AGRICULTURE

Notes and Suggestions of Practical Utility

FOR THE FARM, FIELD, GARDEN AND DAIRY.

Cleanliness of Interest for Our Country Readers.

Horses are fond of sugar.

Half-dons work never pays.

Hogs love purslane or "pansy."

A small farm well tilled is best.

Nothing of value can be raised.

There is health on the hill farms.

Fall manure your rhubarb plants.

Give sheep roots and let the hog root.

A man may be known by his hog-pen.

Get on familiar terms with your farm.

Breed for market what the market calls for.

Growing fruit must have sunshine and air.

A lean woodpile indicates a cold winter.

Feed fattening animals a fattening ration.

Cleanliness is among the highest of virtues.

It is about as cheap to shuck as to snap.

The lazy man has cold fingers hunking his corn.

Science and practice should be co-operative.

Cleanliness is the key to successful dairying.

Study your soil and learn its capacity and needs.

The animal that is not thrifty is falling behind.

A day's suffering will use up a week's growth.

Pot calls lilies as early in the fall as practicable.

We repeat it. Give your hogs warm, dry quarters.

Variety is not only the spice of life, but its necessity.

See that your team is made comfortable at all times.

Three or four branches are enough for a young tree.

Soil in flower pots gets foul. Renew it frequently.

As you take from the farm, return to it an equivalent.

Pleasant surroundings tend to make pleasant people.

For cow to do her best, she must be kept at her best.

Only a test of every milking can give confidence in the quality of the milk.

Hill soils are not necessary for sheep, but dry soils are.

There is no evidence that dehorning injures bull or cow.

A new medicine sign on your barn is no credit to you.

Don't leave the plow standing in the furrow over winter.

Unpleasant surroundings generate gloom and ill-humors.

Back up the wind will not blow under your stable floor.

The mortgage crop is said to be smaller than usual this season.

If you want sound eggs and wholesome milk, feed sound food.

The tide has turned and the spring tide of farming is coming in.

The good husband consults the interest of his wife before he goes.

It is now intimated that the Herefords are a better breed than to fat.

Stopping "the little leaks"—cutting off tobacco and beer money.

In stock breeding, it is better to begin "up" than wait to breed up.

Riding on horseback is one of the country luxuries easily acquired.

Don't forget that woodpile nor your wife's convenience and comfort.

Patience and perseverance are two winning cards in the game of life.

It may be safe to go with the popular tide, but it is not always right.

It is a wise man who knows enough to stop eating when he has enough.

Have a small nursery of your own; then you will not have to let your fruit trees acclimate.

The rain that does a little damage by washing may do hundreds of dollars' worth of good on a farm.

Carpet warp, six or seven threads to the inch, when worn and nailed on to frames makes nice fruit racks.

We believe land values will increase during the next ten years as much as they have depreciated during the past ten.

Many women suffer in silence from the troubles peculiar to their sex rather than consult a physician. Let them try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they will no longer feel life a burden.

POULTRY YARD.

Overlooking the Work.

The farmer who turns over to his wife the management of the poultry because it is "women's work" is probably as well as he can afford. The fact is that women cannot attend to their domestic matters and also perform the work necessary in keeping a flock of poultry.

There is just as much work required to manage a flock of poultry as to manage a flock of cattle. The woman who is not responsible, and to deprive the hens of that care so essential to render them profitable.

ANECDOTES, HAPPENINGS AND GENERAL COMMENTS

Clipped and Condensed for the Readers of The Globe.

Lions and leopards are very fond of perfumes.

Salmon, pike and gold fish are the only fish that never sleep.

The telephone has been known in India for thousands of years.

It took seven years to make a handkerchief for which the Empress of Russia paid $1,000.

The people of the United States consume, it is said, 200,000,000 bottles of ketchup annually.

About 30 years ago there were upwards of 60,000 Irishmen in the British army. Twenty years ago there were 44,000. Now the number is only 27,738.

In 1815 a skeleton was dug up near Martin, Sicily, the skull of which was as large as a common wine cask. Each of the teeth weighed seven ounces.

A curious instance of the perversion of popular pronunciation is found in the word Rickard, the name of a little river in Oregon. Its original name, given it by the French, was La Creole.

The Queen is remarkably fond of oysters. All the shells which make their appearance on the Royal table are sandpapered and polished so brilliantly as to gladden almost like mother-of-pearl.

And the driver did push on. The vehicle jolted and McGreevy became wretchedly seasick. "No matter, drive on," said he, with Spartan courage, for he feared the sleuth hounds of justice were on his track.

No animal has more than five toes, digits or claws to each foot or limb. The horse is one-toed, the ox two-toed, the rhinoceros three-toed, the hippopotamus is four-toed, and the elephant and hundreds of other animals are five-toed.

In popular histories of the seven wonders of the world we read that the Pharos, the first light house, could be seen at a distance of 100 miles. In order for this to have been possible the Pharos must have been a mile and a quarter in height.

It was a terrible experience. At Moose River, however, in assured safety, the retired contractor, worn out with his experience of the preceding days, laid him down and slept the sleep of a man who has triumphed over the little formalities of the law.

New Jersey has developed an unheard of boy of five years, who is already gifted with a mystic and a life in verification of the common superstition that hair is a sign of strength, it is stated that the infant Samson can strike a powerful blow as well as lift a barrel of flour and sent it on end.

FLIGHT OF MCGREEVY.
How a Tory Leader Disgraces Himself and Slaps the States.

The wonderful flight of Robert McGreevy into the States as given to a Montreal Witness reporter:

Attired in a tattered overcoat and shabby hat, and with every appearance of poverty Robert McGreevy took to the ferry for Lewis, Thursday evening of Oct. 22nd. He was accompanied by a young man, a companion in misery. At midnight the two ragged men knocked at the door of a cabinman's house and made arrangements to be driven to the boundary line at once.

That was a hundred miles, as close as the cabinman could figure it. He supposed the two would be driven to the boundary line at once.
