3 to 1.

BASEBALL

Trouble Follows Salary Limit Cut.

New York, Feb. 28—Club owners of the International Baseball League are said to be facing a serious situation because of the enforcement of a new salary limit of $8,000 a month for each club.

HOKEY

In Nova Scotia.

The New Glasgow hockey team won from the Sydney team 8 to 2 in New Glasgow last night. The Halifax Socials defeated the Crows at Halifax 3 to 1.

BASEBALL

Trouble Follows Salary Limit Cut.

New York, Feb. 28—Club owners of the International Baseball League are said to be facing a serious situation because of the enforcement of a new salary limit of $8,000 a month for each club.

WHAT WOMEN WRITERS READ

Novelists Not Always Found To Be Bookworms

ONE LIKES THE "ADS"

What English Story Tellers Have to Say About Their Favorite Books—Elinor Glyn Hardly Ever Reads a Novel

(London Tit-Bits.)

The idea that famous women novelists are veritable "blue-stockings," whose literary recreation consists of reading the most profound and classical works, is somewhat of a fallacy. Miss Marjorie Brown, for instance, the authoress of those popular romances of history, "The Viper of Milan," "The Glen of Weeping," "The Sword Deeds," etc., candidly confesses that among other things she likes to read the advertisements in the magazine, especially ladies' magazines, and the answers to correspondents in the heart-to-heart and beauty columns. "I love catalogues," she continues, "of old bookshops and museums. Nonconformist religious papers, which are so full of vim and go."

Miss M. P. Willcocks, too, appears to have a wide and varied taste in reading. "The one unbearable thing to me," she says, in an interesting symposium article on the subject published in the "Book Monthly" is to have nothing to read, for I can enjoy a sea-man's catalogue or a cookery book. Fielding is her favorite novelist, and George Eliot she knows by heart. "But Dickens and Muffin can still yield a thrill, though, for that, nothing I have ever read can approach Wilkie Collins' 'Moonstone.'"

Miss M. P. Willcocks, too, appears to have a wide and varied taste in reading. "The one unbearable thing to me," she says, in an interesting symposium article on the subject published in the "Book Monthly" is to have nothing to read, for I can enjoy a sea-man's catalogue or a cookery book. Fielding is her favorite novelist, and George Eliot she knows by heart. "But Dickens and Muffin can still yield a thrill, though, for that, nothing I have ever read can approach Wilkie Collins' 'Moonstone.'"

Miss M. P. Willcocks, too, appears to have a wide and varied taste in reading. "The one unbearable thing to me," she says, in an interesting symposium article on the subject published in the "Book Monthly" is to have nothing to read, for I can enjoy a sea-man's catalogue or a cookery book. Fielding is her favorite novelist, and George Eliot she knows by heart. "But Dickens and Muffin can still yield a thrill, though, for that, nothing I have ever read can approach Wilkie Collins' 'Moonstone.'"

Miss M. P. Willcocks, too, appears to have a wide and varied taste in reading. "The one unbearable thing to me," she says, in an interesting symposium article on the subject published in the "Book Monthly" is to have nothing to read, for I can enjoy a sea-man's catalogue or a cookery book. Fielding is her favorite novelist, and George Eliot she knows by heart. "But Dickens and Muffin can still yield a thrill, though, for that, nothing I have ever read can approach Wilkie Collins' 'Moonstone.'"

Miss M. P. Willcocks, too, appears to have a wide and varied taste in reading. "The one unbearable thing to me," she says, in an interesting symposium article on the subject published in the "Book Monthly" is to have nothing to read, for I can enjoy a sea-man's catalogue or a cookery book. Fielding is her favorite novelist, and George Eliot she knows by heart. "But Dickens and Muffin can still yield a thrill, though, for that, nothing I have ever read can approach Wilkie Collins' 'Moonstone.'"

