Special Notice to Subscribers.

Refering to the notice published in the last three issues of the Advaces announcing my intention of placing overdue subscription accounts in the hands of a collection agency, I beg to wate that quite a number of the patrons of the Advaces have written requesting that I defer such action in their case for a few days, when they will settle. There are also a large number who owe more than one pear's subscription—some of them several years in default—who have let the notice pass unheeded. To all, I now beg to say that I defer until 1st February the carrying out of my intention to transfer the collection of their accounts to an outside agency, in the one year due I will turn over to The Newspape Collection Agency of Chicago. This is not don through fear that the accounts are not collectable otherwise, but from the simple fact that I have not the time to devote to the work, and therefore have paid the Agency to take charge of it, and in the matter they represent me. They will act for me the same as though I had hired s bookkeeper thook after this branch of my business, I tis not book after this branch of my business, I tis not branch of their affairs that is so often sail meglected because the publisher has not the timeglected because the publisher has not the publi neared to be a little more complicated. Sir Louis admits that the duty devolves pon the Dominion to protect the fisheries, as they have done in the past, and he also admits the Dominion's legislative right to set the close season and control the fishing, which they intend to do. Whether or not they will in the future impose any tax or license he was not prepared to say. The decision says that the Provinces are the proprietors of the fore sheres, the Deminion having a legislative right. To meet the altered circumstances arising from the decision legislation will, in Mr. Tweedie's opinion, be necessary on the part of the Dominion as well as on that of each province.