Miss M. P. Willcocks, too, appears to have a wide and varied taste in reading. "The one unbearable thing to me," she says, in an interesting symposium article on the subject published in the "Book Monthly" is to have nothing to read, for I can enjoy a sea-man's catalogue or a cookery book. Fielding is her favorite novelist, and George Eliot she knows by heart. "But Dickens and Muffin can still yield a thrill, though, for that, nothing I have ever read can approach Wilkie Collins' 'Moonstone.'"

Miss M. P. Willcocks, too, appears to have a wide and varied taste in reading. "The one unbearable thing to me," she says, in an interesting symposium article on the subject published in the "Book Monthly" is to have nothing to read, for I can enjoy a sea-man's catalogue or a cookery book. Fielding is her favorite novelist, and George Eliot she knows by heart. "But Dickens and Muffin can still yield a thrill, though, for that, nothing I have ever read can approach Wilkie Collins' 'Moonstone.'"

Miss M. P. Willcocks, too, appears to have a wide and varied taste in reading. "The one unbearable thing to me," she says, in an interesting symposium article on the subject published in the "Book Monthly" is to have nothing to read, for I can enjoy a sea-man's catalogue or a cookery book. Fielding is her favorite novelist, and George Eliot she knows by heart. "But Dickens and Muffin can still yield a thrill, though, for that, nothing I have ever read can approach Wilkie Collins' 'Moonstone.'"

Miss M. P. Willcocks, too, appears to have a wide and varied taste in reading. "The one unbearable thing to me," she says, in an interesting symposium article on the subject published in the "Book Monthly" is to have nothing to read, for I can enjoy a sea-man's catalogue or a cookery book. Fielding is her favorite novelist, and George Eliot she knows by heart. "But Dickens and Muffin can still yield a thrill, though, for that, nothing I have ever read can approach Wilkie Collins' 'Moonstone.'"

Miss M. P. Willcocks, too, appears to have a wide and varied taste in reading. "The one unbearable thing to me," she says, in an interesting symposium article on the subject published in the "Book Monthly" is to have nothing to read, for I can enjoy a sea-man's catalogue or a cookery book. Fielding is her favorite novelist, and George Eliot she knows by heart. "But Dickens and Muffin can still yield a thrill, though, for that, nothing I have ever read can approach Wilkie Collins' 'Moonstone.'"

Miss M. P. Willcocks, too, appears to have a wide and varied taste in reading. "The one unbearable thing to me," she says, in an interesting symposium article on the subject published in the "Book Monthly" is to have nothing to read, for I can enjoy a sea-man's catalogue or a cookery book. Fielding is her favorite novelist, and George Eliot she knows by heart. "But Dickens and Muffin can still yield a thrill, though, for that, nothing I have ever read can approach Wilkie Collins' 'Moonstone.'"

Miss M. P. Willcocks, too, appears to have a wide and varied taste in reading. "The one unbearable thing to me," she says, in an interesting symposium article on the subject published in the "Book Monthly" is to have nothing to read, for I can enjoy a sea-man's catalogue or a cookery book. Fielding is her favorite novelist, and George Eliot she knows by heart. "But Dickens and Muffin can still yield a thrill, though, for that, nothing I have ever read can approach Wilkie Collins' 'Moonstone.'"

Miss M. P. Willcocks, too, appears to have a wide and varied taste in reading. "The one unbearable thing to me," she says, in an interesting symposium article on the subject published in the "Book Monthly" is to have nothing to read, for I can enjoy a sea-man's catalogue or a cookery book. Fielding is her favorite novelist, and George Eliot she knows by heart. "But Dickens and Muffin can still yield a thrill, though, for that, nothing I have ever read can approach Wilkie Collins' 'Moonstone.'"

Miss M. P. Willcocks, too, appears to have a wide and varied taste in reading. "The one unbearable thing to me," she says, in an interesting symposium article on the subject published in the "Book Monthly" is to have nothing to read, for I can enjoy a sea-man's catalogue or a cookery book. Fielding is her favorite novelist, and George Eliot she knows by heart. "But Dickens and Muffin can still yield a thrill, though, for that, nothing I have ever read can approach Wilkie Collins' 'Moonstone.'"

Miss M. P. Willcocks, too, appears to have a wide and varied taste in reading. "The one unbearable thing to me," she says, in an interesting symposium article on the subject published in the "Book Monthly" is to have nothing to read, for I can enjoy a sea-man's catalogue or a cookery book. Fielding is her favorite novelist, and George Eliot she knows by heart. "But Dickens and Muffin can still yield a thrill, though, for that, nothing I have ever read can approach Wilkie Collins' 'Moonstone.'"

Miss M. P. Willcocks, too, appears to have a wide and varied taste in reading. "The one unbearable thing to me," she says, in an interesting symposium article on the subject published in the "Book Monthly" is to have nothing to read, for I can enjoy a sea-man's catalogue or a cookery book. Fielding is her favorite novelist, and George Eliot she knows by heart. "But Dickens and Muffin can still yield a thrill, though, for that, nothing I have ever read can approach Wilkie Collins' 'Moonstone.'"

Miss M. P. Willcocks, too, appears to have a wide and varied taste in reading. "The one unbearable thing to me," she says, in an interesting symposium article on the subject published in the "Book Monthly" is to have nothing to read, for I can enjoy a sea-man's catalogue or a cookery book. Fielding is her favorite novelist, and George Eliot she knows by heart. "But Dickens and Muffin can still yield a thrill, though, for that, nothing I have ever read can approach Wilkie Collins' 'Moonstone.'"

Rich and Mellow

YOU'LL LIKE THE FLAVOR

35¢-40¢-50¢ Per Pound

AMUSEMENTS

How Margaret Snow Saved the Kitten When Thanouster's Giant Was a Mass of Fire

"WHEN THE STUDIO BURNED" THE NAIDA SISTERS Grecian Art Dances and Dainty Songs

"FRAUD THAT FAILED" "JUST SMILE" You Will Do More, You'll Laugh

THE HIGHER ART OF MOTION PHOTOGRAPHY EXPLOITED IN "THE LACE MAKER'S ROMANCE"

A Series of the Most Beautiful Scenes Imaginable, Tinted with the Latest Most Defectless—Taken in Ancient Holland

A STORY OF LOVE THAT DID NOT RUN SMOOTH "TROUBLES OF A LANDLORD" "FORCED BRAVERY"

NICKEL Here's Monday's Bill: Still Another High-Class Two-Reel Feature: "SHYLOCK"

TONIGHT Charles Dickens' "PICKWICK PAPERS" — In Two Reels — Bunny as Pickwick.

Vitagraph's Thrilling Circus Melo-Drama "SHOW FOLKS" BILLY BARRON Musical Novelties

ADELE HARNEY Orchestra

Coming!! GEM Powerful Drama of Love and Honor, Written by Rex Beach Author of "The Barrier" "THE VENGEANCE OF DURAND"

FREE—(except Photos of Ruth Bond)—TUESDAY

NOTICE OF LEGISLATION A Bill will be presented to the Legislative Assembly of the Province of New Brunswick at its next session for incorporation of the St. John Suburban Railway Company, with power to operate street railways in the Parishes of Lancaster and Smeads in the City and County of St. John and in the Parishes of Westfield and Rotsey in the County of Kings.

PATENTS PIGEON, PIGEON & DAVIS 71 ST. JAMES ST. TEL. MAIN 4078 (MONTEBEL)

Ladies' Tailoring The very latest Spring fashions already received. Call early and avoid the rush. We make up of your materials or we will supply all.

Dr. de Van's Female Pills A reliable French regulator; never fails. These pills are exceedingly powerful in regulating the generative portion of the female system.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

HAWK BICYCLES

PRESIDENT SUSPENDER

Tobacco Habit

Liquor Habit

The Wretchedness of Constipation

Small Pills, Small Dose, Small Price.

Small Pills, Small Dose, Small Price.